GEM HOLDUP IN DOWNTOWN NETS $25,000

Two Visiting Salesmen Are Victims in Alley About 11 P. M.

CLEW GIVEN POLICE PROVES FRUITLESS

Auto Is Disabled by Robber to Prevent Possibility of Pursuit.

Two Philadelphia jewelry salesmen were held up in an alley in the downtown section last night by a lone armed robber, who escaped with almost $25,000 in jewelry samples. The loss was cut somewhat because the bandits overlooked a $3,800 diamond choker in the pocket of one of the salesmen and a $1,700 diamond bracelet in the pocket of the other. Other samples were left at various stores here.

The holdup man apparently knew who his victims were and about when they would make their appearance in the alley. The robbery plot was carefully laid and the robber took the precaution of disabling the car of the salesmen to prevent any possibility of pursuit.

An alarm which brought five police radio cars, two cruisers and Brig. Gen. Glassford, superintendent of police, who drove up in his private automobile accompanied by a woman, was immediately sounded, but the robber apparently made a clean getaway.

Tip Proves to Be False.

Police went to an apartment on Euclid street northwest near Seventeenth street within fifteen minutes of the holdup, but returned shortly and reported to Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, "night officer of the day," who took charge of the case, that the tip which sent them there had failed.

The holdup victims are Harry Stivack, of 5603 Wydale street, Philadelphia, and Benjamin A. Abraham, of 6445 Grum street, Philadelphia. They lost their valuable samples in an alley between Fourteenth and Fifteenth, H and I streets northwest.

They had reached Washington about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and spent the rest of the afternoon showing their wares to prospective Washington customers, including some of the large downtown department stores.

Auto Parked in Alley.

Their machine was parked in the alley last night. They returned about 11 o'clock, with Abraham walking ahead, they said.

Abraham said he got into the machine and stepped on the starter, but nothing happened. He looked around, he said, and saw Stivack being backed up against a wooden fence by the threat of a pistol held by a man about 5 feet 5 inches tall, whose face was partly masked by a pair of dark glasses. The man was about 40 years old and weighed about 165 pounds, police were told.

Makes Death Threat.

"Don't move! Get into the car, or I'll fill you full of lead!" the holdup man is said to have told Stivack.

The two men said they were both so frightened that they did not notice which way the robber went after he took the sample case of jewels. Among their loss was $5,000 in unset diamonds, they told police.

Abraham works for Stivack, the pair told police. They were on their way to Norfolk and stopped in Washington to gain a few new customers. They had been in Washington last Saturday, they said.

Curtis' Speech Opens Congress of D. A. R.

7,000 Women Applaud Vice President as He Urges Riddance of Alien Criminals and Those Trying to Sow Seeds of Disunion.

Fired by a plea from Vice President Curtis for "complete national defense" and the riddance of all men in this country of alien thought and birth "who would overthrow our cherished ideals and traditions," 7,000 members of the Daughters of the American Revolution opened their forty-first continental congress on a surging wave of enthusiasm last night at Continental Hall.

Prolonged applause swept the great throng of brilliantly dressed women when the Vice President declared: "As Washington advised, it was never more necessary than now that the country be kept in a state of complete national defense. Unless all will disarm, none will. So we must keep both our Army and Navy strong enough for complete national defense."

Pointing out that this country is "doing everything possible to bring about world peace, yes everlasting peace," the Vice President asserted that such peace "must be peace with honor; peace not involving us in entangling alliances with other nations."

"Now, as in the time of Washington," he added, "we should chart and follow our own course, not that of any other nation. Now, as then, should we be indignant at every attempt of a foreign power to establish an influence in our councils."

"Today," the Vice President averred, "there are in our midst men of alien thought and race who would sow the seeds of discord and disunion among us; who would overthrow our cherished ideals and traditions. We must rid our country of all such."

At this juncture the tremendous hall rang with such deafening applause that the Vice President found no need to emphasize his point with continuation of this portion of the speech that laid before him. In the manuscript, the Vice President had written after "such"—"and of all alien criminals, and of all alien racketeers."

There was no need for him to voice this opinion. The thousands of D. A. R.'s understood.

Mr. Curtis drew equally vociferous applause when he expressed gratification over the cooperation of Republicans and Democrats in supporting the recommendations of President Hoover for enactment of relief measures. "This course," he observed, "was to be expected, because in this country no political party has a monopoly on loyalty and devotion to country in time of stress."

"I have great faith," he said, "in the present and future of our wonderful country. We never have had greater and more resourceful men and women than we have today, and I am

ROOSEVELT RENEWS PLEA SMITH DERIDED

St. Paul Speech Enlarges Declaration and Defies "Treason" Charge.

St. Paul, Minn., April 18 (A.P.).—The challenge "it that be treason make the most of it," was thrown down by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York tonight as he restated his views on power regulaton and the tariff which brought sharp rejoinder from former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

He gave the title "A National Community of Interests" to it in amplifying his statement of two weeks ago which Smith at the Jefferson Day dinner in Washington last Wednesday inferentially attacked as "setting class against class and rich against poor."

"A concert of classes" was one definition of his program given by the New York executive. He cited statements by Thomas Jefferson, in whose honor the dinner meeting the governor addressed was held; Lincoln, Jackson and Theodore Roosevelt as contributors to his philosophy.

The address brought together Democratic party supporters from six States, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Iowa and Wisconsin, with 2,000 tickets sold for the dinner. Galleries were partially filled with spectators during the governor's address.

At the speakers' tables, besides State Democratic leaders, was Minnesota's Farmer-Labor governor, Floyd B. Olson, a personal friend of Roosevelt; former Gov. J. A. A. Burnquist, a Republican, and many other leaders of both Farmer-Labor and Republican parties in the State.

At three points there was marked applause, first, when the New Yorker was introduced; second, when he referred to Gov. Olson as "my colleague and friend," and then when he praised Smith for an act in connection with New York State's water power development.

"Twenty-five years ago, when the people of the State were little aware of their great heritage," the governor said, referring to rights of his State to waterpower development in the St. Lawrence River, "a Legislature attempted to alienate this great posses-

U. S. PROPOSAL SETS NEW ARMS CUT GOAL

Article 1 Rewritten at Geneva to Let Parley Take Definite Step.

Geneva, April 18 (U.P.).—Acting on the suggestion of an American delegate, the drafting committee today upset all previous calculations and established a new goal for the world disarmament commission.

Upon the proposal of Theodore Marriner, the committee rewrote article one of the league's draft convention on disarmament to provide for the present conference to take the first decisive step by reducing arms to the lowest possible level.

The program also would provide for future conferences at appropriate intervals to achieve further progressive reduction of the armaments of the world.

The twelve members of the committee acepted the proposal, with only the Japanese and Czechoslovakian delegates offering slight opposition.

The action was taken after the general commission of the conference, urged by President Arthur Henderson to decide between immediate disarmament by a single treaty or disarmament by successive stages, had debated the question in a tense session, at which Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian foreign commissar, sarcastically demanded that the delegates agree on

G.O.P. in Colorado Commends Hoover

Pledges Its 15 Delegates to President; Lauds Congress Group.

Denver, Colo., April 18 (A.P.).—Colorado Republicans today instructed their fifteen delegates to the party's national convention for President Hoover and elected Lawrence C. Phipps, former United States senator, as national committeeman at a State convention which was harmonious throughout.

A resolution lauding President Hoover and the administration and commending the activities of U. S. Senator Charles W. Waterman and Colorado's three Republican representatives also was adopted.

A resolution calling upon the national convention for a platform recommending a national referendum on prohibition was introduced in the committee on resolutions, but died for want of a second.

Mrs. Lucy Hillman, of Delta, was reelected national committeewoman. She was without opposition.

Willys, Arriving in U. S., Uncertain in Polish Post

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—John N. Willys, American Ambassador to Poland, arrived today aboard the Europa and indicated he was uncertain whether he will retain his diplomatic post. Asked whether he would resign, he answered:

"I can not say anything now, and will not be able to say anything for about three days. I expect to return to Poland, in any case, in about ten days. My present trip is for purely personal reasons."

KELLEY'S DOUBT FAILS TO SHIFT MASSIE'S STORY

Prosecutor Hints Jones and Not Officer Was Actual Slayer.

DECRIES ATTEMPT TO PLEAD INSANITY

Defense Calls Witnesses in Effort to Show Killing Not Premeditated.

Honolulu, April 18 (A.P.).—The prosecution's avowed disbelief in Lieut. Thomas H. Massie's account of the killing of Joseph Kahahawai failed to daunt the young Navy officer today and he left the witness stand with his story intact except for a few irregularities brought out in cross questioning.

Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley carried out most of his examination after publicly announcing the belief that Massie did not hold the pistol which killed the young native and hinting that Albert O. Jones, another defendant, was the actual slayer. Kelley also termed as "the bunk" the defense effort to plead insanity for Massie.

Between's Kelley's questions Massie testified he had wandered about the home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, scene of the lynching, in a daze while Kahahawai died and while Mrs. Fortescue look on. He said he had learned of his actions from Mrs. Fortescue and the other two defendants, Jones and E. J. Lord.

Angle Is Contradicted.

A contradictory note crept into the defense testimony, however, as Clarence Darrow, celebrating his seventy-fifth birthday "in harness" and representing the accused, called other witnesses.

This occurred during examination of Eugene Beebe, attorney.

Beebe, chairman of the judiciary committee in the Territorial House of Representatives and one time special counsel engaged by the chamber of commerce to prosecute the men accused of attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the naval officer, contradicted one angle of Massie's story.

Massie had testified Beebe had told him it would be "all right to get a confession, but evidence must not show." Massie then told how he and the other defendants had abducted Kahahawai, one of the men accused of attacking Mrs. Massie.

Beebe admitted Massie had talked to him about this, but denied discussing the method of getting a confession.

"Did you ever say anything to Mr. Massie," Kelley asked Beebe, "from $12,645,000 Credit To Austria Renewed

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—The $12,645,000 credit granted last year to the Austrian National Bank by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the bank for international settlements, the Bank of England and the Bank of France, was renewed today. The credit orignially was due last January 16, but was extended for four months.

Similar credits to the central banks of Jugoslavia and Hungary also fall due this week and it is understood these, also, will be extended. These two credits total about $23,000,000 and, like the Austrian credit, were shared jointly by the four loaning institutions.

STOCK MARKET SHORT SELLERS EXCEED 24,000

3,000,000 Shares Among 617 Different Issues Are Affected.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO NAME BIG BEARS

Whitney Admits Possibility of Demoralizing Values in Times of Stress.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

There were at least 24,000 short sellers in the New York stock market as recently as a week ago last Friday—but the names are yet the high state secret of the Senate committee on banking and currency.

The combined short interest as of April 8, 1932, was something over 3,000,000 shares, divided among 617 different stocks, but the why and wherefore of the whole short-selling epidemic which now has been under inquiry for ten days, remains a question concerning which there are nothing but sensational rumors—a few of which already have found their way into print.

Following the third day's examination of Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, yesterday, committee members announced last night that the names of the bigger bears of Wall street—those whose April commitments are of such volume as might depress prices to artificial levels—will be published. Before they are released, however, the committee wishes to study the open short obligations in each stock in relation to the names of the individual operators working on different sections of the market list.

Admits Demoralizing Tendency.

Cross-examination of Mr. Whitney yesterday by William A. Gray, special committee prosecutor, won an admission from the stock exchange chief that short selling in times of extraordinary stress might tend to demoralize values. He insisted, however, that in practice there could be no such operation as an "organized bear raid."

In response to a question concerning price-pegging operations — designed primarily to sustain quotations above their natural market level—Mr. Whitney promised to furnish the committee detailed information concerning the orders executed by his own firm during 1931 and 1932 for the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., in relation to German reparations bonds. In his questions on this point, Mr. Gray said he was prepared to show that the German bonds had been sus-

Rich Gold Strike Made In Area Below Arizona

Nogales, Ariz., April 18 (A.P.).—The Herald said today a rich gold strike has been made in the Altar District of Sonora, Mexico, a vast terrain stretching southward from Nogales to the Gulf of California. Gold, placer mined, is pouring into the city at the rate of $10,000 weekly, and yellow and red nuggets are being sold here for $15 and $19 an ounce.

Several thousand placer miners are already pan-washing, and merchants are trading merchandise for gold dust. Ramon Elias, prominent Nogales resident, has filed claims on large tracts. Gold washing machinery will be taken from here to begin operations on a large scale.

35 Rapid-Fire Raids Follow New York Speakeasy Count

100 Operatives, Told Vacations Are Off for Months to Come, Launch Sweeping Drive; Many Dispensaries, Alarmed, Close Doors.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Prohibition agents, acting under the order of Director Amos W. W. Woodcock, thumbed through their newly compiled "census of speakeasies" today and launched "a drive along the front" on liquor-selling establishments.

One hundred operatives, working in squads of two, made 35 raids in rapid-fire succession on speakeasies, restaurants and night clubs in many sections of Manhattan and the Bronx, gathering up as many prisoners and more than 700 bottles of liquor, together with substantial quantities of beer, cider and wine.

Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator for this district, marshalled his men at headquarters prior to the raids and gave them a stiff lecture on their duties. They were instructed to be "swift and thorough" and told that all vacations were off for several months to come.

He declared today's activity was not the result of any special "drive," but was only part of the "general enforcement," but as the agents straggled into the Federal Building with their prisoners they called it "a drive all along the front."

Asked if the men carried maps showing the location of the liquor-dispensing resorts, he declined to answer, but admitted that the directory drafted several weeks ago under the impetus of Director Woodcock had "helped to give us a pretty good idea where liquor was being sold."

As news of the intensive onslaught got around, owners of cordial shops and speakeasies became alarmed and closed their doors. The raids were carried out under the personal direction of Assistant Administrator Martin O. Hanson. He is expected to continue the work for from six weeks to two months.

CONGRESS SPEEDS CUT OF 10 PER CENT IN TWO APPROPRIATIONS BILLS

Alternate Tax Plans Given Senate by Mills

Revised Treasury Program, Outlined to Finance Committee, Would Raise $1,033,000,000; Repudiates Revised House Measure.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills yesterday gave the Senate finance committee two alternative tax programs as a substitute for the billion-dollar tax increase bill passed by the House.

Mr. Mills repudiated one of the programs, which was based on a revision of the House bill in response to a request made by Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi. The Treasury head described it as the "Harrison plan." The other was a revision of the original Treasury program submitted to the House ways and means committee.

The revised Treasury program would raise, it was estimated, a total of $1,033,000,000 of the $1,241,000,000 which would be required to balance the budget, exclusive of public debt retirement requirements. The revised House bill would raise $1,037,000,000, it was estimated.

Secretary Mills proposed to strike out of the House bill the normal income taxes on dividends, which it was estimated would produce $89,000,000; reduce the corporation income tax rate from 13½ per cent to 13 per cent, as recommended by the Treasury, which would be an increase of 1 per cent over the present law; reduce the maximum normal income tax from 7 to 6 per cent; eliminate the House premium of 1½ per cent tax on consolidated returns, which the House estimated would yield $8,000,000; reduce the estate tax from 40 per cent on inheritances of $10,000,000, to 25 per cent and a proportionate reduction in the 33½ per cent House gift tax maximum.

He also would eliminate the ¼ per

U.S. LEADERS MOURN PASSING OF HARRIS

Senator's Family Is Deluged With Sympathy Messages; Senate Adjourns.

Statements of regret and messages of sympathy at the death of Senator William J. Harris (Democrat), of Georgia, showered upon his family last night from leaders of both parties in the Senate and House and from prominent persons of his native State, where he was greatly beloved. Senator Harris died yesterday afternoon at his apartment at 2400 Sixteenth street northwest from a combination of bladder trouble, intestinal disorder and heart disease.

Several weeks ago the senator had undergone an operation at Georgetown Hospital, and for a time it was believed he was on his way to recovery and was removed to his home. A relapse kept him confined to his bed and for several weeks he alternately became better and worse until death ended his game fight for life. He had been reported as better Sunday.

He was 64 years old, having been born in Cedartown, Ga., February 3, 1868, and most of his years had been devoted to public service. After graduating from the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity, in 1890 he engaged in the insurance and banking business, but shortly gave this up to enter politics.

Prevailing Pay Bill Passed by Senate Committee Tells Chamber Measure Will Greatly Benefit Labor.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring contractors on Federal projects to pay at least the prevailing rate of wages. In reporting to the Senate the labor committee said it will be "of tremendous benefit to labor."

This report also said it would remove labor troubles on public contracts, enable contractors to bid intelligently, and tend to reduce the cost of public construction.

The committee also informed the Senate that the American Federation of Labor "expressed no opposition to the bill other than to doubt its constitutionality."

Under the measure wages would be figured at the prevailing rate when a contractor bids on a Government project. He must then pay at least that scale with the provision that the Secretary of Labor may redetermine the prevailing level of wages at intervals and that the contract price be adjusted to meet these changes.

Tokyo Powder Magazine Explosion Hurts Several

Fifty houses nearby were damaged. The cause of the explosions was not immediately determined.

3 ARLINGTON COUNTY OFFICIALS INDICTED

Ball, Duncan and Hallock Are Named After Audit Finding Is Told.

Three indictments growing out of the Arlington County financial crisis were returned late yesterday by a grand jury which had been in session for six hours. The bills were found against former Treasurer E. Wade Ball, County Clerk William H. Duncan and F. J. Hallock, former clerk of the county school board.

Return of the indictments climaxed a day of court action along the county's financial front. Previously Duncan had been ordered by Judge Walter T. McCarthy in circuit court to bring his present bond of $8,000 to $80,000. The action came after State auditors had testified that a total net shortage of $76,755.58 had been found in his accounts to date.

The grand jury's bills accused Ball with grand larceny of $24,454.29 of State funds, Duncan of grand larceny of $7,815 of State funds, while Hallock faces charges of forgery, embezzlement and grand larceny of $200 of county school board funds. The jury also brought in a recommendation that ouster proceedings against Duncan be started immediately.

Attorneys for the three men appeared in court after the indictments were returned and asked that hearing for their clients be set for tomorrow morning. Their request was granted.

State Auditor T. Coleman Andrews and Deputy Auditors C. McCarthy Downs and R. B. Jordon were called before the grand jury several times during the six-hour session.

The action to increase Duncan's bond came yesterday morning at a hearnig on Judge McCarthy's rule for Duncan to show cause why the bond should not be raised to an amount commensurate with the amount of funds handled by his office.

Mr. Andrews and his associates testified they had found the $76,755.58 shortage in their investigation so far, and that of this amount $62,629.97 is due the county in delinquent taxes collected by Duncan and not accounted for.

They also testified that durnig the

Chilean Chamber Passes Devalorization of Peso

Santiago, Chile, April 18 (A.P.).—The peso devalorization bill, which would virtually take Chile off the gold standard, was passed in the Chamber of Deputies tonight and was expected to be signed by President Juan Esteban Montero.

The bill would eliminate a fixed par value for the peso, suspend the conversion of currency and allow the peso to seek its natural level in the open market.

House Sends Curtailed Interior Measure to President.

POSTAL-TREASURY SLASHED IN SENATE

Jones Joint Economy Committee Plan Passed by Upper Chamber.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

An economy-minded Congress yesterday slashed its way to new savings, speeding 10 per cent cuts in two appropriations bills, while a confused Democratic economy committee pondered further retrenchment.

Interior Department supplies, first of the big appropriations bills, was sent to the President after the House by extraordinary procedure approved Senate action cutting the measure from $50,446,000 to $45,398,000.

The Senate meanwhile stuck its pruning knife full length into the $1,000,000,000 Postoffice-Treasury bill. This measure was returned to the appropriations committee with instructions to cut $87,000,000 more from its totals. Building funds up to $125,000,000 were exempted from the cut.

Fight Shifts to Senate.

The war on expenses shifted to Senate battlegrounds after the House economy committee delayed action on pay slashing and Federal furloughs until agreement can be had on a single omnibus retrenchment bill, embracing White House and committee proposals.

The House economy group may have to share its task in the future with a joint economy committee consisting of Senate and House members and representatives named by the President. The Senate yesterday passed the Jones resolution for a joint committee, in line with ideas voiced by the President. The resolution goes to the House expenditures committee for action. Democratic leaders look with disfavor on the plan.

Possibility that the Senate may beat the House to a vote on the pay cut issue loomed yesterday, when Senator Tom Connally (Democrat), Texas, moved to discharge the Senate civil service committee from further consideration of his salary-slash bill.

Prohibition Fund Cut.

A civil service subcommittee has been "sitting on" his plan, Senator Connally complained. The measure would cut 5 per cent from salaries between $2,000 and $5,000, 10 per cent, between $5,000 and $10,000, and 15 per cent, over $10,000.

"Federal pay reduction is inevitable," Senator Connally said. "My plan would relieve the small-salaried group, hit by the House committee's 11 per cent cut with $1,000 exemption. I regard a pay cut as preferable to staggered furloughs."

The Senate approved a $1,000,000 slash in prohibition enforcement funds, written into the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor bill by the Senate appropriations committee. An attempt to realize further prohibition economies failed. Senator Johnson (Republican), California, was voted down in efforts to write $5,000,000 off the enforcement figure. Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, likewise lost a motion to cut prohibition funds from $10,250,000 to $9,000,000.

One Bill for Economies.

FOES OF CASH BONUS OPEN ATTACK TODAY

To Go Before House Group; Snell Says Bill Would Not Pass Over Veto.

(Associated Press.)

Sponsors of cashing the $2,000,000,000 soldier bonus rested their case with the powerful House revenue committee yesterday, claiming the support of one-third of that group for their currency-expansion plan.

Two fellow veterans, put on the stand by Democratic and administration leaders, today will open for the opposition. They are Representatives Royal Johnson (Republican), South Dakota, and LaGuardia, of New York, fiery Independent leader.

Representative Patman (Democratic), Texas, chief of the cash payment movement, closed his side's week-long argument before the ways and means committee. Bonus advocates estimated that 9 of the 25 committee members already are favorable to payment, though no absolute commitments have been made.

House leaders were loath to concede that the bonus bill will pass, but Representative Snell, the Republican leader, predicted, "It won't pass over a veto."

Is Expanding Currency.

"The Federal Reserve Board," Patman said in conclusion, "now is expanding the currency to meet the arguments we are making here. It has admitted it has been wrong for months.

"But who knows—after Congress adjourns and after the election—that the board won't withdraw this currency; if we pay the bonus with Treasury notes the board could not retire them and the money would become part of the national currency system."

Among the last witnesses for the bonus was Edward C. McConnell, of New York City, who identified himself as one of the six chauffeurs of "Black Jack" Pershing during the war and said he was later assigned to drive Herbert Hoover, then director of Belgian relief.

A thin, middle-aged man, McConnell testified that after 28 years as a private chauffeur, he could not get work.

Lived Up to Promise.

"I went to see Gen. Pershing. His secretary emphasized that I should not ask for work or annoy him with my troubles. I lived up to that promise.

"I believe the only way to help the country is to pay the bonus and let it go to those that need money."

Capt. Samuel M. Lunine, of Reading, Pa., the first witness to appear dressed in full uniform, spoke for the disabled American Veterans of his state.

"I heard you argue here about what effect this may have on securities," Lunine said.

"The veterans ask: Who own the securities? Not the veteran, the farmer, the unemployed."

Others Join in Plea.

Dave V. Addy, Detroit, of the Wayne County Council of the American Legion; Fred Beard of Dearborn, Mich., representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars; and W. D. Jackson of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, joined in the plea. Repeatedly the committee was reminded Congress had created a $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation to help business.

"If you pay the bonus you will do just in part what you did for the railroads and big corporations," Jackson said.

J. H. Hoeppal, of Arcadia, Calif., editor of the Retired Men's News and a legionnaire, charged legion officials were trying to intimidate the membership into taking no action on the bonus issue.

Curb on Imports Of Sugar Urged

Refiners Ask Congress to Protect Domestic Industry.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Fourteen of the largest cane sugar refining companies in the United States today appealed to Congress for protection against the growing imports of the refined product from Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines.

The Philippine situation was especially stressed in view of the fact that the House recently passed the independence bill and the measure is due for early consideration by the Senate.

The letter to Congress states proposed legislation would admit for a period of years 50,000 tons of refined sugar annually from the Philippines free of duty. This amount, it was said, would provide a free berth for 112,000,000 pounds annually from the islands, or enough to supply 1,120,000 Americans for a year. At the same time it is pointed out three mainland refineries have been closed down because of heavy imports during the past year.

Arithmetic on Bandits Would Enliven Lessons

By JOHN J. DALY

SCHOOL teachers find that the most uninteresting subject in the curriculum is arithmetic.

Something ought to be done about it. Here is an opportunity, offered by a news story, to brighten up one corner of the classroom:

Ten men armed with machine guns and sawed-off shotguns blew open the safe of a bank, in the Midwest, and escaped with $5,000 in cash and bonds. The bandits severed telegraph and telephone cables, and the town was cut off from communication with other places for some time.

If it took 10 men armed with machine guns and sawed-off shotguns 10 minutes to blow up a safe, how long would it take 20 men, unarmed, to perform the same task?

OR, IF IT took 10 men armed with machine guns 20 minutes to blow the safe, how long would it take 40 men, armed with pistols only, to blow the safe, providing they did not cut the telegraph and telephone cables?

One of the difficulties in teaching arithmetic has been the lack of imagination. In a country that supplies so many thrilling news stories day in and day out, it would seem an easy task to reassemble the problems in the old arithmetic, bring them up to date and add a little romance and adventure as salt for jaded minds.

Until this time the books on arithmetic have concerned themselves mostly with problems involving these two inanities, A and B.

* * * *

IF IT takes A five hours to row a boat down stream, how long will it take A and B to row the same boat upstream, the tide going out?

As compared to the robbing of a bank, with all the attendant excitement, there is really no comparison between the two scenes—A rowing a boat on a peaceful river on a hot summer's day, probably dozing in the sunshine, and B, like as not, sitting in the stern fishing.

Of course, there is a moral question involved, and the educators will probably have to think twice before presenting arithmetic in the new manner. However, the time has come to do something about arithmetic to make it interesting to young minds.

ALTERNATIVE TAX PROGRAMS OFFERED SENATE BY MILLS

cent tax on stock exchange transactions, leaving the tax at 4 cents a share; eliminate the transfer tax on bonds.

He proposed to put into the bill a 2-cent tax on bank checks and drafts, estimated to raise $95,000,000, and would restore the taxes on passenger automobiles, trucks and accessories to the original Treasury recommendation of 5, 3 and 2½ per cent, respectively, in place of the House taxes of 3, 2 and 1 per cent, respectively.

The increased automobile taxes would raise, it was estimated, $73,000,000 from passenger cars, $6,000,000 from trucks, and $21,000,000 from accessories, a total of $100,000,000 as against an estimated revenue of $56,000,000 from the House rates.

An admission tax of 1 cent per 10 cents on admissions above 10 cents, estimated to yield $110,000,000, was proposed in place of the House tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents above 45 cents, estimated to yield $40,000,000.

The stock and bond transfer tax, as Mr. Mills proposed it be amended, would produce $28,000,000. The House estimated its tax transfer tax of one-fourth per cent of sales price with 4 cents a share minimum tax would yield $70,000,000, and the bond transfer tax of 2 cents per $100 per value with a minimum of one-eighth per cent would produce $25,000,000. Mr. Mills would exempt bonds from the transfer tax.

Gasoline Tax Proposed.

He estimated that savings in postal expenditures and increased postage would mean $155,000,000, as compared with an estimate of $165,500,000 estimated by the House. That would bring the total of the bill to $1,037,000,000, which would be $204,000,000 short of the estimated need.

In his own program, however, a saving in Government expenditures of $208,000,000, as compared with $118,000,000 the Treasury previously estimated would be saved.

Taxes which were not included in the revision of the House bill, but included in his own program by the Secretary, included a gasoline tax of ¾ of a cent a gallon, estimated to yield $124,000,000. He first recommended a 1-cent-a-gallon tax to yield $165,000,000. Another tax recommendation which he renewed was an increase of 1-6 in present taxes on tobacco, except cigars, to yield $58,000,000.

He made no reference to the manufacturers' sales tax knocked out of the bill in the House and said that the former Treasury proposal to make income taxes retroactive was now impracticable. He included all of the excise taxes in the House bill, but he eliminated from his program the proposal to tax domestic consumption of gas and electricity 7 per cent. The $94,000,000 it was estimated this tax would raise, Mr. Mills said, could be replaced by the tax on malt and wort and by governmental savings.

Long Parade of Protest.

Including the embargo tariffs on oil and coal, written into the bill by the House, in his revision of that measure, Secretary Mills added an explanatory footnote, saying "the Treasury expresses no opinion as regard these items."

The committee received the revised tax programs near the end of a long day of public hearings in the course of which it heard representatives of makers of automobiles, radios, cosmetics, perfumes, soap, clocks, watches, malt sirup, toilet articles, grape concentrates, domestic producers and importers of coal, representatives of dealers on grain exchanges and others protest against the taxes it was proposed to levy on their businesses.

It was a long and weary parade of protest, toward the end of which Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, committee chairman, remarked to a representative of the grape concentrate business:

"You make out almost as good a case against your tax as most of the others have."

Auto Makers Heard.

Protest of the automotive industry against the excise taxes levied on its products was voiced by a united industry through George M. Graham, president of the Rockne Motors Corporation. Instead of the special tax on their business the automobile men advocated a general sales tax, as did the representatives of the radio business and several others, including makers of cheap cosmetics, perfumes and articles of similar class. Mr. Graham proposed food and clothing be exempted from a general sales tax. The automobile industry he said resented the discrimination against it in the form of the special excise taxes.

The tax, he warned, threatens to "frustrate the motor manufacturers' program of economic recovery through increased employment," and said that the estimated $56,000,000 the tax would raise was not worth chancing the harm it might do to recovery of the industry and business generally.

"Over the years," he said, "we have been big contributors to the American pay roll. Manufacturers of cars, trucks, parts and tires have paid out in wages annually a sum which increased from $7,150,000 in 1904 to $1,028,791,000 in 1931. Our chief concern here today is the American pay roll. Every other consideration is unimportant. What the country needs is employment and payment of wages. These are the only factors that can bring permanent economic recovery. Balancing the budget is, of course, imperative, but there can hardly be any dissent to the principle that this must not be done at the cost of taking a job from the man who has one or of keeping idle the man who seeks employment.

Wages Already Reduced.

It is the duty of the automobile industry, and of all industry, to make every effort to expand employment. Only the courage and the optimism of our manufacturers has kept the business going. On the present volume few automobile manufacturers will be paying dividends by the end of 1932. The automobile industry, famed for its marvelous conceptions and constructions, is lower than it has been since it started its great upward climb."

In the first quarter of this year, he said, members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce delivered 335,389 automobiles and trucks, as compared with an average delivery in the same quarter of the five preceding years of 780,581. Answering Senator James Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, Mr. Graham said he thought his company was typical and had reduced its wages 5 per cent up to $1,000; 7½ per cent to $3,000, and 10 per cent to $5,000 and 20 per cent above $5,000.

The plea against the special excise taxes, he said, was presented by a united industry, "including every car and truck manufacturer without exception, the National Automobile Dealers Association, National Association of Motor Bus Operators, National Association of Finance companies, Motor and Equipment Wholesalers Association, National Standard Parts Association and the Rubber Manufacturers Association."

Radio Makers Protest.

As he addressed the committee the great figures of the industry occupied chairs in the room and stood up as he called their names and introduced them. Those he introduced included Alfred P. Sloan, president of the General Motors Corporation; Walter P. Chrysler, president of Chrysler Motor Co.; Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co.; Roy D. Chapin, chairman of the board of the Hudson Motor Co.; Charles D. Hastings, chairman of the board of Hupp Motor Co.; E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Co., and others.

Harvey L. Cobb, Washington attorney representing the American Motorists Association, and Ernest N. Smith, of Washington, executive vice president of the American Automobile Association, opposed the taxes which Mr. Graham said the industry would be forced to pass on to the purchaser.

Frank D. Scott, counsel for the Radio Manufacturers Association, opposed the 5 per cent tax on radios, saying they were as much a necessity as automobiles. He said that the number of concerns in the industry had been decreased by more than 50 per cent between 1928 and 1931 and there are less than 150 concerns now in business. Paul Klugh, of the Zenith Radio Corporation, said the tax would make survival of the industry doubtful. James M. Skinner, president of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Co., maker of Philco radios, also opposed the tax, urging the importance at this time of the pleasure radios give.

Embargo Tariff on Coal.

A strong assault was made on the embargo tariff of $2 a short ton on coal in the House bill. The assault was made by George W. Anderson, representing the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and a coal importer. George P. Oswald, also of Boston, and also an officer of the George E. Warren Corporation, and Arthur Hale, chairman of the Coal Exporters Association. Mr. Hale warned that Canada probably would retaliate with a tariff if the House provision were made law and that would mean the loss of a great market for American coal. Coal imports were but a fraction of exports, he said, and the loss of the Canadian market would throw thousands of miners out of work. Representatives of the American industry said the embargo tariff would aid employment in the domestic anthracite industry.

Auto Industry Confident.

The automobile industry is going ahead with its big business comeback campaign with a new confidence that it will not be fettered with a discriminatory excise tax. This attitude of optimism was pronounced among its foremost executives yesterday after their case against special motor vehicle taxation had been presented to the Senate finance committee.

It was voiced with definiteness by Alfred G. Reeves, vice president and general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, on the eve of his departure for New York last night.

"The industry had a strong case, presented it strongly, and is convinced it was favorably received by members of the committee," he said. "That is sufficient basis for optimism that no special tax will be imposed upon the motor vehicle which would defeat its program of giving jobs."

U. S. REFUSES HAITI LOAN-REVISION PLEA

Is Willing to Consider New Agreement After Treaty Reaches Expiration.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States, in a formal note to the Government of Haiti, declined to consider the claims of the Haitian authorities for a revision of the present constitutional guarantees of American loans in Haiti, but invited the government to submit proposals for the refunding of its $14,000,000 outstanding loan, it has been revealed.

The note was sent to the American Minister, Dana G. Munro, in Port au Prince, for transmission to the ministry of foreign affairs in reply to the Haitian note of December 22, 1931.

The following points were reviewed in the document, which was dispatched from Washington April 6 and has already been handed to the foreign minister.

First, the United States refuted the Haitian proposition that the present loan was not outlined in the Haitian treaty of 1915.

Second, the State Department took issue with the Haitian government regarding the constitutional extension of the treaty.

Third, the United States revealed that no loan could have been floated unless American supervision of the Haitian finances had been guaranteed for the life of the loan.

Fourth, the United States formally announced its willingness to consider the formation of some new agreement looking to the conditions that will obtain on the expiration of the present treaty.

Language Is Moderate.

This latest addition to the already voluminous docket of Haitian-American diplomatic correspondence was couched in restrained moderate language throughout and in this respect was in contrast to the tone of the Haitian note. Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, drafted the document and he carefully refrained from employing the slightest tone of brusqueness or severity.

The spirit of President Hoover's opinion on Haiti was reflected in the document. In his address to Congress on certain details of foreign policy last December the President indicated his keen interest in a speedy solution of the Haitian problem. Minister Munro declared to Foreign Affairs Minister Leger:

"In presenting these views my government wishes me to add that it does not desire to continue the existing regime longer than may be found necessary to fulfill adequately the obligations assumed by both governments toward third parties and that it is prepared to examine in a friendly spirit any proposals for an equitable refunding operation which the Haitian government may be in a position to submit to it."

No Internal Debt.

The present financial condition of Haiti is comparatively good, as was shown by Secretary of State Stimson in a letter addressed by him to Senator Smoot, chairman of the Senate finance committee:

"Haiti has no internal debt, no floating debt, and its outstanding funded debt has been reduced to $14,329,161, and in addition there was an unobligated treasury surplus, including both cash and securities, of $3,292,568, of which sum $1,323,768 was in cash."

The text of the note included about 3,000 words and the final paragraph was perhaps the most interesting:

"The loan contracts recognize also that some different situation will presumably exist after the expiration of the treaty by including an authorization by the Haitian government to the general receiver, or the officer exercising his functions, so long as the treaty exists, and thereafter to the officer or officers to be chosen as in article VIII of the protocol."

which he could infer it would be all right to take one of the assault defendants and get a confession, provided no violence was shown."

"We never discussed that," Beebe answered.

As Kelley hacked at Massie's story he jumped from one angle to another, apparently seeking to trap the witness. Often he received the answer, "I don't recall." Sarcastically the prosecutor repeated this answer now and then when failing to get a definite reply.

The defense called witnesses in an effort to show that the killing was not premeditated and that Massie's mind had been affected after the attack on his wife.

Tear Gas Subdues Escaping Convicts

Turnkey Knocked Down, but Break Is Halted at Outer Gate.

Camden, N. J., April 18 (A.P.).—Three convicts were subdued with tear gas tonight when they tried to club their way to freedom from the county jail. The prisoners are Harry Schwartz and Michael Quinn, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and Patay Costanzo, suspected burglar, all of Philadelphia.

They crept up behind Walter Taylor, a turnkey, in the bullpen at supper time, felled him with sticks torn from a wooden bench and seized his keys. Taylor discharged a tear-gas pistol, but received most of the effects himself. Running through a corridor, they struck down Charles Bealer, a jailer, and Harry Bickmore, a trusty, but their cries attracted John Feitz, deputy warden.

Feitz sounded the siren and then met the trio with a tear gas barrage as they reached the outer gate. At the same time policemen rushed in with drawn revolvers and overpowered the convicts.

Heflin-Bankhead Vote Due in Senate Thursday

(Associated Press.)

The Senate agreed yesterday to take up the Heflin-Bankhead election contest Thursday. The agreement came as Senator Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, filed the report of the elections committee recommending that Senator Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, be recognized as Alabama's senator. The election of Mr. Bankhead was contested by former Senator J. Thomas Heflin.

In submitting the report, Mr. Bratton requested that the Senate fix a time to vote on the question. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, then obtained consent that the case be taken up Thursday.

I. C. C. FOR CONTROL OF MOTOR BUSINESS

Recommends Regulation of Passenger and Freight Interstate Traffic.

(Associated Press.)

Gradual formation of a Federal code governing motor transportation with immediate action to regulate bus lines was recommended yesterday in an Interstate Commerce Commission report on coordination of motor transportation.

Ending a five-year study of the truck and bus problem, the commission expressed the belief that railroads and water lines should be encouraged to transfer some of their business to the highways. They have complained bitterly that unregulated interstate transportation on the highways has caused them to lose heavily.

In taking over control of interstate motor transporttaion the commission feels, it said, that with the Federal Government "wholly inexperienced in this field of regulation" it should proceed slowly. The report recommended the regulation of bus passenger transportation be made the first test by an immediate law. This, it said, would give the necessary experience for extending the law later. The commission also asked for a law giving it such control over truck lines as would be necessary to search out interstate lines and operators and obtain from them data on which to base further legislation regulating rates and operation.

Meanwhile Chairman Rayburn, of the House interstate ocmmerce committee said his group expected to report this week a bill to place railroad holding companies under Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction and that bus and truck regulation would be the next legislation considered.

The Commerce Commission said its recommendations "must be regarded in the light of a progress report." It added:

"They do not cover the utmost which we believe will ultimately prove necessary and desirable in the way of Federal regulation of motor vehicles. They represent merely the first step which we believe it is wise and practicable to take under the existing conditions."

An appendix to the report revealed that on June 30, 1930, railroads owned or had an interest in lines operating 551 trucks, 115 trailers and 3,105 buses. Their financial interest in the highway carriers at that time totaled $46,114,891.

20 REPORTS ON RAIL MERGER PLAN FILED

Briefs, Both Supporting and Opposing 4-Way Proposal, Given to I. C. C.

(Associated Press.)

Twenty briefs, both for and against the four-system plan of consolidation of Eastern railroads, were handed the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday by various interests.

The New York Central, filing a brief independent of the other three petitioning systems—the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania—urged the commission to dispose of all suggested conditions in its forthcoming decision. It also expressed a desire to take no part in the controversy over the Pennsylvania Railroad and Penroad holding in New England lines.

Briefs were filed in opposition to certain phases of the plan by the Delaware & Hudson, which desires to remain independent; the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railroad; Baltimore business interests, in opposition to turning the Western Maryland Railroad over to the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Business Protection Association of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, also opposing the Western Maryland allocation.

The Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad, which desires to remain independent, filed and others included the Wabash Railway, which wants to be made the basis for a fifth system; Philadelphia Commercial Organizations, the Detroit Board of Commerce, the State of West Virginia, the Montour Railroad Co., the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau, communities located on the Auburn branch of the New York Central and Lehigh Valley railroads, Jamestown (N. Y.) Chamber of Commerce, the Lehigh and New England railroads, five New England governors, the City of Boston and Boston port authority and the Southern Railway and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in opposition to the proposal to allocate the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway to the Baltimore & Ohio.

The Governors of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont jointly urged the commission not to permit the inclusion of New England bridge lines in the four-system plan. They also asked that steps be taken to do away with the holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Penroad Corporation in the Boston and Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford.

LINDBERGH APPEALS FOR AID IN SECRECY

Denies New RansomDemand and Says Contact Has Not Been Renewed.

Hopewell, N. J., April 17 (A.P.).—The Lindberghs have been unable thus far to reestablish a definite contact with the kidnapers of their son, it was said tonight in a new appeal from the flier for silence and secrecy for himself and his representatives.

Through State police came the following statement:

"The continued following of our representatives by members of the press is making it extremely difficult if not impossible for us to establish contact with whomever is in possession of our son. The publication of demands for additional ransom which have never been made and of amounts which we are unable to pay can cause nothing but greater difficulty.

"We are extremely anxious to reestablish contact with the kidnapers and while we sincerely appreciate the cooperation we have received from many press organizations our attempts are still greatly hampered or made impossible by press activity. Up to the present time we have been unable to reestablish a definite contact. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH."

Col. Lindbergh's attorney and personal adviser conferred again today with one intermediary in the 48-day-old kidnaping case, as another, John H. Curtis, of Norfolk, Va., was reported to be at the Lindbergh home.

Meantime, New Jersey State police notified New York police they had received a telegram saying the famous flier's missing son was aboard the North German liner Europa dressed in girl's clothing.

Fifteen detectives found only one one American child aboard, Judith Niblo, 3-year-old daughter of Fred Niblo, motion picture director of Beverly Hills, Calif.

For more than a week, Attorney Henry Breckinridge has been coming and going from the New York home of Dr. John F. Condon, 72-year-old educator, who paid the $50,000 ransom money on April 2, but failed to obtain the return of the Lindbergh heir.

A short time after it was disclosed in Norfolk that Curtis had left on his fourth mysterious trip since he and two associates entered the case as intermediaries, it was reported he had arrived at the Lindbergh home.

A man resembling the Virginia shipbuilder drove into the Sourland estate in the automobile of Edmund B. Bruce, of Elmira, N. Y. Bruce is a friend of Curtis, and his car is known to have been used by Curtis on other visits to the Lindbergh home for consultation with the famous aviator.

Two hours later the same man drove away without being identified definitely.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, State police head, said he was placing no credence in the statement of a man who telephoned the Toledo Times that the Lindbergh baby would be returned next week.

He said there was no significance to "mysterious flares, airplanes and boats active around Martha's Vineyard, Mass."

Col. Schwarzkopf's statement regarding the Toledo "tip" read:

"A phone call was received by the Toledo Times, according to a telegram received by us. It was traced to a pay station in the Union Depot as made by a man who gave his name as Patterson in New York. He stated that the Lindbergh child would be returned next week. No credence is placed in his story."

Philadelphia Is Center of Search; Brodsky Child Describes House.

Wilmington, Del., April 18 (A.P.).—Search for the kidnapers of 8-year-old Hilda Brodsky, of Wilmington, who was returned unharmed to her parents after being held captive for 50 hours, centered in Philadelphia today.

Capt. Elwood H. Wilson and three other Wilmington detectives went there to assist Philadelphia police in investigating clews given by the child and "tips" received from various sources.

The child gave the Wilmington authorities a description of a house in Philadelphia in which, she said, she was held from the time she was lured into an automobile near her home last Friday, by a man and a woman, until she was released yesterday noon in care of the Rev. Joseph M. Publiese, rector of the Church of St. Mary Magdalen de Pazzi, in Philadelphia.

The girl also told police she could identify her abductors if she saw them again.

Mrs. Beavers is a member of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church and of the Missionary Society of that church in which her father, Col. Harrison Bruce, was an elder for many years. She took an active part in the Red Cross work during the World War and sold Liberty Bonds, and with her husband, bought bonds of every issue.

Mrs. Beavers belongs to Chapter G of the P. E. O. It was a dinner meeting, and there were about 100 members and guests present. Mrs. Henry Lowell Cook, of Milwaukee, is president of the order. Mrs. Cook served as toastmistress, and responses were made by the presidents or representatives of other organizations present who are also members of the order. A number of the members of the order are descended from the same colonial ancestor from whom George Washington was descended, a Capt. Nicholas Martain, a French military engineer, who came to Virginia in 1620 to have charge of the building of frontier forts.

Following the dinner a Washington program was given by Miss Fanny Washington, a descendant of an uncle of George Washington. Miss Washington, as well as many of the members of the order, wore colonial costume.

CURTIS' TALK OPENS CONGRESS OF D. A. R.

7,000 Women Hear Speech by Vice President at Their Forty-first Session.

sure they will change the present times into prosperity."

Devoting a major portion of his address to a tribute to George Washington, Vice President Curtis opined "that without him there is more than a possibility we should not be gathered here tonight." He evoked another avalanche of applause when he quoted the opinion of Washington that the Constitution is "sacredly obligatory upon all" until changed by "an explicit and authentic act of the whole people."

He referred to the D. A. R. as "but one enduring monument" to Washington and "to the principles for which he fought." In the introduction of his speech, the Vice President declared that the monuments erected by the D. A. R. in memory of "our forefathers" will defy time.

"They will last," he said, "as long as our freedom lasts; as long as Americans shall have cause to cherish the memories of their forefathers, which is for all time."

The thousands of D. A. R. delegates and alternates were further inspired by addresses from Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, vice chairman of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, and from Charles Moore, chairman of the Fine Arts Commission.

Senator Fess' Tribute.

Senator Fess paid the gathering the compliment of being "the most beautiful sight I have ever seen from a standpoint of audience," adding that he had never seen "such a magnificent review of evidence that makes a Nation great."

With the spacious floor and tiers packed to capacity, Constitution Hall was like a carpet of varicolored jewels and rich silks. The flags of State delegations, which had been brought in by 300 pages at the opening of the meeting, and massed on the stage, and the bright red and blue of American flags, one suspended from the ceiling in the center of the hall, added brilliance to the spectacle. Superimposed on this display of color were masses of flowers.

Senator Fess described the events leading up to the establishment of the Bicentennial Commission, from the time he introduced a resolution in the Senate asking for a fitting celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. He described the plans to preserve Mount Vernon for all time, and the construction of the Mount Vernon boulevard as among two of the outstanding monuments to the memory of the Father of His Country.

Shrines to Washington.

Senator Fess declared that he entertained more fears over the foes of the Constitution in the country than of any foreign foes. He described the Constitution as "our bulwark, as pertinent and strong as ever before." The great need in the country today, he said, is whole-hearted devotion in the solution of "our terrific problems."

Mr. Moore spoke on the monuments and shrines to George Washington, mentioning, in particular, the restoration of Wakefield. He told the D. A. R. delegates that the preservation of these shrines requires "their especial protection and care." He counseled the delegates to keep this in mind when going to the polls in November, pointing out that the men sent to Congress have the responsibility of fathering the National Capital and all it contains.

A welcome on behalf of the District of Columbia was extended the D. A. R. by Maj. D. A. Davison, Acting Engineer Commissioner of the District. Maj. Davison observed that the Federal building program, the fine weather and the cherrry blossoms "are all out to honor the forty-first continental convention."

Merging with the glamour of scintillating evening dresses and jewels was the music from the United States Marine Band, under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson, and a number of solos by Lavinia Darve, soprano, and James Melton, tenor.

CANNON EXPLAINS STAND ON REPEAL

Tells Women Drys That He Favors Essentials of Byrd's Plan.

Striking while the iron was hot from the repeal blows of the women wets last week, the women's national committee for law enforcement forged their chain for strict enforcement yesterday.

The group, which met in the Washington Auditorium, where the prohibition fair is quartered, opposed repeal, modification or any weakening of the dry laws.

Their demands were carried to Congress at noon by hundreds of women supporters, led by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Massachusetts and Florida.

Bishop James Cannon, of the Methodist Church South, spoke at the meeting.

"It is certainly clear that I did not declare that I was in favor of the resubmission of the eighteenth amendment at this time nor did I agree to any substantial change in the method of ratification," he said.

Later in his address, he said: "In my Richmond speech I positively declared that the dry leaders have never objected and do not object now to action by the people in the manner prescribed by the Constitution."

Agrees With Byrd Plan.

In discussing former Gov. Byrd's prohibition plan, he said, "I agree with the basal elements of his proposed constitutional amendment, namely, 'that the Congress whenever two-thirds of each house deem it necessary shall propose any amendment or repeal of the eighteenth amendment, provided such amendments must be voted upon and adopted by a majority of the electors of three-fourths of the States.'"

The bishop said ratification should be made by State legislatures or by a majority vote of the people rather than in conventions, which could be manipulated or controlled. He favored the State legislature method.

Opposition to any increase in medicinal liquor prescriptions and the suggestion that ambassadors in foreign countries are under the protection of the American flag which "involves their respect for constitutional law and defense of that law while they are in office" also were embodied in reservations.

Pressure on Enforcement.

A method of forcing States to prosecute the dry law was outlined.

Nearly 100 women gathered at the Capitol when their leaders visited the offices of Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner. Both the Vice President and the Speaker were busy with other affairs at the time the resolutions were left in their offices.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana; Representative Sparks, of Kansas, and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison spoke at the night session. Sparks received the indorsement of the convention on his bill to exclude aliens in the count for reapportionment of representatives.

Senator Robinson's address particularly stressed the outlawing of the saloon. He declared that the anti-prohibitionists for all their attacks on the dry laws were without a solution for dealing with the liquor problem in the event of its return.

Lack of Respect for Law.

Mrs. Edison came to the gathering from her Florida home. She said: "It is not the prohibition law alone that is ruining our country; it is the lack of reverence and respect for all law.

"When our countrymen have had vital problems to meet, they have met the issue with good judgment. Therefore, we need not fear a referendum on the liquor question."

She said she came in the memory of her great husband and ended her short address with his words, "The courageous—carry on."

Today's session will open at 11 o'clock with the "Valley Forge Breakfast" and conclude with an afternoon and evening program of addresses and educational features.

63-Foot Tunnel Found Leading Out of Prison

Nogales, Ariz., April 18 (A.P.).—The Herald says it learned today a tunnel 63 feet long, electrically lighted and containing an electric fan to blow air to workers, was discovered Friday at the Arizona State Prison at Florence, thus frustrating a wholesale escape of prisoners.

The tunnel, two feet high and three feet wide, led from the basement to an outer wall and was discovered after guards found fresh dirt in the prison yard. Prisoners had 60 feet to go. No prisoners were found in the tunnel.

Lina Basquette Injured While Making Picture

Los Angeles, April 18 (A.P.).—Thrown from a horse during the filming of a motion picture, Lina Basquette, dancer and film actress, was injured seriously today when her foot caught in a stirrup and she was dragged 50 feet.

Miss Basquette was working with Buck Jones, film cowboy, in a picture involving a wild chase. The actress spurred the horse down a hill and tumbled from the saddle when the horse stumbled. She was taken to her home. Physicians said she probably suffered internal injuries.

SOVIET-NIPPON WAR SCARE RISES AGAIN

Moscow Admits Heavy Concentration of Troops for Manchurian Events.

(United Press.)

The Soviet-Japanese war scare in the Far East was revived Monday in Moscow, Tokyo, and Geneva.

Official sources in Moscow said Russia was prepared for national defense; troops are concentrated on the Manchurian frontier, and the Soviet government is ready to resist plots to provoke war by White Russians (anti-Communists) and certain Japanese militarists.

In Tokyo a government spokesman described extensive Soviet concentrations as showing that Russia is ready to fight either offensively or defensively and hinted that Russian Communists were responsible for bombing a Japanese troop train.

American Secretary of State Stimson studied the situation at Geneva, where the League of Nations "committee of nineteen" battled over a plan for Japanese evacuation of the Shanghai area and finally compromised on a scheme which Japan indicated she would reject.

Moscow, April 18 (U.P.).—Strong Soviet troop concentrations on the Manchurian frontier are thoroughly prepared for defense of the Communist state, official circles declared today in charging that White Russians and certain Japanese militarists were plotting to provoke a war between Japan and the Soviet Union.

The new "war scare" arose out of resumption of Japanese military activities in northern Manchuria and charges that Communists bombed a Japanese troop train.

Official sources charged that:

1—White Russians (anti-Soviets) violently demonstrated around the Soviet railroad headqaurters at Harbin.

2—The Japanese public is being prepared for further war activities.

3—Japan falsely hinted that Communists were responsible for the troop train bombing near Harbin.

4—The mysterious movements of the Manchurian militarist, Gen. Mahchan-Shan, were instigated by Japan to create a basis for further Japanese military advances toward the Siberian frontier.

Official circles strongly denied any Soviet connection with the train wreck or other terrorist activities in Manchuria, and said the responsibility must rest on white Russians and Japanese military leaders. The press accused Japan of spreading inventions of Soviet "terrorism" to prepare public opinion for further military "adventures."

Tokyo, April 18 (U.P.).—Soviet Russia is "preparing to fight, either offensively or defensively," and in event of fighting in Manchuria Japan will intervene, a government spokesman said today in commenting on critical developments along the Siberian frontier.

Although emphasizing that it "does not seem necessary to be overalarmed," the spokesman added:

"There is no use in shutting our eyes to the fact that the Soviets are dissatisfied with Japanese activity in north Manchuria, and now that Soviet concentrations of troops are completed, the Reds are resorting to provocative acts."

The spokesman listed the Soviet concentrations as follows:

Between Manchulia, western Manchuria and Vladivostok, east of Manchuria—70,000 soldiers, most of them around Pogranitchynaya, the Chinese Eastern Railroad gateway on the eastern border of Manchuria.

Habarovsk—One division of militia.

Japan has between five and six divisions (more than 50,000 men) in Korea and Manchuria. The Soviet, however, is steadily increasing concentrations at Saghalien with the intention of seizing the petroleum fields in event of trouble. At present Japan has no troops at Saghalien.

Geneva, April 18 (U.P.).—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson made a thorough study of documents relating to the Far Eastern crisis today while the League of Nations special committee of 19 was battling over a compromise in plans for Japanese evacuation of Shanghai.

Japanese sources indicated that the compromise finally reached was not acceptable as it provides for appointment of a drafting committee to write a final text recommending Japanese evacuation. The chief Japanese objection was to the fact that the small powers represented on the committee insisted that the drafting committee be made up of neutrals, with Japan and China unable to vote on vital issues.

While the controversy was going on, Stimson remained at his villa studying the background of the conflict. He was unable to attend the session because of a cold.

Horse Show Plans Are Made Known

$5,000 in Prize Money at Bradley Farms From May 11-14.

Plans have been completed for the annual National Capital Horse Show to be held at Bradley Farms May 11 to 14, it was announced yesterday.

The total prize money this year will be approximately $5,000. Features will include a $500 saddle stake, open to all three-gaited saddle horses. Winner of the stake will be considered champion saddle horse of the show and will be awarded the championship ribbon. Richard K. Mellon's "Royal Earn," from Pittsburgh, Pa., winner of the 1931 championship, is expected to be entered again this year.

Another feature will be a $500 hunter stake, open to all hunters. Many leading exhibitors have announced their intention of showing in the event, and the association is aiming to exceed past shows, both in quantity and quality. The prize money this year is said to be the highest ever given at a horse show in this part of the country.

Cermak Is Assured Committeeman Post

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—The post of Democratic national committeeman from Illinois was virtually assured for Mayor Anton J. Cermak today through the indorsement of the Cook County convention.

The mayor, backed by the local organization, which is expected to dominate the State meeting Friday, seeks to take over the job held for two years by Michael L. Igoe. If Cermak succeeds, it will complete his victory over his rival, for Igoe in last Tuesday's primary lost out to men sponsored by Cermak both for ward committeeman and the gubernatorial nomination.

Brain Operations in Ancient Times Visioned by Hrdlicka

Skill of Tribal Surgeons Revealed by Study of Skulls Found in Peru and Bolivia; Savant Thinks Anesthetics Also Were Known to Indians.

Operations on the brain, recognized as among the most delicate even today, were performed in the countries now known as Peru and Bolivia before Columbus discovered America, Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, has concluded from an intensive study of the "trepanned" skulls in the National Museum collections.

The operations, according to Dr. Hrdlicka's findings, were performed with stone, obsidian and copper instruments, by cutting, sawing, scraping and drilling. Because of the pain and length of the operations, the curator believes some sort of anesthetic was used, probably some narcotic which rendered the victim insensible to pain.

He also believes, because of the few evidences of infection, that some sanitary precautions were taken and that antiseptic lotions, powders or ointments were used. Several, made from native herbs, are known to have been familiar to the Indians, he points out.

The ancient surgeons were busiest, it is indicated after battles, the most common wounds being cracked skulls, inflicted by slings, clubs and stone and copper maces. Force of the blows would press bits of bone against the brain. The practice of the surgeons was to clear out the splintered or depressed area and relieve the pressure.

This often required removing rather large segments of the skull. The brain, relieved of restraint at this point, would rush outward. The Indian surgeons, in such cases, developed the art of fitting the holes in the skull with shell, gourd, and sometimes silver plates to prevent the dangerous brain hernia, Dr. Hrdlicka learned.

The Indian surgeons performed clean operations, skillfully smoothing off any sharp or jagged edges of the hole they made, stopping just short of the brain itself. A few skulls where the wounds showed no healing, indicate operations were performed on corpses for practice.

In general the wounds show good healing, indicating that the patient survived and lived long after. Infection was prevented either by cauterizing or by applying scrapings from tanned skin, which had a tendency to coagulate the blood. Wounds were cleaned with a decoction from willow bark, or with other concoctions, having probably some antiseptic quality, Dr. Hrdlicka reported.

Wooden stumps used for artificial legs were found in Peruvian burials. Dr. Hrdlicka believes the original limbs were amputated.

The primitive doctors of this Andean region failed to develop along other lines because of the perfect health of the people, tuberculosis being unknown and cases of cancer extremely rare, the curator points out.

Discovery of a large number of skeletons of young women in the ancient burials indicates a high death rate from childbirth, and there was a large child mortality, principally from digestive disorders, it was found.

24,000 SHORT SELLERS TRADING IN STOCK MARKET IN LAST WEEK

tained by certain market operation in New York.

A somewhat panicky prohibition interlude disrupted the bear-raid inquiry during the afternoon session, when the committee room buzzer suddenly announced a roll call in the Senate chamber.

Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart, of Iowa, who was in the chair, looked questioningly at his colleagues when the insistent buzz interrupted a question as to how stock brokers keep track of so many things in relation to so many different stocks.

Committee Members Depart.

A committee messenger was dispatched to learn the reason for the roll call. He returned in perhaps 45 seconds and whispered into Senator Brookhart's ear.

"The roll call," Senator Brookhart interrupted, "is on a motion to cut the prohibition enforcement appropriation in half, and * * *"

Before he could finish the sentence Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), of New York, was out of his chair and on his way.

Senator Couzens followed, about eight paces to the rear. And behind him was Senator Blaine.

Mr. Brookhart was struck dumb by the sudden vanishing of his committee, but on second thought decided he, too, had better scram.

As Senator Brookhart began to lift himself heavily from his chair, Senator Walcott, of Connecticut, decided to join the big evacuation.

Whitney Awaits Return.

In his haste Senator Brookhart neglected to either adjourn or recess the committee, and as a result Mr. Whitney, with his counsel at his side, had the great mahogany table all to themselves.

The stenographer sharpened four pencils and then decided to let the next man finish the sentence in the stately record.

Mr. Whitney caught the big idea almost instantly. He bet his counsel privately that the committee would come back. And sure enough, in about 20 minutes the investigation was on again—this time on a wholly new tangent, to be sure; but nevertheless on again.

Before prohibition thus had entered the committee's life, Mr. Gray had pressed Mr. Whitney vigorously for an opinion whether brokers do not frequently advise their customers to take one side of the market, while they themselves took the other. Mr. Whitney said that would constitute a grave violation of the stock exchange rules and would be followed, if exposed, by drastic action.

"Do brokers circulate false rumors about certain stocks to depress the market after they have built up their short position?" the counsel asked at another point.

"Not in my knowledge," Mr. Whitney replied.

"You mean you have never in all your long experience heard of such rumors." Gray pressed. "O, yes sir; I have heard of many, many rumors; but I have never known a case where they have been laid at the feet of short sellers or members of the New York Stock Exchange," said Mr. Whitney, in ending that subject.

England's abandonment of the gold standard last September created such an unusual situation that the stock exchange decided short trading should be suspended for three days. In pressing for an explanation of this action, Gray wrung the admission from Whitney that in such times panicky sentiment might run wild. The business conduct committee had considered closing the exchange outright for a week or so; but that was ruled out on the ground it might cause a money panic.

Large Short Interest Factor.

"Did the short interests have any influence in your decision?" Gray asked.

"One of the factors in our decision to keep the market open and ban short selling," Whitney replied, "was that the shorts would be driven to cover because their contracts would not be covered if the exchange closed."

"Was the large short interest and the inability of the shorts to cover a factor?"

"Yes," Whitney said, adding that the short interest in the market then was 4,000,000 shares.

Gray tried to get Whitney to admit that the order against short selling was instituted because of fear of widespread short trading.

Whitney, however, refused to agree, saying: "In the face of such an event the liquidation would have been something terrific and we wished to make it necessary for short sellers to cover and they did."

"If you hadn't damned the dam, there would have been short selling galore?" Gray asked.

"No, sir," Whitney replied. "The reason we stayed open was because the short sellers would have to cover, stabilizing the market, and we felt if there was not that buying power, there would be no market."

"Then you regarded it as dangerous not to ban short selling?" Gray persisted. "You knew it would demoralize the market?"

"We did not," Whitney said.

"What would have happened if you had not banned short selling?"

"The market would have closed."

"You mean there would have been a panic?"

"Yes, but not because of short selling, because of liquidation."

CONGRESS SPEEDS 10 PER CENT CUTTING

cuts in appropriations ordered by the Senate under the McKellar resolution. The vote was 268 to 42 for the Senate cut.

Following an all-day session of the Democratic House economy committee, Chairman John McDuffie last night said that all of the economies approved by the committee will go into one bill, to be reported late this week or early next.

His plan to have both the pay cut proposal and the President's five-day week, staggered furloughs, submitted to the House today as alternative riders to the legislative appropriations bill was voted down by the committee.

Furlough Plan Assailed.

Postponement of legislative appropriations was ordered until the committee can agree on what will go into the omnibus measure. Then the committee will ask a special rule to attach the whole omnibus project to the legislative measure.

Chairman McDuffie was sharply critical of the President's furlough proposal following yesterday's session. He conceded, however, it is still possible the committee might write the White House plan into its omnibus bill.

Legislative counsel are "having difficulty" applying the plan to the legislative branch of the service, he said, adding it is entirely likely the committee might impose out-and-out pay cuts in the legislative branch, while allowing furloughs in the remainder of the Government service. Personally, he reiterated, he favors a general pay cut.

Sweeping Navy Changes.

Sweeping economies are anticipated in the Navy appropriations bill to be reported to the House today. Some have been anticipated by the House naval affairs committee, which voted to abolish the office of Assistant Secretary of Navy for Aeronautics, after Secretary Adams testified the job was "unnecessary." The committee will hold hearings next on proposed abolition of certain Atlantic Coast shore stations.

Resolutions looking to further Federal economies were introduced yesterday by Senators Logan (Democrat), Kentucky, and Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania. Senator Logan would create a nonpartisan commission, comprising the President, the Speaker, the Senate Minority Leader, the Comptroller General and the budget director, to reorganize the Government. Senator Reed proposed consolidation of the Budget Bureau and the General Accounting Office.

The House merchant marine committee forwarded the House economy group a resolution favoring maintenance of existing trade routes and services by the Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation. The resolution favors consolidation of some trade routes, but opposes outright abolition of the Shipping Board.

3 Other Parties to Run Candidates in Maryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 18.—The Communist party will have presidential and senatorial candidates in the field, and the Socialist and Labor parties will have candidates for the senatorship in the election in Maryland next November, according to certificates filed in the office of Secretary of State David S. Winebrenner here today.

The Communist candidates are William Z. Foster, for President; James A. Ford, for Vice President, and Carl Bradley for senator. William Toole and Noah S. Twigg will be the Socialist and Labor candidates for senator, respectively.

PROBE OF LYNCHING BEGUN BY GOVERNOR

Coroner's Jury Unable to Say Who Hanged Confessed Slayer of Child.

Atwood, Kans., April 18 (A.P.).—An investigation started personally by Gov. Harry H. Woodring was under way here tonight in an attempt to learn the identity of members of a mob that lynched Richard Read, slayer of 8-year-old Dorothy Hunter.

"Identity unknown" was the verdict of a coroner's jury after a brief inquest.

About 200 men, heavily armed, were in the mob that hanged Read from a tree near here early today after taking the confessed kidnaper and attacker of the Selden, Kans., school girl from the Cheyenne County Jail at St. Francis last night. Most of the mobsmen presumably were from Selden and vicinity.

First Lynching Since 1920.

Gov. Woodring, who was in Atwood on a speaking tour, directed the State and county authorities to use every means to identify the lynchers and placed Attorney General Roland Boynton in charge of the investigation.

The governor, who was asleep in a hotel here when the lynching occurred, said he believed the local authorities had used every precaution to protect Read.

The lynching was the first in Kansas since 1920. About 50 lynchings have been recorded in the history of the State, which abolished capital punishment in 1902.

Sheriff A. A. Bacon, of Cheyenne County, who was overpowered by the mob, was automatically ousted from office under provision of the Kansas mob law for the loss of his prisoner. A petition for his reinstatement immediately was prepared for presentation to Gov. Woodring.

Murderer Was Strangled.

The inquest offered little aid to the authorities. Officials were the only witnesses. Dr. Charles E. Hennenberger, Rawlins County coroner, testified Read, 53-year-old bachelor-farmer, had been strangled by the noose. Several hours after the inquest, Jake Read, father of the victim and widely known wheat raiser, had not claimed the body.

The mob which hanged Read, on the only tree within miles of the scene of his crime, was the third which sought his life since he was arrested on his farm in Thomas County south of here Friday.

The 200 armed men in motor cars entered St. Francis, seized Sheriff Bacon at a filling station, a moment later overpowered his deputy, J. H. Indors, obtained the keys to the jail and departed with Read and the sheriff. Two miles out of town Sheriff Bacon was released.

The mob then continued toward the field where Read had hidden the girl's body in a haystack. It was remembered the nearest tree was five miles away on the Ed Lymann ranch.

Signed His Confession.

Read was taken to the lonely ravine where the elm tree stands. A rope was placed about his neck and he was swung from the ground. A moment later the rope was slackened and he was lowered to the ground.

"Have you anything to say?" he was asked.

"Yes," Read answered. "If it hadn't been for liquor I wouldn't have done it. I would not do it again."

The mob was silent and motionless for a moment. Then a leader gave a signal. The rope tightened and Read was swung to his death.

Read made a signed statement to Guido E. Smith, Thomas County attorney, in which he told of luring Dorothy into his automobile, driving over the prairie, later attacking and slaying her. He once served a sentence in the Colorado penitentiary for attacking a 15-year-old girl.

Insurance Concern Wins Court Point

U. S. Supreme Tribunal to Review Test Case of District Code.

(Associated Press.)

The Washington Fidelity National Insurance Co. was yesterday granted a review by the Supreme Court to test out the validity of the section of the District code, which provides copies of applications for life insurance must be attached to the policies to enable the companies to contest a policy.

In a case brought by Winnie Burton the District Supreme Court refused to permit the insurance company to contest a $371 policy on her husband's life because a copy of the application had not been attached to the policy. The company sought to challenge the policy on the ground of misrepresentation in the application.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., the Prudential Insurance Co. and the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., representing they have outstanding in the District 450,000 "industrial" life insurance policies, involving more than $82,000,000, joined in attacking the law explaining copies of applications had not been attached to any of these policies.

Senate Rejects Relief Proposal

Plan Would Have Given War Department Power to Issue Supplies.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday rejected, 32 to 27, a proposal by Senator Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, to authorize the Secretary of War to furnish relief supplies to governors.

Thomas proposed the relief plan as an amendment to a House bill authorizing the War Department to lend tents, blankets and other supplies for use by the United Confederate Veterans in their encampment at Richmond, Va., in June. After rejecting the Thomas proposal the House bill was passed and sent to the White House.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, opposed the Thomas amendment, saying the War Department always had responded speedily to relieve persons made destitute by storms and floods without waiting for legislative authority.

$50 Awarded for Fight Injuries.

A Prince Georges County Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded Henry G. Reidinger, of Washington, $50 damages for injuries he suffered in a fight with Thomas L. Avaunt, former proprietor of a barbecue stand in Colmar Manor, Md. Reidinger, who said Avaunt cut him with a knife, had asked damages of $5,000.

Brookhart Offers Referendum Plan

Would Provide That States Might Force Amendment on Congress.

(Associated Press.)

A constitutional referendum proposal was offered in the Senate yesterday by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, a prohibition champion.

Brookhart submitted a constitutional amendment providing that two-thirds of the States may force Congress to submit an amendment to the Constitution when it has been approved at a regular election by a majority of voters in the States. Thus, if 32 States would ask Congress, after a majority vote in those States to submit an amendment Congress would be required to submit the amendment for ratification by 36 States.

"This is a genuine referendum," asserted Brookhart in a statement off the floor. "These other referenda proposals are fakes. If the wets want a real referendum they will favor this."

3 FELLED BY TROOPS IN OHIO MINE STRIKE

Are Shot After Mob Twice Storms Barricade; Adams' Parley Bid Refused.

Cadiz, Ohio, April 18 (A.P.).—Three men were shot as guns of Ohio National Guardsmen protected mines in the eastern Ohio bituminous coal field today.

The three men, said to be striking miners, were wounded after a crowd of 400 twice stormed a barricade erected in a road leading to the strike-ridden Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., near Adena. The first time the crowd retreated after the guardsmen fired into the ground, but the assault was not stopped until three men fell, all shot in the legs.

Convinced the guardsmen intended to halt their march, the assailants retreated, and miners employed in the pit went to work as the soldiers stood on guard nearby.

Two more guard strongholds were the scene of shootings today. One was the barricaded outposts on the Georgetown road and the other on Bucanwood road, near Far Away. An attempt to storm the second outposts was thwarted when the soldiers fired shots to scare the attackers.

Guard officers reported the soldiers did not fire directly into the miners. They said the bullets were directed at the ground and the three men were hit by deflected bullets.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Doak announced yesterday that Ohio mine operators have refused to accept the assistance of the Labor Department in settling strikes in the coal fields of that State.

The Secretary had invited the operators and representatives of the workers to meet in his office April 20 to attempt to compose their difficulties.

"On April 13," said the Secretary, "I tendered my good offices as Secretary of Labor to the operators and representatives of the miners and requested them to meet with me in the department offics at Washington Wednesday morning, April 20. The operators have wired me that their policy is to deal directly with their own employes and declined to meet as requested.

"Representatives of the miners accepted the request to attend the conference."

Several days ago, when it was learned the invitation had been sent, officials of the Labor Department said the Secretary had acted on the request of business and professional men in the coal fields.

Woodcock Defends 2 Accused Agents

Says His Officers Killed Texas Storekeeper in Self-Defense.

(Associated Press.)

The Government yesterday defended two of its prohibition agents who have been indicted for murder and are to be tried May 18 at Dallas, Tex., for killing Marion McGlothlin, a country storekeeper, who had attacked them while they sought to arrest an alleged bootlegger.

Prohibition Director Woodcock said in a statement he believed they were not guilty in a legal sense of any crime, but had acted in self-defense. He announced suspension of the two men, however, as not measuring up to the standard required by his bureau, but said his action should not work against them in the criminal case.

"My decision is not connected with the indictment," said Mr. Woodcock, "in the usual course, charges will be brought against them and they will have an opportunity to answer. Final action will be taken then."

NEW GOAL IS FIXED FOR SLASH IN ARMS

some form of immediate reduction before talking about future conferences.

Marriner's proposal in the drafting committee set up a definite goal for the present conference by changing Article 1 to read:

"The reduction of armaments as provided in Article 8 of the covenant can be completely achieved only by progressive revisions, following each other at appropriate intervals, after the present conference has taken the first decisive step by general reduction to the lowest possible level."

Litvinoff, the German delegate, the Turkish delegate and others accepted the proposal. The Italians inserted the word "progressive," and the Germans inserted the words "decisive" and "to the lowest possible level."

Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, gave another indication of Anglo-American collaboration by his immediate approval.

Two Sentenced for Mail Fraud.

Florence, Ala., April 18 (A.P.).—F. E. Schooley, Mountain Grove, Mo., and Egbert E. Randel, Little Rock, Ark., former officials of the defunct Citizens Life Insurance Co., of Huntsville, Ala., were sentenced in United States District Court here today to fifteen months in prison on charges of using the mails to defraud.

ITALIAN SPEED FLIER AND 2 OTHERS KILLED

Lieutenant, Who Raced at Norfolk in 1926, Victim of Fatal Fall.

Orbetello, Italy, April 18 (A.P.).—Lieut. Col. Guascone Guasconi, one of Italy's foremost speed pilots, who participated in the Schneider Cup races at Norfolk, Va., in 1926, was killed with two other men when a seaplane plunged into the water here during a demonstration flight today.

The other dead were Engineer Domenico Furlan, of the Fiat Automobile Co., and Naval Mechanic Vittorio Maletta. Five army and navy officers, who completed the group in the plane, were injured. They were Lieut. Col. Camusso, Naval Capt. Alberto Voli, Naval Capt. Cattaneo, Naval Aviator Filiponi and Radio Operator Berti. Capt. Voli's condition was serious. Berti participated in the Italian flight to Brazil last year.

Witnesses said they believed the accident was caused by a maneuvering error while the plane was performing for the benefit of a detachment of cadets at the naval academy. Flying at high speed, it struck shallow water in a lagoon used as a naval airport and turned over.

The water was too shallow for the plane, known as the S-55, to sink, but it was badly crushed. The craft was of the same type as that used on the flight of an Italian squadron, headed by Commander Italo Balbo, to Brazil in 1931.

Orbetello is a well protected seaport on the western coast of Italy, some 70 miles northwest of Rome and directly east of the Island of Corsica.

Revival Is Planned Of Old Company K

Former National Guard Outfit to Be Reorganized Thursday.

Company K of the old Second Regiment of the District National Guard in prewar days is to be reorganized.

Former members have been ordered to report to the "dugout" of former Top Sergt. Bob Boyd, at 6907 Eighth street northwest, at 8 o'clock Thursday night for a roll call and "bawling out." Arrangements are in charge of Quartermaster Sergt. "Pop" J. R. Gibson. All Company K men in the city are expected to be present.

"K of the Second" will be remembered by many local service men as the crack organization of the old National Guard. It had quarters on G street northwest, next to the Y. M. C. A. It won and maintained a leadership for smartness in drilling and in proficiency on the rifle range. The company saw service on the Mexican border in 1915 and during the World War.

Crown Named Election Official.

Francis H. Crown, former chief of the Mount Rainier Volunteer Fire Department and a prominent Democrat, has been appointed to the board of election supervisors of Prince Georges County. He fills the place formerly occupied by J. August Miller, of Ice, made this way, is more palatable

To possess that crystal-clear, appetizing quality for which American Ice is noted, ice must be made in well-ventilated, hygienic plants. The water — four times filtered — must be frozen in large covered containers far from any atmosphere of meat and vegetable odors. In American plants the water is constantly aerated, kept constantly in motion during freezing, to give the ice its hardness, its transparency. Made this modern way, the ice you use for beverages has greater purity, lasts longer, and is far more palatable than cubes frozen as a by-product of food preservation.

SELF INSURANCE AND THE OSTRICH

The old story about the ostrich applies to the municipality, state or industry that thinks self-insurance affords real protection. As long as there is no loss, it looks as good as any. But let disaster come—

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

ROOSEVELT FOR WET CONTROL BY STATES

"Time Has Come for Definite Action," He Telegraphs Liberal League.

Boston, April 18 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt declared himself definitely in favor of returning liquor control to the States and gave reassurance that he had not changed his previously expressed opinion on prohibition. His statements were contained in a telegram made public by the Liberal Civic League.

The league had asked Roosevelt to clarify his stand on prohibition to meet charges that he was a dry candidate and would be under controlling obligation to the dry element in the Democratic party if he were nominated for the Presidency by his party. In answering the appeal Gov. Roosevelt said:

"Please consider I still maintain 100 per cent my earlier expression of opinion favoring the return of control of intoxicants to the several States. That is definite. I have on so many occasions agreed with your statement that the time has come for definite action."

William H. Mitchell, chairman of the league, an organization working against prohibition, said:

"The executive committee of the Liberal Civic League, Inc., is desirous of clearing up doubt that is being cultivated here by opponents of your nomination for President as to where you now stand on the issue of immediate repeal. In certain quarters it is being stated that you are a dry candidate and that if you are nominated at Chicago you will be under controlling obligation to the dry element in the Democratic party.

"On every possible occasion in recent years the people of this State have expressed themselves by constantly increasing majorities in favor of repeal. This is a nonpartisan demand. Independent vote that now controls our elections is a wet vote. It will not support a dry for President either Republican or Democrat. Senator Coolidge was swept into office in 1930 on a huge wave of protest against a Republican who ran on a dry platform. Every congressional district is pronouncedly for repeal.

"Your earlier expressions for repeal do not adequately answer the charge that you are not now whole-heartedly for repeal. We submit the time for theoretical discussion is long past. The people want definite action. Citizens are either for or against repeal. There is nothing else of moment in the prohibition controversy. We shall appreciate your earliest possible reply."

Death Ends Fast of 61 Days of Ohio Veteran

Miamiville, Ohio, April 18 (A.P.).—Wilson Fitzwater, Civil War veteran, died today after refusing food for 61 days. He was 88 years old. With him when he died was Carl Hughes, negro farmer, to whom he leased his property two years ago on condition that he be cared for until his death. The conditions were met, Hughes and his family giving what aid the veteran would accept as he wasted away.

Fitzwater fell ill a little more than two months ago. Failing in body and mind he refused solid food, finally rejected even the egg-nog he had consented to sip, and continued to drink only water, and that copiously.

DEATH OF SENATOR HARRIS HELD GREAT LOSS BY U. S. LEADERS

learned by the budding young politician as secretary to the late Senator A. S. Clay.

Then he returned to Georgia where he was elected to the Georgia State Senate and also served as chairman of the Senate Democratic committee.

Appointment as director of the Census Bureau in 1913, brought him back to Washington and for a time he was Acting Secretary of the Department of Commerce. President Wilson named him chairman of the Federal Trade Commission in 1915.

He resigned in 1918 to return to Georgia and make the race for the Senate. He was elected for that term, won again in 1924 and in the last election he won over former Gov. John M. Slaton, who was essaying a return to Georgia politics, by the largest majority ever received by any candidate for the United States Senate in Georgia. This term would have ended March 3, 1937.

Senator Harris, during his fourteen years' service in the Upper House, held places on the appropriations, commerce, immigration and territories and insular affairs committees. He took an especial interest in immigration and was strongly opposed to Mexican immigration. Senator Harris also devoted much attention toward obtaining a Federal appropriation for cancer research in cooperation with philanthropic agencies.

On July 27, 1905, he married Miss Julia Knox Wheeler, daughter of Brig. Gen. Joseph Wheeler, in New York. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Julia Wheeler Harris.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it is expected the body will be taken back to Cedartown, where Senator Harris maintained his home, for interment.

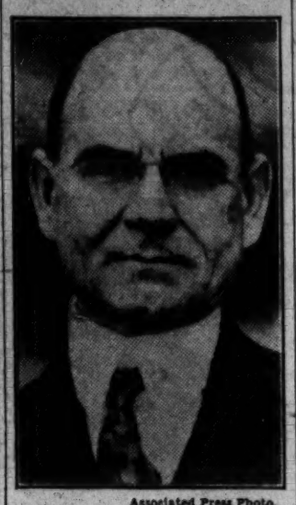

As soon as news of Senator Harris' death reached the Senate, that body made preparations for adjournment, and shortly afterward closed its session out of respect for him. A resolution of regret was adopted and it was voted to send a committee of fifteen members to attend the funeral.

On the death of his colleague, Senator George said:

"Senator Harris' death is a great loss to the people of Georgia and of the country. He was one of the most diligent and active senators and has been more devoted to the interests of individual citizens of his State than any other man who represented the State in my recollection. His passing will be universally mourned by the people of Georgia and by the many people he sincerely loved. My personal loss grows out of a strong attachment that existed between us. We cooperated closely in all matters affecting the State and in general policies."

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, said:

"Senator Harris was very popular among his colleagues and associates. He was hard working and particularly active in looking after the interest of his State and his constituents. I was very fond of Senator Harris and we will all miss him."

SENATOR W. J. HARRIS.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, said:

"I am sorry. His death is a distinct loss to the Senate and Nation. Through long years of service and application of ability he rose to his place in the Senate. If the Democrats should control the next Senate, he would have been chairman of the powerful appropriations committee."

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, said:

"I have served with the senator ever since he entered the Senate. He represented his State in a dignified and honorable manner. I always found him a gentleman and a safe and sane legislator. The Senate will miss him greatly."

Representative Tarver (Democrat), Georgia, said: "My acquaintance with Senator Harris dates back to our service together in the Georgia Legislature more than twenty years ago.

"His public service has always been characterized by his sterling honesty, ability of a rare sort, loyalty to and consideration for his people.

"I am, of course, deeply grieved by the news of his death and feel that in his passing Georgia has lost not only her best loved citizen but her most faithful public servant."

Representative Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, said:

"All Georgia will mourn the passing away of Senator Harris. All Georgians loved him and he loved all Georgians and faithfully and devotedly represented them in the Senate of the United States. In his death the State losses a great and good man. In his going I lose a close personal friend. I loved him and shall greatly miss him."

ROOSEVELT RENEWS APPEAL THAT WAS DERIDED BY SMITH

sion to the Aluminum Co. of America. It was then and is now, I believe, controlled by that distinguished American, the Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

"In this contest, my distinguished predecessor, Gov. Smith, was happily able to prevent the control from passing out of the hands of the people. When I took office, I undertook at once a very definite plan for the development of this great power and I laid down a very definite application of the principle to which I have alluded."

"I am pleading," Gov. Roosevelt said, "for a policy broad enough to include every part of our economic structure. A policy that seeks to help all simultaneously, that shows an understanding of the fact that there are millions of our people who can not be helped by merely helping their employers because they are not employes in the strict sense of the word—the farmers, the small businessman, the professional people.

"Help for them means a greater consumption not of luxuries but of the necessities of life and this means more factory wheels turning in the cities, more employment for the strictly industrial population, for the railroad workers and for the distributors. That kind of buying power makes itself felt more quickly than any other."

Gov. Smith in his Jefferson Day address said: 'I protest against the endeavor to delude the poor people of this country to their ruin by trying to make them believe that they can get employment before the people who would ordinarily employ them are also again restored to conditions of normal prosperity."

Proceeding with enlargement of his original theme, Gov. Roosevelt asserted that "not only among the sections of this country, but among its economic units and the various groups in these units there must be common participation, planned on the basis of a shared common life. In much of our present plans there is too much disposition to mistake the part for the whole, the head for the body. I plead not for a class control, but for a true concert of interests."

Position on Water Power.

Much of his address, made at a delayed observation of Jefferson Day, the governor devoted to outlining his position on national water powers and to a recommendation that in his opinion a proper tariff policy "must be a complete reversal of the methods of the present administration."

He eulogized Jefferson as having had "an appreciation of the universality of interests" provided by the population of the Nation. This, Gov. Roosevelt said, was likewise "the vision before Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Andrew Jackson."

On water power, the governor repeated previous declarations that "it is a problem national in its scope and can be solved only by the firm establishment of national control."

(United Press.)

Belief that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt had ended the incident which rose last week when Alfred E. Smith attacked "demagogues" was expressed in congressional circles last night after his St. Paul speech. The general view among pro-Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt men was that the incident had best be closed, for the good of the party.

Senator Clarence C. Dill, of Washington, a Roosevelt leader, said:

"The other night, in his radio speech, which Gov. Smith attacked, Gov. Roosevelt spoke only for a few minutes. None of his friends has any doubt that what he said tonight represents his real views."

Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, House leader, was commendatory, but less warm:

"Gov. Roosevelt's position is that of everyone," he said. "What he wants is what everyone wants. The question is how to do it. The speech is a sound one. The incident between Gov. Roosevelt and Gov. Smith seemed to me to be washed out with this dismissal of it, and I see no reason why we should have to talk about it any more."

Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York, said that he thought Mr. Roosevelt showed he had "a real conception of the situation."

"He has hit the proper note," O'Connor said.

Smith-Roosevelt Battle Is Brought Before Senate

(Associated Press.)

The Smith-Roosevelt controversy was brought before the Senate yesterday for the first time. Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, a Roosevelt supporter, praised the New York Governor's stand for the "little fellow" and said Smith's speech brought praise only from Republican newspapers and the "special interests."

Wheeler quoted from the recent speech in Boston by James Roosevelt, son of the governor, which did not mention Alfred E. Smith's challenge of his father's candidacy, but urged that courage be maintained in the Democratic fight for "constructive" action.

"The great financial interests may be able to stop Gov. Roosevelt's nomination," Wheeler said, "but as far as I am concerned, I would rather have a boy of that sort than to be President or King of the Universe."

Apparently referring to Smith's declaration that "this is no time for demagogues," Wheeler said he would rather be "called anything, if I were fighting for the common people, than have the praise of the special interests."

Radium in Byers' Body Sets Record

Amount Held Greater Than Ever Found Before in Human Being.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Dr. Charles G. Norris, chief medical examiner, said tonight that the largest quantity of radium ever found in a human body was in the remains of Eben M. Byers, Pittsburgh millionaire, who died here March 31.

Dr. Norris said his report was based on an examination of the remains by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, city toxicologist.

"The bones, brains, lungs, liver and kidneys of Byers contained more radium than has ever been found in another body," said the medical examiner. "There is no way to indicate the amount mathematically, but the amount was larger than was found in the body of Amelia Maggia, the first woman victim in the New Jersey radium poisoning cases."

After Mr. Byers' death it was said that he had taken radium into his system by drinking a patent medicine.

Rich Oklahoma Indian Is Ruled Legally Dead

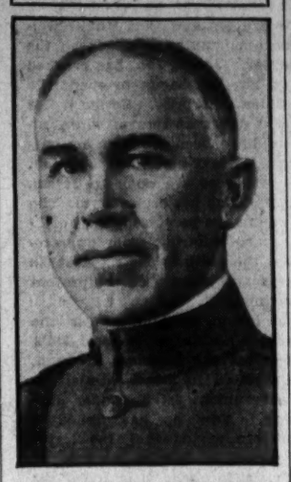

Muskogee, Okla., April 18 (A.P.).—Raymond Jackson, Seminole freedman, over whose rich oil lands many claimants have fought, remains legally dead. Robert L. Williams, Federal district judge, held today that Jackson died in a freight train wreck at Blue Mountain, Ark., in 1921, and that three other "Raymond Jacksons" were impostors.

The decision provided that $250,000 impounded in royalties from oil produced on land owned by the freedman should go to Jackson's mother and father. The ruling terminated a series of court cases in which scores of persons have appeared in the role of Jackson in an attempt to obtain the fortune.

OFFICER DEAD

COL. NELSON E. MARGETTS.

COURT NAMES HEIRS TO WENDEL FORTUNE

German Tribunal Delves Into Ancient Records to Fix Claims of 53.

Havelberg, Germany, April 18 (A.P.).—The high district court of Brandenburg has ruled that the heirs to the $100,000,000 fortune left by Ella Wendel when she died in New York last year, are the groups represented by Mrs. Gertrude Ohsann Kay, of San Francisco, and Adelaide Elizabeth Kroeger, of Bremen, Germany.

The decision of the high court, rendered by Judge Joachim Rudolphi, is not binding, but was regarded here as necessarily commanding attention in New York, where the Wendell will, which has been presented for probate, faces a fight from 2,000 claimants.

The decision was given at the conclusion of a four-day hearing in this small town, 80 miles northwest of Berlin.

The hearing was held here because the records of the St. Laurentius Evangelical Lutheran Church, dating back as far as 1611, and involving the Wendel forebears, were available here.

The ruling named the heirs in a blanket decision. It said 53 persons represented in the Kay claim and the claim of the Kroegers were the actual descendants of Johann Sebastian Wendel, antecedent in direct line to Ella Wendell.

Baron Karl von Levinski, representing the Americans, submitted a brief of the case and conducted pleadings on behalf of Edward Bloom, a San Francisco attorney. The final result was a 46-page document, replete with seals and photographs of the original church and record and signed by Judge Rudolphi.

In his findings the judge went back to the early Wendels, eliminating what he termed nonrelatives.

It was decided during the hearing that one of the ancestors of Ella Wendel, Johann Gottfried Heironymus Wendel, was the official executioner in Sandow, Germany, about 1800.

Florida to Go G. O. P., Replogle Tells Hoover

(Associated Press.)

J. Leonard Replogle, steel manufacturer, after a call at the White House yesterday, said he had told President Hoover the Republicans would carry Florida in the presidential campaign. Mr. Replogle, a delegate at large to the convention from Florida, although maintaining a home in New York, said he had told Mr. Hoover also that he believed W. J. Howey, a Republican, would be the next governor of Florida.

"The Republicans have built up a real organization in the State," he said. "Part of this organization is composed of people migrating to Florida from the North, but many of the Florida farmers had joined because of their interest in Republican tariff principles."

Body of Collegian Is Found in Water

Disappeared During Beach Party at Gloucester; Head Is Battered.

Gloucester, Mass., April 18 (U.P.).—The body of F. Winchell Reeve, 22, of Western Springs, Ill., Massachusetts Institute of Technology junior, who disappeared at the height of a beach party Saturday night, was found today in the sea off Eastern Point.

Michael Patil and Charles Shenard, Gloucester window cleaners, found the body after Coast Guards and police had failed during a two-day search.

The youth's body lay under 2 feet of water, 200 yards from the spot which he and five other students and their girl companions had chosen for their picnic. His head was battered, presumably by a fall from a nearby 35-foot cliff.

Reeve's companions said he had started to clamber down a cliff to find driftwood for the picnic fire. That was the last they saw of him. His father, Frederick E. Reeve, a publisher, was reported en route here.

Retired Officer's Pay Aid Denied by McKellar

(Associated Press.)

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tenn., denied in the Senate yesterday testimony by William Wolff Smith, Veterans' Bureau counsel, that Mr. McKellar was among those who interested themselves in Mr. Smith's application for retired officer's pay.

"So far as I am concerned," Mr. McKellar told the Senate, "that statement is without the slightest foundation in fact. I demand that Mr. Smith correct his testimony."

TALLEY IS ARRESTED ON LARCENY CHARGES

Former U. S. Attorney Will 'Take His Medicine;' Theft of $30,694 Alleged.

Richmond, Va., April 18 (A.P.).—Robert M. Talley, who recently resigned as district attorney for eastern Virginia, was arrested today on a warrant charging him with grand larceny of money, in three accounts, aggregating $30,694.16.

The arrest was made on a warrant issued by Commonwealth's Attorney Dave Satterfield. It charged him with the grand larceny of $20,000 from Mrs. Nannie B. Lamb, Richmond, widow of John Lamb; $9,444.13 from Mrs. Annie Stumpf Powers, Richmond, Va., widow of Richard Elsom Powers, and $1,250 from J. M. Crafton, of Marion Hill, Henrico County.

The charges today were not connected with the allegation that the former district attorney is short more than $50,000 in his accounts as receiver for the Virginia Mortgage & Finance Corporation, which charge preceded his resignation as United States attorney for eastern Virginia.

Arrest was made after a bill of complaint had been filed in the Richmond Chancery Court by Mrs. Powers against Talley as executor of her husband's estate. She charged that he disposed of and diverted to his own use the sum of $9,444.13.

Willis Miller, Commonwealth's attorney in South Richmond, reported to Commonwealth's Attorney Satterfield that Talley had been given $20,000 in 1918 by Mrs. Lamb for investment purposes, and that he had not only failed to account for the money, but had admited the shortage.

When taken into custody at his home in West Hampton today Talley said he would not ask for bail but would "take his medicine."

"I have prosecuted many a poor man and I am not asking any sympathy for myself," he was quoted as saying.

After providing for a number of bequests to relatives and friends, the bulk of the estate was left to Miss Annie Rose Walker, sister of the deceased.

SAVED BY THE TARIFF.

One American industry that is running counter to the depression is the manufacture of boots and shoes. During February the output amounted to nearly 26,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes, an increase of 21 per cent over December, 1931, and 32 per cent over November. Gains for the first two months of this year amounted to more than 7 per cent as compared with the first two months of 1931.

The shoe industry is rather widely distributed through Massachusetts, New York, Missouri, Illinois, New Hampshire, Maine, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Ohio. Its gradual return to prosperity means increased employment to many thousands of American citizens in the industrial areas where unemployment is most widespread. Hence, recovery of the industry is of far-reaching importance to the entire country.

A few months ago the boot and shoe industry was sorely distressed by competition from Czechoslovakia. A clever manufacturer of the name of Bata learned in detail the American methods of mass production, and virtually duplicated American shoe factories in Czechoslovakia. Using American machinery, American methods and cheap European labor, he began manufacturing shoes on an immense scale for export to the United States. Because the wages he pays are only about one-third of what American factory workers receive, he made serious inroads upon the American market for cheap shoes.

An appeal was made to the Tariff Commission, which conducted an extensive investigation into the cost of manufacturing shoes in the United States and other countries. As a result it recommended and President Hoover put into effect a higher tariff on what are known to the trade as McKay sewed shoes. The duty was raised from 20 to 30 per cent, which is the maximum increase that can be levied under the flexible provision of the tariff act.

Improved conditions in the shoe industry are undoubtedly a result of this increased tariff protection, which became effective at the beginning of the current year. Concrete examples of this kind belie political twaddle to the effect that the tariff is a cause of the distress now afflicting American industry and agriculture.

Congress recently voted to destroy the machinery through which flexible adjustment of tariff rates is effected. If the Democratic bill, which is now awaiting action by a conference committee, had been law the shoe industry would have been denied relief along with dozens of other American enterprises that are vital to the welfare of the country. That measure constitutes a direct blow to business and to labor. It would freeze the tariff structure into a rigid mould, so that any manufacturer might establish plants abroad where cheap labor can be used in conjunction with American methods and machinery. Industries which have been saved from annihilation through the flexible tariff may take comfort in the strong presumption that President Hoover will veto the Democratic gesture as soon as it reaches the White House.

RETAIN TRAINING CAMPS.

The Citizens' Military Training Camps form one of the most important elements of American preparedness. The plan to hold these summer schools for officers was one of the best ideas ever developed to provide a nucleus of leaders against a possible time of need. It has many advantages over other systems. These men, all volunteers, are given practical training in the open under the most favorable circumstances, combining healthful recreation and a ground-work of military experience that will fit them for command in case of war.

Gradually a fine body of officers is being built up that will, if the unfortunate necessity should occur, enable the forces of this country to avoid some of the lamentable experiences of the past. Pacifists object to this training or any means of preparedness, but the Nation as a whole realizes that today, while America leads in all peace and disarmament moves, and the national spirit is far from one of militant aggression, conditions throughout the world forbid the neglect of proper defense measures.

In this connection nothing is so important as to have men who are not only prepared to lead, but who are equipped to teach the rank and file. It is impossible to estimate how much time and therefore how many lives might have been saved if such men had been ready during the World War.

The cost of the training camps is a small item in comparison with their importance. In the general search for items in the Federal budget to be eliminated in this time of necessary retrenchment, there may be some disposition to eliminate the camps. The greatest number ever provided for in these summer camps was 37,500. This year nearly 80,000 have already made application to attend. The young men who enjoy the advantages of the military and civic training received at these meets are better fitted to be good citizens. The appropriation for this work should not be cut. The work should continue without a break.

CONFUSING THE ISSUE.

Discussion of the eighteenth amendment has reached a point where only professionals are able to comprehend its meaning, if indeed, there is any meaning in the complicated nostrums that are being advanced to rid the country of its anti-liquor laws. More nonsense is poured out over prohibition than over any other issue of the day. Politicians, reformers and cranks seeks to obscure the fundamental question of maintaining or abolishing the eighteenth amendment by all sorts of distorted logic, intellectual dishonesty and ignorance of fundamental law. The result is hopeless confusion, wholesale error, and postponement of the day when the issue can be met squarely.

Samples of the complicated schemes that are offered to circumvent the issue may be read in the press or heard on the radio every day in the week. Every flighty imagination is at work adding a few more wrinkles to fantastic schemes for abolishing prohibition without the formality of amending the Constitution in the regular manner. Manufacturing novel devices to accomplish the impossible, or to make the people believe that it can be accomplished, seems to have become the national pastime.

Each political party has contributed a fair example of this tomfoolery in the last week. Former Gov. Byrd of Virginia made the brilliant suggestion that the whole situation could be cleared up by two amendments to the Constitution instead of one. First, he would have Congress propose an amendment, to be ratified by three-fourths of the States, for the purpose of allowing the people to vote directly for or against national prohibition. Second, he would have the people amend the Constitution in this novel way in accordance with their own multitudinous desires.

Leaving aside the advisability of prescribing a special method of altering one section of the Constitution, does Gov. Byrd suppose that his nostrum could be forced through Congress and the State legislatures more readily than could a vote for repeal? Does he contend that it is easier to pass two amendments than one? Gov. Byrd takes the position of a dry who is trying to save himself from the approaching storm by closing his eyes and running around in circles.

On the other side, the prohibition plank adopted by the Republican State convention in Missouri stands out as a masterpiece of befuddlement. It advocates "a national convention to be called as speedily as possible in accordance with the Federal Constitution to deal with the subject." Congress has no power to call such a convention, except on request of two-thirds of the States, and, if such a gathering should be convoked after many years of delay, it would proceed to overhaul the entire Constitution and thus defeat its specific purpose. It is very evident that the Missouri Republicans were merely unrolling red tape in an effort to confuse the situation.

Prohibition ought to stand or fall on its merits. Attempts to inject it into the contest between the two major parties encourages evasion, duplicity and hopeless confusion. No argument can alter the fact that the wets must elect a two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress before the proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment can be submitted to the legislatures or to State conventions.

If wets and drys will abide by constitutional requirements in their efforts to repeal or sustain the eighteenth amendment, they will at least be exonerated from the charge of stupidity.

MORE TROUBLE IN CHINA.

The arrival of Secretary Stimson in Geneva on the eve of the reconvening of the League committee of nineteen, appointed to handle the Shanghai situation, leads to the supposition that one of his first efforts will be to secure the support of the four leading European powers for his policy of nonrecognition of privileges or territory secured in Manchuria in violation of existing treaties. Meanwhile conditions in the Far East become more complicated. The delay in concluding peace terms at Shanghai adds to a growing conviction that even complete control of Manchuria does not measure the full extent of Japan's designs upon China.

Lack of unity among the Chinese and the growing menace of Communism appear to encourage Japanese belief that conditions may shortly justify further extension of military occupation and authority. Reports of disorders in the south of China and renewed military operations on the Siberian border are not fraught with the danger to the Nanking government that comes from the threats of Communists in the west, the disaffection of General Han Fu-chu, governor of the province of Shantung, and the danger of a coalition among the war lords of the Yellow River. If this open defiance of Nationalist authority has resulted from an understanding among the powerful leaders dominating the territory as far north as the Great Wall, the Nanking government may be disintegrated without violent military revolt.

Observers and correspondents who have been in northern Manchuria show remarkable agreement in anticipating a conflict between Soviet forces and Japan. The heavy concentration of Russian troops on the border is in sharp contrast with an apparently complacent Soviet attitude toward Japan's military actions. Russia's hope undoubtedly has been that Japan's aggressions might embroil her with the western nations, but with their evident determination to keep out of the Sino-Japanese mess, it becomes steadily a more serious question for Russia to see Japan's permanent entrenchment extend to northern Manchuria.

Russia does not relish a war that would seriously interfere with her interior development plans, but a more important restraint, observers hold, is the fear that, once embroiled in distant Manchuria, however certain she might be of defeating Japan, there are enemies that would welcome such an opportunity to attack on the Western frontier. Japan, too, has reached a point where she has begun to count the cost of her China enterprise. So far it has not produced a dollar of return, while national finances have been strained for outlays at Shanghai, heavy beyond expectation. Manchuria's resources are open to Japan, but the trade of China has been ruined. The factories of Japan are paralyzed, the northern provinces are suffering from unprecedented famine, the military party's strength threatens the very existence of the present form of government.

Among the lesser developments is the latest spectacular gesture of General Mah, who alone opposed the Japanese invasion, and then capitulated to attach himself to the puppet government set up under Japanese tutelage. Now he has issued a lengthy manifesto saying that the latter action was merely a feigned support of the Pu-Yi regime in order that he might learn more of Japan's plans. He announces that the new administration is absolutely controlled by Japan and that he has separated himself from it to again oppose the invaders. However, on the far borders of Manchuria he cannot hope to receive help from Nanking and will be no more effective in expelling Japan than he was in his endeavor to prevent the Japanese occupation. But the League of Nations is considering his manifesto.

IN CASE OF REPEAL

From the Minneapolis Journal.

The House of Representatives, by the closest vote registered on the question since the passage of the eighteenth amendment, has refused to consider a repeal resolution. That is only another move in the campaign, of course. The drive will be pushed with renewed vigor by the organizations working for repeal.

At this stage, it may be worth while to review the situation in the States, and to note what would happen in case of repeal. If the amendment should be repealed by vote of Congress and of 36 State Legislatures the Volstead act also would become void. The subject would be back in the hands of the States, as it was prior to January 16, 1920.

The status quo ante would not prevail, however. Since the eighteenth amendment was ratified eleven States have passed prohibition laws of their own in addition to the 31 that were dry before 1920. Repeal of all Federal regulation would wipe out the Federal enforcement organization, but prohibition still would be the law in 42 of the 48 States of the Union. In eighteen of them prohibition is in the constitution.

Six States would be left without enforcement laws, and apparently with no laws at all to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors. These States are Maryland, which never has had a State enforcement law; Nevada, where the dry law was held invalid by the State courts, and the States of Massachusetts, Montana, New York and Wisconsin, which have repealed their enforcement laws. Those States would have to decide at once whether to go back to licensed saloons or to engage in the liquor trade as a State monopoly.

In the other 42 States removal of Federal rule would merely throw the subject back into the hands of State authorities, to cope alone with illegal traffic in liquors. The prohibition issue would be injected into the political affairs of each State. There would be battles in the Legislatures over repeal, referendum votes and various schemes to reinstate the liquor traffic in "respectable" form. Also, there would be complications between States that would be dry and neighboring States that would be wet, with a lively illicit trade across State lines. Instead of 1 border being watched for leaks, there would be 40.

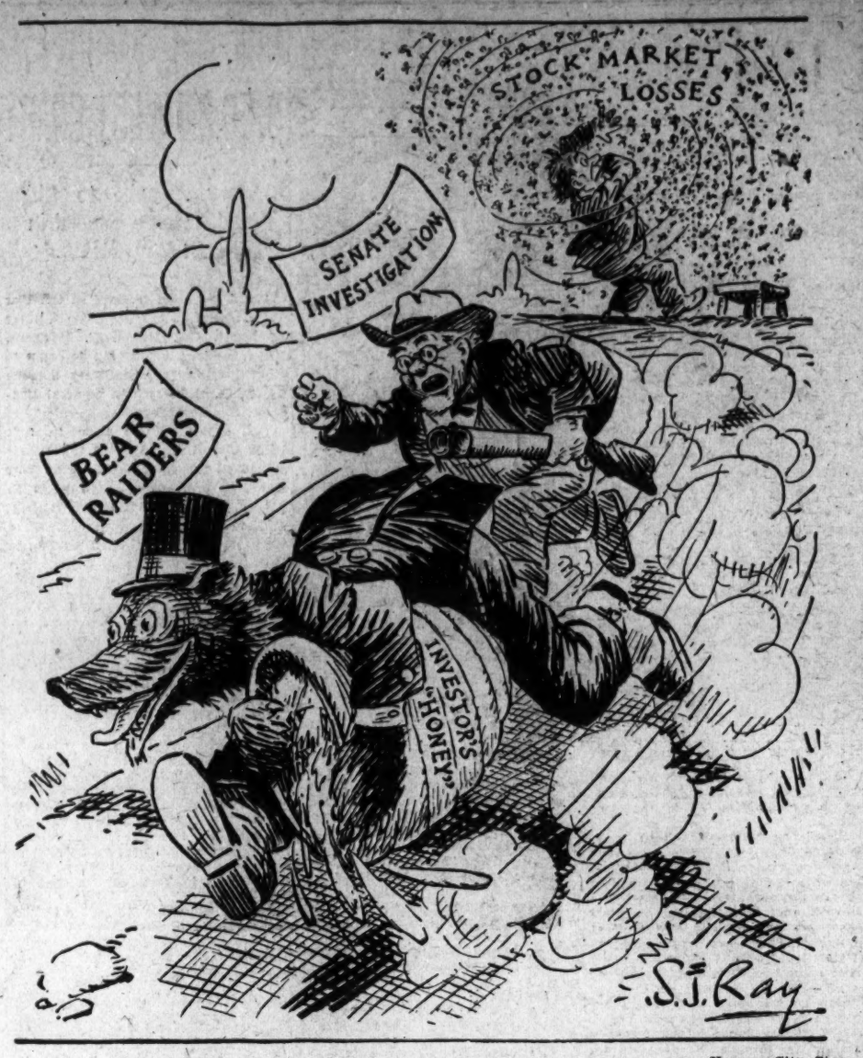

There are eighteen States that are dry by their constitutions, and were dry before the eighteenth amendment went into effect. That is something to consider, in connection with the fact that thirteen States can veto any attempt to repeal the amendment itself.

States dry by constitutional rule are Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Arizona, Colorado, Oregon, Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, New Mexico, Utah, Florida, Ohio, Texas, Wyoming and Kentucky.

There are thirteen other States that had become dry by statute before 1920. They are Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, Alabama, Arkansas, Idaho, Iowa, South Carolina, Indiana and New Hampshire. These thirteen still have their dry laws. Two others, Nevada and Montana, had dry laws before 1920, but now have only Federal regulation.

Then there are eleven States which passed prohibition laws to cooperate with Federal law, after ratification of the eighteenth amendment, and still have those laws. They are Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, California, Delaware and Illinois.

Manifestly, the way to return of legalized liquor is a long, long road, full of hazards, detours and obstacles.

THE HERO IN EVERY MAN.

The death of Gwinn Huffman, says the Kansas City Times, recalls one of those deeds of heroism that inspire respect, not only for the individual, but for mankind. Huffman, a 19-year-old telephone cable splicer, was melting paraffin. The pressure torch he was using to heat it exploded. To protect six children who had been watching him at work, he clamped the lid on the paraffin pot and held it with his foot, although himself painfuly and dangerously burned. He never fully recovered from his injuries and his death, nearly three years later, was attributed partly to them.

Huffman's presence of mind and courage in the face of an emergency are traits that have a special appeal to the imagination. We like to think how many other men and women have shown them under similar circumstances and to believe that most persons are to be counted on for such sacrifices, whenever the need arises. The World War disclosed how strong and how general is the heroic tradition. If we showed half the presence of mind and courage in meeting the unspectacular problems of our daily lives that we display in a physical emergency, the results would be astonishing.

The Last Man to Rebuild Is the One Who Waits for Help.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

FOR more than two years you have been spoon-fed with the soothing assurance that prosperity is just around the corner.

Why? Because public men, afraid of losing their jobs or their skins, said to one another: "The people will be full of wrath unless we keep them full of hope."

Has this soothing-syrup policy done any good? It has done incalculable harm. No good is accomplished by concealing the truth.

The only way an individual, firm, family or nation can mend a bad situation is to face the facts.

The great war destroyed the accumulated wealth of generations and left the world bankrupt.

This country financed the war by borrowing money from its own citizens.

That debt must be paid, and the only way to pay it is to take the money from the pockets of taxpayers.

The "boom" that collapsed in 1929 was a product of credit. People made business good by "charging it." Everybody went in debt; banks loaned money without adequate security; all branches of government borrowed money for improvements and issued bonds as security.

Now the fiddler must be paid.

New wealth must be found to pay the war debt, to replace that lost in banks and to retire "improvement" bonds.

And the only way under heaven to get new wealth is to create it—to create it by the slow process of applying labor and energy to raw material.

The taxpayer must pay the bill.

Of every dollar paid in Federal taxes, 90 cents is a war tax. Some part of the other 10 cents can be saved, by rigid economy, but the 90 cents is a fixed charge.

This generation will not live to see lower taxes. You don't like that, but you can't gain anything by refusing to face facts.

What is more, this generation will never again see the kind of prosperity that made the land drunk in 1928.

Are you waiting for "normal" times? Well, you have them. Make the best of it.

Present miseries will not last, for nothing lasts. Jobless men will be put to work. Life will go on.

But the day of easy money is gone. The future offers nothing but hard work, heavy taxes, self-denial and small profits. And the sooner you face the facts and quit waiting for Santa Claus, the sooner you will get your feet on solid ground.

Underpaid Already.
Detroit News.

The economy measures responsibly scheduled by Congress call for an 11 per cent reduction of Federal salaries above $1,000 a year. If this is done, and while it is under discussion, we are certain to confront instances of real or apparent injustice. For instance, the normal pay of the most numerous grades of policemen and firemen in Detroit is $200 a month. The most numerous grade of post-office clerks and carriers get $175 a month.

Relatively, for fairly comparable employments, these Federal workers seem—as undoubtedly was true to a far greater extent for many years—still underpaid. To reduce them indeed constitutes harsh action.

Pontiac an Example.
Detroit News.

Some of the things regarded as axiomatic during the period when all proverty was supposed to have been abolished and everybody was getting rich, had to be unlearned. But a simple principle survives and is being adopted by the wise: When income lessens, cut expenses. Unfortunately, governments have been about the last to accept this rule.

But the City of Pontiac is setting a good example. County seat of Oakland County, Pontiac finds itself involved in the bewildering backwash of a boom that succumbed to depression. Not that Pontiac has lost heart or is dubious about its prospects, but the authorities directing Pontiac's affairs realize that under temporary stress cost of city government must be made to fit probable income.

So Pontiac has reduced its operating budget. The cut amounts to nearly 45 per cent below the budget of last year. That is a good example that well might be followed wherever the people who support government are worrying over mounting taxes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Cutting Federal Salaries Will Hurt Children, Says Correspondent.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Before the incomes of Government employes are cut, a census should be taken of the children who would be affected. The men and women who run the United States Government can not be intending to deprive a single child of a needed quart of milk or pair of shoes or term in school. Many governments pay their civil service employes maintenance allowances for children in addition to salaries. Here the pay check must take care of the children.

Even in prosperous times many a boy and girl owes schooling or clothes to an unmarried aunt who shares the family responsibility. A census taken now of youngsters here or in home towns receiving such aid would, doubtless, show more than usual absolutely in need of it, because of an unemployed father.

The International Save the Children Fund of America says: "The plight of the children is the world's most pressing problem." It would seem that the first duty of a government is not to make it worse.

KATHARINE WARD FISHER.

Increase of Drinking Means Increase of Crime Against Women and Children.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A Kansas farmer, arrested for attacking and murdering a child, was taken out by a mob and hanged. "Boys," he said, just before he died, "you have the right man. I did it. But I was drunk at the time."

The news reports of the lynching will hardly make pleasant reading for agitators against prohibition. Sociologists agree that the use of intoxicants promotes the type of degeneracy which this vicious character exhibited. It is logical that, if the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act should be repealed, there will be an increase in the use of liquor and, coincidentally, an increase in crimes against women and children. Wet propagandists do not like to consider this side of the question, but it is one that they must reckon with.

Mr. Whitmire Replies to F. L. C., Suggesting Instead Cutting War Expenses.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The letter of F. L. C. in today's Post illustrates the muddled thinking on the matter of Government economy by those who depend upon publicity seeking radio howlers for their information instead of getting it from accurate sources.

There is not the slightest inconsistency in The Post's advocating Government economy and yet declaring against the dismissal of Federal employes. If F. L. C. will take the trouble to look up the facts, which all newspapers have printed, he will find that all Federal employes can be dismissed and the budget still will not be balanced. The bix expense, 70 per cent of it, is for war, past, present and future. If he will protest to his congressmen against the billions spent for this purpose, his argument will be worth attention.

THE AMERICAN IN YUCATAN.

When I was down in Yucatan, I met an old American Whose hair about the temples showed a touch of silver gray;
And glad was I to see his face; in such a far-off foreign place
And glad was I to meet a man who had "hello" to say.

The boys had brought him out from shore at 30 miles an hour or more,
And he was wet from head to foot.
The boat had sprayed the sea.
Said he, "The Spanish Main is not the Hudson River by a lot!"
A statement made in English which surprised and startled me.

I'd thought to hear a foreign tongue, but when a speech like that was sprung,
I grabbed his hand and said to him, "How long have you been here?"
"Oh, I came down a youth," said he,
"to serve a steamship company.
I've often thought I'd pull away,
but now I won't, I fear."

"When times were good I'd plan to go back home to all the folks I know,
I thought I'd like to see them all who knew me as a kid,
But every time there came a ship I was too busy for the trip.
I often longed to get away, but somehow never did.

"And now the long depression's on, the chance for getting home is gone,
The job I need for food and drink has got me anchored here."
And when we turned for home again
I saw him there among the men Upon the wharf and I am sure he wiped away a tear!

Baked Slice of Ham With Apple and Sweet Potato Cones

NOW for tomorrow's dinner, since tonight's is well arranged for by way of good, old-fashioned hash. And, by the way, the hash could be made with raw ground beef or veal, lacking a larder shelf offering left-over beef from Sunday; this in case the hash appeals very much and one is forced to regret the inaccessibility of hash materials. Buy no more than a pound of fresh ground meat (to a family of four), as, with the other materials this will be ample.

And for tomorrow's dinner. I've a feeling that a nice slice of ham baked with spices and apples will be just the thing, appetizing, substantial and a change, for this dish has not been suggested in a long time.

With this, sweet-potato cones will be an addition, or if these seem a bit on the elaborate side, then either baked (since the oven will be in use) or fried sweet potatoes. Then muffins, while it's still spring and the weather not too warm for a hot bread and dessert. This, then, just about completes the details, but for practical purposes we shall properly tabulate the whole arrangement.

Use Your Leftovers

Appetizing additions to the daily menu are easily contrived by proper preparation of "leftover" foods. Hash is not the only by-product of the roast and dainty desserts can be made from the breakfast cereal. Just send for the folder, "Appetizing Suggestions for Leftovers," that gives many practical suggestions and tested recipes. All that is necessary is a self-addressed, stamped envelope and your request, sent to Baked Slice of Ham With Apples.

Cover a thick slice of ham with boiling water and simmer five minutes. Pour off the water and place the ham in a large greased baking dish. Rub into the ham one-half cupful of brown sugar and sprinkle with cinnamon. Surround with peeled, cored and quartered tart apples, or spread with applesauce, sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Add a little water, cover and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 45 minutes. Uncover for the last 15 minutes and brown under the broiler. Serve garnished with watercress.

Spnach Souffle.

Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and add one cupful strained cooked spinach, with salt and pepper to taste. Stir until hot, then add the yolks of three eggs, one at a time, stirring constantly. Take from the fire and let cool. Fold in a fourth cupful of whipped cream and the whites of three eggs, beaten stiff. Have a souffle dish buttered and put the spinach mixture in it. Bake in a moderate oven until it is puffed. The souffle should be served immediately or it will fall.

Tea Muffins.

2 eggs
1½ teaspoonfuls sugar
½ teaspoonful salt
1 cupful milk
2 cupfuls flour
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder
1 tablespoonful melted butter

Beat the yolks of the eggs until thick and lemon-colored and add the sugar, salt and half of the milk. Add the flour and the baking powder, sifted together. Mix thoroughly, add the butter and remaining milk and, lastly, the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Cook in muffin rings on a hot griddle, turning once so that they cook on both sides. Split (do not cut) and butter before serving.

Chocolate Drop Cookies.

2 squares chocolate—melted
½ cupful shortening—melted
1 cupful brown sugar
1 egg—beaten
2 cupfuls flour
½ cupful milk
½ teaspoonful soda

Combine the chocolate and shortening. Add the sugar, milk and egg, then the sifted flour and soda. Drop by spoonfuls onto greased pan and bake in a 375-degree oven from 12 to 15 minutes.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Meaningless Strife.

DEAR FRANCES M'DONALD: I have been a constant reader of your paper since I have been married, never thinking some day I, too, would need your advice.

I was married nine months ago and have been as happy as any one could expect to be until my husband lost his job two months ago.

I was never worried whether he would get another soon, as I worked and thought I could keep everything up until time came when he would be employed once more.

During these two months my husband has been going over to his mother's for lunch every day. Every night he would have a story about something I had said to his mother and which when she told her son, the story was changed so that I seemed like a terrible daughter-in-law. After he would tell me his story (the one his mother told) I would proceed to tell him the whole truth. Almost every time we had an argument he would bring these things up to me—a different one every time—until a showdown finally came. I had it out with his mother and haven't spoken to her since.

Yesterday my husband's uncle died in New York, so my mother-in-law asked my husband to take her down. Yesterday afternoon he told me that he was taking his mother to New York. He told me his sister could stay with me, but I told him I did not care for her company. I told him I had a perfectly good sister of my own, who could stay with me, but he would not have it. He said he was not going. After he left me he must have told his mother, and she (the boss) told him I could have my sister to stay with me. That evening I told him he had to ask my dad for my sister, but, not being on good terms with my mother and dad, he declined to ask my dad for my sister. I want you to understand the reason his terms with dad aren't so good, as still on account of his mother poisoning him against me and my people.

One thing I want to tell you, Mrs. McDonald, is this: I have always been a good girl, never allowed to run around. My people are the very best.

My husband has been devoted to me until these last two months, and he just seems to like to hurt me, because he seems to believe more in his mother than in me. Please tell me what to do. "LONESOM."

In a world full of real troubles, here you are actually manufacturing trouble and unpleasantness. You are robbing love of all its loveliness, marriage of all its sweetness. You are slowly and surely disillusioning the lad who married you to perfect a dream; the man who believed that all he needed on earth was you in order to know pure happiness. Do you consider all this intelligent

Life is just a few brief hours spent with those we love and to whom, all too soon we say good-by forever. If we use those hours to pester and belittle and defame those few whose lives touch ours, how can we hope for peace or happiness? Most of the world cares little enough for our opinions. To just the few who love us do we matter at all. And strangely it is toward that little loving band that all our meanest shafts are sent. Why? Why do we do it? Why do we hurt those who care—the only ones who care?

Just analyze your own case. This man loves you, made you happy. He is worried now—as only a man can be when his livelihood fails—and how are you reacting? Like a real woman, cheering along the man she loves? Oh, no! You are trying his soul with a myriad of petty nothings that are so many pin pricks to his nerves. He goes to his mother for his lunch and for his comfort, too. And no doubt you have been saying unwifely things about him to his mother. Even now in the presence of their grief, your sole concern is to make as much unpleasantness as possible. Is this going to bring you happiness as the brief hours of life roll by?

When your husband returns, begin to be a woman and a wife. Life has in store for you both a few real troubles, hours that will call for all the strength and all the character and all the love that you can together bring to them. Begin to build up for that need—which comes to every one. At present you are only tearing down. And those who tear down eventually stand gazing into the ruins of what might have been a life, while those who build up stand proudly hand in hand and look without regret upon the work of love and strength and understanding.

Be a builder, not a wrecker. Be a woman. And a wife.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A very chic spring coat of brick-colored woolen with odd cut, and a collar of the material. (Courtesy of Dupouy Magnin, Paris.)

NEW YORK, April 18.—Colors fascinate. 'Nif you are a Fashun Collomnist, you just can't resist writing about them just every so often.

Colors are more important, too. Some of the Parisian Haute Couture are rather startling in their colors this season, but Miladi, perhaps seeing in bright colors a defiance against the doldrumpression, is accepting bright and brighter colors. A challenge to hubbie's glooms, that!

Schiaparelli brought forth a crinkly crepe jacket costume in yellow beige—worn with a bright red blouse! And the stylists didn't fall over like ninepins, but fell over themselves to buy it.

Lelong combined purple and pink, and in an evening gown, and this was one of the outstanding hits of the collection. And the sheer black evening gowns with sheer but brightly colored jacket in red, green or amber, are well-known spring successes. Particularly the red jacket over the black frock is interesting.

And another interesting and colorful combination is red and white, and navy and white—a bodice, for instance, of the red and white print, and a skirt of the navy and white.

This twin print idea is seen often in plaids, and of course using the two sides of tweeds is nothing new to you.

While on the subject of colors, too much can not be said for blues. We hope that is not significant! But true it is that all shades of blue are most popular for spring and summer, although it is still not fair to say that any one color is the color of the season. All colors are used and are good—depending upon the wise selection of the lady who wears them.

* * * *

Coats have so much personality these days! When I think of the coats of a few years ago, it "geeves me beans," as the lovely English lady says. A coat like the one I sketched today, a Dupouy Magnin model from Paris, is an example of the chic, the elegance, the air of distinction and of knowing what they are about, that today's coats have!

Just brick-colored woolen, cut to flatter, and not fur trimmed—one of those coats that you could wear morning, noon and night—afternoon and evening requiring a little separate fur piece of sable or mink, perhaps.

* * * *

Grecian simplicity, modern flattery, that's what the two nightgowns I tell you how to make in this week's leaflet have. And as for the ease in making them! And the ease with which they can be laundered! Well, you will simply have to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which will tell you how to make them, and see if I am not right. I like these two better than any so far, and the French-Maid-Who-Is-Spanish can have back all her hours 'n' hours of hand work she put on my Parisian nighties!

* * * *

Every day almost some one offers something new in the brassiere line—would it interest you to know that when I applied for a brassiere patent three years ago there were only 200,000 brassiere patents pending in Washington? Needless to say, I lost interest! But thinking that a brassiere and vest combination with a backless back, one that would be held in place with elastic bands, of the uplift type, as the ads say—I designed the one illustrated today. The back piece of elastic holds the back straps in place, you see, and the band around the waist holds the whole thing down, as well as the top of your girdle in, which is something else again. You can copy this from the illustration, and no doubt improve upon it.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

IMPROVED METHODS IN PERNICIOUS ANEMIA.

IN recent years there has been some further improvement in the treatment of pernicious anemia. The first practical step in the discovery of a treatment for this disease was taken when we began having the people with that disease eat liver. Prior to that time there was no treatment for it except to take care of symptoms as they arose. With the use of a liver diet the day began to dawn for those who had this—up to that time—fatal disease, slowly fatal, but invariably so.

The next step was the use of extracts of liver, in place of the organ itself. The man with pernicious anemia was now able to shift to the other method whenever he became tired of the one he was using. Of the two methods, taking the extract seemed the better.

Then it was found that stomach wall had the same property as the liver. The man with pernicious anemia could eat tripe. Presently, a way of extracting the stomach wall was devised. This extract came into use. The man with the disease had choice between four remedies or methods at this stage.

The next step was the discovery that extracts of liver could be injected into the veins or muscles, and that when this method was used the results were best of all. The injections caused but little, if any, fever, there was no great inflammation locally, and no particular constitutional reaction. But the response to the injection on the part of the blood and blood making apparatus started within twelve hours. The injections are given once a week. The cases in which it acts like magic are those that are in relapse, the condition which is so prone to terminate fatally.

One of the grave complications of this form of anemia is serious degeneration of the spinal cord. This complication appears to be especially benefited by the injection treatment, and now another forward step is offered. It is to inject neutralized gastric juice into the muscles. Dr. R. S. Morris and his associates have had great success with this method. They empty the stomach, inject some histamine to make the organ secrete rapidly, and vigorously pump up a half pint or more of stomach juice, concentrate it at a low temperature in a vacuum, neutralize the acidity of it, and inject a goodly dose under the skin into the muscles. There is an even more rapid action in the blood and blood making organs in cases of the disease.

Probably this stomach juice will be suitable for the same kind of cases that liver extract injections are used in. It appears that there is an undiscovered something in stomach juice and in liver that the blood making organs require. When this is missing, the disease, pernicious anemia, results. Dr. Morris and his associates propose to call this substance addisin. Now that they have a name for the baby let us hope that somebody will find him.

FIND THE CAUSE FIRST.

Mrs. T. C. writes: Are all fruits and fruit juices bad for persons with too much acid in the system? What foods would it be best to avoid?

REPLY.

The words "too much acid in the system" are very vague. If you mean you are producing too much uric acid, eating fruits and fruit juices should prove helpful. You really should find out what is wrong.

INHERITED BALD HEAD.

J. D. writes: Is baldness hereditary?

REPLY.

Certain kinds are, for instance, pattern baldness. Not keeping the scalp clean, insufficient brushing of the hair, wearing tight or heavy hat gear, age, and certain skin diseases are other causes.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

This is the second of a series of articles on the importance of beauty for every woman, in every walk of life. Elsie Pierce feels that every woman, regardless of her work or calling, can arrange a beauty program and find time to follow it daily. Study the hints given here and write to Miss Pierce in care of this paper if you have any beauty problems.

Beauty and the Domestic Woman

DEVOTION to home, husband and children were once measured by drabness. But not today! If we could get a frank answer from husband, son and daughter, I venture to say that the vote would be unanimous, that they would prefer to give up home-made cookies, special desserts and dishes, they would just as well give up new pillows and curtains and what-nots if mother would save that time and devote it to her own appearance.

I have heard children express devotion and admiration because "mother is as old as Mrs. X. and John's mother, and Sue's aunt, yet she looks so much younger and lovelier. She is quite wonderful, isn't she?" And one young cousin of 20 points with pride to that fact that "Mother is often taken for my sweetheart."

Household tasks have been simplified since grandmother's time. Oh, I know there are a thousand and one details attached to running a home and caring for young ones. But system and efficiency win out and the budget for time as well as finances is a beauty boon. Isn't it true that many women, long after the daily work is done actually look around for something else, some odds, ends or extras to take care of? To what avail? no matter how much her husband loves this type, how completely he realizes her virtues, thrift, devotion, he does not fail to make comparisons, secretly but definitely. Every husband wants his wife to "measure up" to the high standards of business and social women all around him. He will be as pleased as Punch if he can tell you, truthfully, that you were the loveliest lady at the social gathering or theater party.

A Half Hour a Day.

For her own self-confidence, for the respect of her husband, for the love of her children every woman should devote a half hour every day to the preservation of beauty and loveliness. When you have spent hours at the stove cooking or baking remember that a good skin food will work wonders for a parched skin. Remember, too, that while housework plays havoc with hands, gloves may be worn for every household duty. Furthermore, you have the advantage over the business woman, you can keep a half lemon handy to bleach hands and nails, you can dab in creams for hands, arms, elbows; you can take time out occasionally when the children are in school and husband at the office and give yourself a complete rejuvenating treatment. Plan a definite beauty program for hands, hair, nails, skin. Beauty preparations are no longer a luxury, count them among your household necessities. Remember that double chins can be lifted, acne corrected, the working hand can be as lovely as the one that "never does a thing." It's all in knowing how to budget for beauty.

Write me if you have any special problems. And be sure to send for my "Beauty Budget," which should interest every woman. My hand bulletins and "Facial Resume" will be sent to you if you are interested. But do include self-addressed, stamped envelope for each one.

What Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

IF April 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:40 a. m. to 8 a. m., from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Astrological influences on April 19 will promote feelings of uncertainty, as though you were walking on a plank and liable to step off at any minute. Possible changes are foreseen for the near future, affecting the family life. Follow your own inner promptings in regard to any important decisions to be made on this date.

Children born on this April 19 will have highly emotional natures. The sway of their feelings, more than the force of their reason, will be the guiding factor in their life. They will be jolly, comradely, affectionate, jealous, proud, ambitious and very intelligent.

Born on April 19 you have a quiet, unobstrusive nature, which is very much matter-of-fact and business-like. There are no outward trappings of a genius about you, yet the manner in which you do things is artistic, to say the least. Things which you do seem to be done by magic, for you oil the wheels of your machinery so that everything runs like clockwork. As lady of the house your family are not allowed to be annoyed by the shifting of scenes or the usual household frictions. As a member in an office, you manage to instill harmony, system and silent workmanship into your department.

The honors of leadership are thrust upon you without the asking. You step to the front when there seems no one else to do it, and this will often be the case. You are not anxious for glory, but you are anxious to do your part and to see things done right. You will suffer through the jealousies of those who would like to wear your boots but cannot.

Although not originally humorous, you have a keen appreciation of wit in others, and are quick to see funny situations. You are alert on the "pick up" and make an ideal listener. You are not blind to ideas which are not your own, and like to take part in a friendly argument.

Successful people born April 19:

Roger Sherman, a drafter of Declaration of Independence.

James S. Rollins, "Father of University of Missouri."

Mary L. Booth, former editor of Harper's Bazaar.

Constance Talmadge, actress.

A DARING SLAM BID.

THEY know their honor-tricks in Australia and they also love the rich bonuses which go with Slams bid and made at Contract Bridge. The other day my mail brought me the story of a daring, but actually an accurately bid Slam, played in Melbourne, Australia. The hand also illustrates the use of the immediate Overcall in opponents' bid suit as a Forcing bid.

This beautiful bid should not be made unless the strength of the hand justifies the belief that even with opponents having opened the bidding, there is a near certainty of game in the combined hands. It is a Forcing bid, which partner may not pass, and, like the Opening Forcing two-bid, the Forcing Takeout and the Forcing Rebid, requires that the bidding be kept open until a game contract is reached.

East—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

East	South	West	North
Pass

1—Ordinarily, this bid should show control of the first round of the adversely bid suit, but South, with 5 honor-tricks, a strong six-card suit and the three top honors in spades, felt that he had full control of the situation, in any event.

2—An effort to shut out a response by North to his partner's Forcing Overcall.

3—North insisted on speaking. His hand, utterly void of honor-tricks, was potentially powerful, if partner held spade strength.

4—A very daring overbid. South reasoned that East's Opening bid had shown 2½ honor-tricks. He held 5. West's Raise to three hearts probably disclosed some honor strength and slight distributional values. These values could not be great or he would have bid more than three hearts. North's three spade bid showed at least six spades, as no other holding could justify a bid in his position, in view of the Opening bid, the Raise by Third Hand and the cards South held. A Slam should then be makable, if there was a "reasonable" break in the club suit.

East opened the heart King and, when the Dummy went down, decided to continue that suit, in order to force the North hand to use the controlling trumps to ruff. The second round of hearts was trpmped with the Queen and the Ace of clubs led.

When East played the nine, the club situation appeared as rather ominous, but North must find a place to discard three losing cards if he is to make his contract. He, therefore, led a small club from Dummy, as there might still be a chance, even if East's club were a singleton, if East did not hold the trump Knave. When East followed suit, North breathed more easily. He then led two rounds of trumps, led the club, upon which he discarded a losing heart, and ruffed the fourth round of clubs, thereby establishing two long clubs in the Dummy to take care of his worthless diamonds.

A Slam bid, based on correct inferences, drawn from the bidding, as to the distribution of the cards, was fulfilled. The Slam should not have been attempted, however, as with another Opening lead, for instance a diamond, it could not be made, as thereby an essential entry would be removed from the South hand. While South effectively used the honor-trick table in making his immediate Overcall, and drew correct inferences from his partner's response to that bid, he was asking that the fates who govern distribution be more than passing kind, as indeed they proved to be.

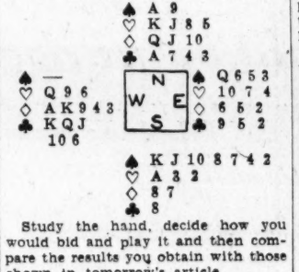

TODAY'S POINTER.

The immediate Overcall of opponents' bid suit is a powerful weapon when used on hands strong enough to justify the belief that game can be made, even despite the announced strength of an opposing player. It should not be made unless the hand is strong enough to justify this view, even though partner holds a very weak hand.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

TULIP bulbs which I thought were dead are now developing sprouts. Will these, if watered and kept in the sun, be likely to bloom? KATHRYN K.

Had these bulbs been planted in the open they might have bloomed. It usually takes two years for them to recover from being forced in the greenhouse. They may bloom, but it is more likely they will develop only foliage. Water them until the leaves are yellow, then set the pots aside until fall when the bulbs must be planted in the open.

I have a Jerusalem cherry tree. I water this daily; what other care is necessary? A small cactus plant is growing very slowly. I notice there are small worms in the soil of the pot; can these crawlers be responsible for the lack of growth? N. D.

The Jerusalem cherry tree does better in a cool, sunny place than in a warm one. This is the time to start new plants of this variety. Jerusalem cherries can be easily propagated by cuttings. An application of lime water poured over the soil about the roots of your cactus will cause the worms to come to the surface where you can collect and destroy them. The lime water will also benefit the cactus, as all cacti are lime lovers. Cacti are in most cases slow growers.

Please tell me if it is possible to plant a small variety of evergreen in a tub? If this is practical please tell me of a variety well suited to such treatment. RICHARD S.

Boxwood is well suited to tub culture.

Can Japanese irises be transplanted and do they require sun or shade? MARION L.

Japanese irises can be successfully transplanted. They delight in water when in bloom, but not at other times during the year. The bearded irises like lime, but the Japanese varieties do not prefer a limestone soil. All irises prefer sun. They grow in shade but are never at their best.

The leaves of my rubber plant are beginning to turn brown and drop off and my sansevieras are drying up. Please suggest a remedy for these troubles. Also tell me the name of the fern of which I am inclosing a leaf. MRS. J. E. V.

When a rubber plant begins to make growth it usually loses a few of its lower leaves. When the leaves begin to drop off and the plant is not developing growth the condition may be attributed to lack of sun, water, or fresh air. Gas may be another reason. A rubber plant should be watered once a day in a warm room. It also demands as much sun as possible when in the house. Your sansevieras are likely pot bound. Better transplant them and when doing this be sure to divide the roots. Your fern is a nephrolepsis Bostoniensis.

Justices of Two Counties May Hold Court in Takoma

Plan Suggested to Town Council After Appeals Tribunal Rules Recent Appointment of Judge Invalid; Street Paving Program Threatened.

Reporting that the decision of the Court of Appeals which held invalid the appointment of a police justice for Takoma Park, Md., also made it plain that no special justice of the peace could be appointed whose activities would be confined solely to the town, J. Bond Smith, corporation counsel, made several suggestions to the mayor and town council at a meeting last night in the Town Hall.

Mr. Smith suggested that the police judges of Montgomery County and Prince Georges County each be asked to sit in Takoma Park one day a week to try cases originating in that town. This is necessary as the town spreads into Prince Georges County, although the largest portion is in Montgomery. He stated that this would not cost the town anything, as the courts are supported through county action.

He further suggested that the three Montgomery County justices of the peace in the Wheaton district be asked to sit in Takoma at such hours as would be suitable to hear civil cases. As the justices of the peace receive fees for their work, Mr. Smith said he believed this could be arranged. Prince Georges already has a justice of the peace living in the town. The only alternative would be to ask for amendment of the law to permit appointment of a justice who would be required to reside in Takoma Park, as is now done in Kensington.

The finance committee reported that in view of the present financial conditions it does not believe work should go forward on the proposed $200,000 street paving program. The council reported to the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission that while there is no building line provided on Carroll avenue, it believes that the necessary steps should be taken to provide one. The planning commission had asked if the town had any such law, which would halt the Citizens Bank of Takoma Park from protruding its proposed new building 4 feet beyond the present line of buildings.

Alleged Liquor Runner Caught in Chase on Foot

The detectives gave chase and the men abandoned the automobile. Baker captured Harris. The detectives confiscated 36 gallons of alleged liquor.

There were 564 votes cast, out of a total registration of 620. Mr. Fetty received 317, while E. C. Parks received 232.

Cornwell, 210, and William H. Dorsey, 103. Mr. Dorsey filed for the election after nominations were closed, and his name was not printed on the ballot, but was written in by those who desired to vote for him.

In the First Ward, Burt Ayton was elected with 428 votes to Mr. Dorsey's 19. DeWilton H. Donaldson was successful in the Second Ward, receiving 289, against 235 received by John F. Gurtin. In the Third Ward, Charles H. Lilly received 280 votes, while Herman R. Millard got 238.

The meeting is expected to reach the height of interest when the annual election is held tomorrow morning. The annual dinner will be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Interior Department.

Mrs. Joseph N. Saunders, the present president, has been nominated for reelection by the nominating committee, but a number of other local leaders in the parent-teacher movement are planning to oppose her.

The opponents will be nominated from the floor, it is expected. Among them is Mrs. E. C. Rittue, legislative chairman of the congress. Mrs. Rittue has been indorsed for the presidency by the Francis Scott Key P.-T. A., of which she is a member.

Mrs. Rittue is also a member of the Reservoir P.-T. A., secretary of the Potomac Palisades Garden Club, being delegate from this club to the Federation of the District of Columbia Garden Clubs. She is a member of the District League of Women Voters; the Conduit Road Citizens Association, being delegate from this association to the Federation of Citizens Associations; is a member of the advisory council of the federation and of the welfare committee of the Conduit Road Association and the District of Columbia Public School Association.

Mrs. Mary Dabney Davis, of the Department of Education, Department of the Interior, will address the congress this afternoon.

16 PRINCE GEORGES INDICTMENTS GIVEN

Murder and 2 Manslaughter Charges Are Included in Jury Report.

One formal charge of murder against a colored man and two manslaughter accusations are included in the list of sixteen indictments reported yesterday by the Prince Georges County grand jury.

Roosevelt Thomas is charged with the murder of Edward Savoy, who was shot at Clinton several months ago. Henry Clay Inemer, jr., was charged with manslaughter after the jury heard testimony in the death of Preston Eugene Ruby, of Bradbury Heights, Md. Inemer, a Baltimore truck driver, was driving a machine which was involved in a crash with the car in which Ruby was riding. Eugene J. Jackson is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Albert Castano last October.

Three indictments charging larceny and receiving stolen goods were returned against John Manoi, Joseph Maimore and Agry Terling, and another bill accusing them of housebreaking and receiving stolen goods was rendered by the jury. The trio are said to have entered the home of Mrs. Nellie Sansbury, near Forestville, and were caught after a chase by her son, Jack Sansbury.

Other indictments were: Wildes Stewart, nonsupport; Raymond Puller, Freddie Wilkerson and Harry Simms Brocke, store breaking, larceny, and receiving goods stolen from a grocery in Capitol Heights; Ignasius Bergie (alias John Bergie), George Bergie, and John Patrick Beach, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ARRIVING almost coincidentally with a very fussy photograph of smiling Jimmie Dunn, a popular visitor to Washington not so long ago, in the role of a young prize fighter, all done up in embroidered kimonos, hand bandages and the like, comes a news flash over the wire that in this picture, "Society Girl," while he was supposed to lose the fight, he was knocked cold by a professional pugilist, playing the scene with him, and will be laid up for a period of not less than two weeks.

This is not to say that Jimmie can not "take it," but merely reverts to an injury received in an automobile accident a few years ago. At that time several ribs were injured and cartilages seriously torn. Probably the healing has never been as thoroughly completed as has been supposed.

At any rate, Tom Moore, the professional, in the course of a fast round, landed a heavy wallop over Jimmie's heart, and work thereupon stopped, not only upon the scene but upon the picture, for at least a fortnight, when the doctors think the handsome Mr. Dunn will be ready to resume. More torn ligaments.

In addition to the supporting cast, there are 1,000 extras thus also placed on the idle list temporarily.

As you may have heard, Victor McLaglen, the two-fisted star of the cinema, slipped into town Sunday on a "secret" visit preliminary to his week of personal appearances at the Rialto, beginning Saturday, with Charles Judels, that incomparable Gallic comic, as a stage partner.

That is to say, Mr. McLaglen's visit was secret to everybody except both the Nationals and the Philadelphia Athletics, all the sports writers, all the theater people and all of the Sabbath's baseball crowd who had ever attended a movie!

There may have been someone in Griffith Stadium who failed to recognize him, but I am inclined to doubt it.

It is, so I am excitedly told, "homecoming week" at the Club Michel, No. 1, Thomas Circle, where Walter Von Herbulis, the energetic impresario, takes pride in presenting as the star of his floor show Miss Helen Ault, a young Washington artiste, who has achieved genuine distinction in musical comedy and revue since the earlier days of her novitiates as a local amateur.

Miss Ault was most recently seen in the Capital, I believe, in Max Gordon's production of "Three's a Crowd," and was previously cast in parts of prominence in "Sweet Adeline" and "Honeymoon Lane."

Reservations at the Club Michel, judging from last night's, indicate that Miss Ault's host of Washington friends all will be on hand at one time or another to bid her welcome back—a host of guests, as you might say.

Many years ago, when Weber and Fields played the National Capital on their Jubilee Tour, it was looked upon as a bit of an achievement to have coaxed Fay Templeton out of retirement to resume her place in the cast with the two stars, Lillian Russell, William Collier, Frankie Bailey, and all the others who had brought world-wide renown to the little Music Hall on Twenty-ninth street, in New York.

It ought, therefore, to be no less notable that this same Fay Templeton returns to the Belasco next week—and that, incidentally, was where the Jubilee Company appeared—to assume the role of Little Buttercup, to which she seems to have acquired almost exclusive claim.

Afterthoughts on the enlivening interview with Miss Dorothy Mackaill, appearing in person this week at the Rialto: This is not Miss Mackaill's first visit to the city of Washington, although she finds it greatly changed . . . She was here with the "Follies" and later making scenes for a supposedly whale of a picture that turned out to be not so big, "Convoy" . . . Because Bob Pritchard once invited me to call with him at her apartment in New York, and I, with a sudden return of the old paresis, failed to do it, she pays your reporter the slightly left-handed compliment of being the only guy in the world who ever took nine years to make up his mind. . . . Back in the old days of the Crandall Saturday Nighters, Miss Mackaill was put on the air with our program from WRC, although she spoke into the mike at WJZ, in New York. . . . Milton Sills, Hobart Bosworth, Johnny Hines, Tully Marshall, Richard Barthelmess and Doris Kenyon were among the numerous others who similarly favored us. . . . When we thought Corinne Griffith had run out in a fit of temperament, it developed that she merely had been detained in the studio on some night retakes and was unable to reach the broadcasting station in time. . . . Not that it matters much at the moment. . . . Miss Mackaill's career has been oddly punctuated by the assumption of boy parts. . . . She did such numbers in the "Midnight Frolic," on the old New Amsterdam roof, she has done them in pictures and now does a "Vesta Tilley" as her closing bit in her present act. . . . A perfectly grand young person. . . . Ask anyone!

Speaking of stage acts we used to inject into the Saturday Nighters' radio programs, there was one night when we hurriedly enlisted the services of "Sunshine Sammy" Morrison, the hot-footed colored dancer, now at RKO-Keith's, to do his bit in front of the microphone on the Metropolitan stage, after the studio work was done. And did he panic the audience that had remained for the added Saturday night goings-on!

"Sunshine Sammy," by the way, now a protege of Bill Robinson, the noblest hoofer of them all, will visit Walter Reed with his three brothers Thursday morning to communicate a little of the sunshine for which he is famous to lives that are perhaps not quite so bright.

Customers of National Vaudeville Artists week in the local playhouses are not being treated to quite the variety of "personality appeal" as in former years. To the best of my knowledge, only two speakers are making their appeal—and a tremendously worthy one—from the local screens: George Jessel and Edmund Lowe.

After the surprising piece of character work she did as the mother—originally created by Mary Carr—in "Over the Hill," every one has been wondering where Mae Marsh, one of the original David Wark Griffith proteges, might have been hiding.

It seems she has been waiting patiently on the Fox lot to be assigned to another picture. And at last she is. She will be prominently cast in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

So now you know what they mean by the 'ides of Marsh!

THE THEATER LAST NIGHT

NATIONAL

"A CHURCH MOUSE." Stephen E. Cochran and Clifford Brooke present the National Theater Players in a comedy in three acts by Ladislaus Fodor. Staged by Mr. Brooke; scenery by Charles Squires.

—THE CAST—

Chapple.....Karl Nielsen
Baron Thomas von Ullrich.Donald Woods
Olly Frey.....Ona Munson
Count von Tellheim..Raymond Bramley
Jackson.....Forrest Orr
Frank von Ullrich.....Owen Davis, jr.
Susie Sachs.....Leona Powers

By NELSON B. BELL.

The requirements of the modern repertoire theater extend beyond the mere mouthing of familiar lines and the simulation of original stage settings.

There must be, to cope with the fabulous opulence of the cinema and the perfected technique of the living drama—even in periods of such destructive economic depression as the present—something of the glamour that has always been the stage.

Intelligent playing, of course, but, in addition to that, smart dressing, a suggestion of the mode of living that has become generally prevalent, at least in America, despite droughts, fire and panics; a savoir faire, an elegance, and a balanced and coordinated equality of literate personnel all are prime requisites of successful appeal to the current point of view of the habituated theater patron.

These attributes were demonstrated last evening, upon the inauguration of their eighth spring and summer season in the Capital, to be possessed in abundance by the National Theater Players, presenting an almost even balance of familiar and new faces in the pivotal roles of "A Church Mouse," first bill of the new season.

It would be the part of unwarranted extravagance to say that last evening's delightful performance was perfect. It was not. But it was sufficiently letter-perfect, nearly enough timed to the essential tempo of a sprightly and sophisticated continental comedy and so comprehendingly interpreted by its principals as to hold out a very real and very impressive earnest of the fine things to be expected of this sterling organization as the "little season" progresses.

"A Church Mouse" a few years ago would have been taboo among possible vehicles deemed suitable for stock. But times have changed. Spicy, fast-moving, romantic and charming, the Fodor play may not today be expected even to tilt an eyebrow.

The portrayal of the leading roles offered by Leona Powers, in the title part, and Donald Woods, as the young Viennese bank president into whose employ she comes by most extraordinary methods, were in no degree inferior to what might be expected from any touring midseason company of the first rank.

Miss Powers, of course, is known to Washington audiences from many excellent past performances. She is a more seasoned and finer actress now, by far, than when last viewed upon local boards.

Mr. Woods is a cleancut, assured and technically perfect leading man, handsome, articulate, well-dressed and apparently in every respect fully equipped to achieve eminence among the considerable list of those who have preceded him in this important post.

As ingenue and juvenile, both newcomers to Mr. Cochran's eagerly anticipated summer season, Ona Munson, recently of the films and prior to that an adornment of musical comedy, and Owen Davis, jr., son of the famous playwright, gave excellent accounts of themselves, everything considered. Miss Munson, feeling for her lines momentarily in the second act, still presented an alluring, magnificently gowned and altogether fascinating figure. Mr. Davis is a youth of substantial wholesomeness and honest enjoyment of the task in hand that radiate themselves at once to those out front.

Two of last season's favorites who return for new laurels are Forrest Orr and Raymond Bramley, both congenially cast—the one as an amusing office drudge, not averse to his night out in Paris; the other, as a gay boulevardier not as young as he used to be and realizing it, quite! Both affectionately greeted. Karl Neilson was wholly adequate in the only other brief part in the play.

As has become the custom of years, following the fall of the first curtain after a generosity of curtain calls [illegible] which this department [illegible] least count, Clifford Brooke, [illegible] of the company, introduced the members of his cast, both old and new, and even prevailed upon Mrs. Adelaide Hibbard to take an anticipatory bow for the expected excellence of her performance next week!

"A Church Mouse," incidentally, has been accorded a fresh and effective investiture by Charles Squires and elicited every evidence of ebullient approval from a capacity first night audience that wrote another glorious chapter into the records of the National Theater Players last evening.

BELASCO

"ANOTHER LANGUAGE." Arthur J. Beckhard presents a new play in three acts by Rose Franken; staged by Mr. Beckhard; settings by Cleon Throckmorton.

—THE CAST—

Mrs. Hallam.....Margaret Wycherly
Mr. Hallam.....Wyrley Birch
Harry Hallam.....William Pike
Helen Hallam.....Margaret Hamilton
Walter Hallam.....Hal K. Dawson
Grace Hallam.....Irene Cattell

Etta Hallam.....Maude Allan
Victor Hallam.....Glenn Anders
Stella Hallam.....Dorothy Stickney
Jerry Hallam.....John Beal

By FRANK P. MORSE.

"Another Language" is a recrudescence of the type of drama that dominated the Anglo-Saxon stage when Arthur Wing Pinero and Henry Arthur Jones were at the height of their vogue. It is an adaptation of a theme we have not seen utilized since "His House in Order" provided roles for Margaret Illington and John Drew. Yet the play staged at the Belasco Theater last evening is ultra-modern in language, acting and title.

It is a new, wisecracking version of a story at which innumerable playwrights have tried their hands in other years. It pictures the conflict between a woman addicted to independent thought and a family in which the clan motif is made a fetish. It now remains to be seen how a new generation will react to this half-forgotten variant of the triangle, in which the third role is played by in-laws.

Without further delay, it may be well to note that "Another Language" tells an interesting story that swings easily from really amusing comedy to effective emotional scenes. If occasionally over-accentuated, it has an honesty of purpose that is disarming. And it is both well acted and intelligently staged. Moreover, which is important, the narrative is held to three crisp acts that run rather under the conventional time alloted to the average play.

The story is told by eleven characters, all members of the Hallam family of New York's Upper West Side. Four of the eleven have married into the clan, but only one of the four fails to sink into the complacent and innocuous family life. It is her revolt against Hallamism, which, like the struggles of the wife in "His House in Order," provides the clash of will that makes drama. This, and a rather appealing drifting together of two young people who are made of finer fiber than their natural and legal relatives.

The play is made particularly interesting and genuinely honest by the fine acting of Dorothy Stickney, who, as the interloper, gives even commonplace situations an atmosphere of distinction. In the final scene, for example, Miss Stickney and Glenn Anders lift the story to legitimate dramatic intensity by acting that is taut, forceful and extraordinarily true and sure.

We can not agree with the stage director's casting of that fine actress, Margaret Wycherly, as the mother of the Hallam family. She makes the necessary points for the author, of course, but is out of the picture. A less able player, better fitted to the type required, would probably fit smoothly into the comedy atmosphere so well generated by Margaret Hamilton, Irene Cattell, Maude Allan, William Pike, Hal K. Dawson, Herbert Duffy and Wyrley Birch. John Beal does sincere and effective acting as a youthful lover and helpless rebel against his tribe.

We are not prepared to say that "Another Language" will hold its own against current competition. It would have won immediate acclaim two decades ago, and it may even find a corner of its own on the sophisticated stage of today. It is significant that a capacity audience, in which youth predominated, gave unmistakable evidence of approval last night. After all, a good stage story should have an advantage in any reincarnation.

GAYETY

"HOT RHYTHMS OF '32." Columbia burlesque under the personal direction of Gus Plaig, presenting Joe Freed, Jack Greenman, Alba Bradley, Jeanette Allebasi and Jean Kennedy. Special guest stars, the Misses Kitty Ellis and Ann Corio. Reviewed by William L. Wright.

In her farewell appearance of the current season, Ann Corio, burlesque's most beautiful and charming star, was at her best and had to refuse additional encores in order that the show might continue. Always a favorite in Washington, Miss Corio did not disappoint her admirers at last evening's performance.

The California beauty, Kitty Ellis, who recalls to mind Hinda Wassau, pleased her audience without the benefit of song, her cleverly executed numbers making a big hit.

Leading the cast of "Jersey Belles" are Alba Bradley, Jean Kennedy and Jeanette Allebasi. This trio of shapely girls is largely responsible for the success of this fine show. Alba, with the aid of a talented member of the chorus, scored with a hot encore on the "Minnie the Moocher" number.

Joe Freed, that funny fellow, has the house in an uproar time and time again. His many skits are packed with excellent comedy. "Peanuts," otherwise Jack Greenman, was immense in the band act.

Whirlwind dances by Hary Ryan and Tiny Huff and instrumental specialties by Bob Wallace put the finishing touches on a show that should please.

BRIG. GEN. MITCHELL AGAINST CASH BONUS

Speaks to Alexandria Post of Legion at Tavern; Urges Rum Stand.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the Army Air Service, last night addressed Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, in Gadsby's Tavern, the home of the legion post, in the interest of the membership drive being conducted in Virginia.

Gen. Mitchell spoke of the efforts being made to balance the Federal budget, and stated as his belief that it would be possible to cut down the overhead of the Federal Government at least one-third by grouping the various departments.

The general paid his respects to the eighteenth amendment, and said that the legion should take a decided stand. It has been proven, he said, that the illegal traffic in liquor can not be stopped, and he believes that it should be legalized and placed under proper restrictions.

In regard to the soldier bonus the general believes that it would be unwise at this time to pay it in full, since he fears the consequence would be embarrassing to the country at large. 'Much is to be said on both sides, he said. On the one hand is the condition of the country at the present time, and on the other the condition of the men who hold the bonus policies. He believes it is the duty of the legion to look after the former service men and their families, and feels that the payment of the bonus would be too much of a strain on the people.

Gen. Mitchell, in the name of the department adjutant of Virginia, presented to Clyde B. Lanham, department vice commander, a silver cup in recognition of his work in the membership drive.

The Rev. D. C. Mayers, rector of the Episcopal Church at Middleburg, Va., and chaplain of the Leesburg legion post, accompanied Gen. Mitchell and delivered a short talk.

Hilley Nominated To Fight Brookens

Former Member of Hyattsville Council Named by Convention.

E. B. Hilley, a former Hyattsville, Md., councilman, was nominated last night to oppose Councilman Perley F. Brookens after Mr. Hilley's friends had asked that the nominating convention be reopened to give them a chance to advance the name of their candidate. Although four candidates were expected to file from the Fourth Ward, only these two were nominated.

Dr. Brookens was nominated by Herbert Nelson, who announced several weeks ago that he would be a candidate in the election on May 2. The convention was then closed, but a request was later made that it be opened again. This was done and Mr. Hilley's name was seconded by Alexander Bloxton, who had also said several weeks ago that he would be a contender for the seat on the council.

W. A. Shepherd, town treasurer for 23 years, was nominated for the twenty-fourth time last night. Arthur C. Moon, present councilman from the Third Ward, will have no opposition in his race for reelection, and no candidate appeared to oppose Thomas E. Hume, present Second Ward councilman who is seeking reelection. In the First Ward both Charles L. Devilbiss and Howard A. Harrison were nominated. Mr. Harirson is councilman at present.

Roadhouse Slaying and Case Of Hijacking Given to Jury

Two important cases—the Bladensburg roadhouse fatal shooting and the charges of hijacking against a deputy sheriff—were presented to the Prince Georges County grand jury yesterday, to judge from the witnesses called to testify.

Verne Edwards, the State's prize witness in the roadhouse case, was brought from the House of Detention here under guard of two policemen. Every precaution was taken to protect her from reprisals for the testimony she has already given in the Federal investigation of the white slave traffic.

Others who appeared were Detectives Cornelius Roche and William Feehley, of Baltimore, who assisted in the investigation, and county policemen.

Among the witnesses summoned in the hijacking charges was a man recognized as being the driver for the man whose liquor is said to have been seized by the accused deputy, Newton A. James.

James, according to county policemen, was with "Honey" Garrison, son of Chief Deputy Tom Garrison, when a load of liquor was captured near Berwyn several months ago. It is charged that release of the load for a payment of $250 was sought.

Cab Thief Gets 25 Cents, But Overlooks 35 More

After discussing the recent wave of taxi holdups with his intended victim and inquiring solicitously how business had been, a white bandit yesterday held up H. Marshall, a taxi driver, on the Suitland, Md., road, making off with 25 cents.

Marshall who lives at 24 New York avenue northeast, said he picked the man up on Fifth street. About a mile over the District line the bandit, who had been chatting with Marshall, got out of the cab and produced a gun instead of the fare. He took a quarter from the driver's pocket, but overlooked 35 cents more Marshall had in another pocket.

WOMEN VOTERS WIN DISMISSAL OF SUIT

Court Signs Order Quashing $60,000 Action Against Arlington Group.

Judge Walter T. McCarthy, in the Circuit Court of Arlington County, yesterday signed a motion of Attorney Edgar W. Pumphrey, counsel for the Arlington Investment Corporation, to dismiss the suit against members of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County at the cost of the plaintiff.

The motion further reads that the clerk of the court is directed to strike the same from the docket, and this order is final.

The agreement to dismiss was reached by counsel for the plaintiff and former Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, for the defendants.

The suit was for $60,000 against members of the committee, of the Organized Women Voters, who signed the petition against former Supervisor B. M. Hedrick, which resulted in his attempted impeachment, and was filed in the county clerk's office in May, 1930.

In its suit against the women the Investment Corporation stated it owned a tract of land known as Waycroft, containing 50 acres, and that it had a good reputation for credit. It alleged that since charges were brought against Hedrick, who was a director in the corporation, that damages had been sustained to the property in Waycroft and to the credit of the corporation.

Named in the suit as defendants were: Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, president of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County; Mrs. Mary C. Williams, Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, Mrs. Bertha Kelly, Mrs. Ada H. Davidson, Mrs. Alice W. Semones and Mrs. Jesse W. Hunt.

In addition to the indictments returned by the grand jury at the opening of the April term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County against E. Wade Ball, former county treasurer; William H. Duncan, clerk of the county court, and F. J. Hallock, former clerk to the county school board, the following were returned:

Those charged with a felony—George Gustus (alias George Augustus), Tom Williams, John Bowles, Edgar Marshall (two indictments), Henry Henning and Joy Hannah.

John Bowles, pleading guilty to having entered the home of Meyer Baturin and taking six radio tubes and some foodstuff valued at $10, was given a sentence of three years in the State Penitentiary by Judge McCarthy.

George A. Davidson was indicted for a misdemeanor in that he drove an automobile over the highways of the county without the proper license.

MONTGOMERY PLANS $8,000 RELIEF DRIVE

County Leaders Prepare for Campaign; Dinner Meeting on April 29.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Plans for the annual campaign for funds of the Social Service League of Montgomery County, Md., were discussed at a special joint meeting of the executive and finance committees yesterday at the league's headquarters in the Rockville Courthouse. The report on policies for the drive of the finance committee was approved by the executive committee.

The drive will open with a dinner meeting, April 29, at the Manor Club, near Norbeck, Md. The committee members of the various branches and drive workers will attend. The drive begins May 1 and will continue until May 15. Campaign headquarters are to be established in Rockville, probably at the courthouse.

According to W. B. Armstrong, chairman of the finance committee, the league's quota will be $8,000, the same as last year. The committee has been able to hold the figure down because of the contributions of Federal employes, about $18,000, and of the county school teachers, $1,700, which money has been divided and used to care for unemployment relief. The county contributes $10,000 a year and this year an additional $1,000 for juvenile court work.

Members of the Kensington Volunteer Fire Department last night successfully combated a forest fire at Bushfield, north of Kensington, and managed to save several houses threatened with destruction. The fire burned over an area of about 10 acres of woodland and undergrowth. The glare could be seen for miles around. Ralph W. Burdette, a fireman, twisted his ankle while fighting the blaze and was treated by the rescue squad.

Announcement of a series of meetings in rural sections to organize the Montgomery County division of the Eastern Cooperative Live Stock Marketing Association to be held in the next two weeks was made yesterday by O. W. Anderson, county farm agent. Speakers familiar with the live-stock situation will address the meetings.

The schedule of meetings follows: Laytonsville, April 21, 8 p. m; Germantown, April 22, 8 p. m.; Poolesville, April 23, 2 p. m.; Rockville, April 23, 8 p. m.; Fairland, April 28, 8 p. m.; Olney-Sandy Spring, April 29, 8 p. m.; Gaithersburg, April 26, 2 p. m.; Barnesville, April 26, 8 p. m.; Damascus, April 27, 2 p. m. The meetings will be held in the local schoolhouses, except that at Rockville, which will be in the county agent's office.

Detective Theodore Volten, in charge of the Identification Bureau of the Montgomery County Police at Rockville, last night spoke on finger-print and identification work before the members of the Germantown Grange at a meeting held in the Grange Hall at Germantown. Detective Volten told of the methods used in the modern crime laboratory. The work of the county identification bureau has been indorsed by the last two county grand juries and other civic bodies.

A chicken dinner will be held today from 11 to 2 o'clock by the American Legion Auxiliary of Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, Rockville, Md., at the home of Mrs. Louis J. Ryon, Montgomery avenue and Baltimore road.

Virginia Road Law Explained by Rust

Benefits of Byrd Plan Are Outlined Before Fairfax Rotarians.

State Senator John W. Rust, of Fairfax, Va., explained the various advantages of the new Virginia road law at the luncheon meeting of the Fairfax Rotary Club yesterday.

Senator Rust stated that the law known as the Byrd road plan, was designed as an economic measure and was the only plan presented to the State Assembly which would effectively relieve the tax-ridden farmer. He said it would save the taxpayers of the State approximately $3,500,000 each year. He declared that the State forces could build more permanent roads at a less cost than the counties and do it so as to aid the most people, as they would not be hampered by county lines. He pointed out that a tremendous saving would result by cutting down the overhead on superintendence.

The other speaker was Ed L. Stock, former district governor of the Rotary Clubs of Washington. He outlined the history of Rotary, its aims and purposes. He explained its rapid international growth and the duty of its members. He welcomed the two new members of the local Rotary, Robert R. Buckley and Abner C. Ritchie, of Fairfax, into the fellowship of the club.

NATS HAMMER 4 HURLERS TO TROUNCE MACKS, 15-7

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

FIRST glance at the two successive defeats of Ellsworth Vines by Wilmer Allison in Southern tournaments might flash upon the mind's eye a distressing state of affairs in America's Davis Cup tennis situation, but there is hardly cause for immediate or undue alarm.

True it is that upon the virile young frame of Vines rest the fondest of the United States' hopes in the impending international contests. The ascendency of the young Californian, too late to be of help in the 1931 Davis Cup play which saw America's hopes terminated by England in the interzone finals, was calculated to regain for the United States the Davis Cup glory that belonged to the Tilden dynasty from 1920 to 1926, inclusive.

Hailed as the spearhead of a 1932 American team that would overcome the French menace after six years of lean pickings, Vines has bowed to Wilmer Allison on successive Sundays and Allison, who was not included among the select four last year and whose game hardly was expected to show improvement this season.

But tennis students are not inclined to place too great an importance on Vines' failures against Allison. The towering Californian was far too impressive last year to be deserted by his admirers. He displayed too strong a game, too much basically sound and brilliant tennis to permit a sharp slump over one season.

Vines has built around himself a following enjoyed by no other tennis champion since Tilden's regime. Unlike Johnny Doeg, of the unorthodox game, Vines had everything last season. He was acknowledged as the logical successor to Tilden, possessing as he did every stroke on the court. A relapse to the state where he can be beaten even by Allison when the stakes are great is inconceivable, and the great body of tennis fans are still stringing with Vines.

Tilden, alone of all the modern champions could maintain long winning streaks. Bobby Jones often felt the sting of defeat in his early season matches. The New York Yankees of 1928 won two games of 25 in the training season and then overpowered the American League opposition to win the pennant in a walkaway. Jim Londos' wrestling dynasty, of course, is excepted.

Vines' rise in the tennis realm has not been as meteoric as the popular conception has it. He put in seven years apprenticeship at the game before his labors bore the fruit of the national championship. In 1930, he enjoyed his first good season, beating Frank Hunter, but he was bumped off by Sidney Wood in the finals at Seabright the same season.

During the last three years, however, Vines has been meeting the best in tennisdom, sometimes winning, sometimes losing, but building up a firm foundation for the game that was to place him at the top. He was developing, too, the ideal tournament temperament, and when he was to reach the pinnacle last fall in the national championships, he was fortified by years of experience in addition to his native ability to play tennis.

At the age of 20, Vines has established himself the peer of all-American amateurs. His string of triumphs last season was accomplished purely by the mastery of his play. He battled through the best fields available to win his place at the top.

Vines' defeats by Allison, perhaps should be taken as reassuring to America's Davis Cup hopes rather than a shock. If Allison is good enough to beat the youthful giant from California when both are at top form, the probability is that the United States will be fortified by one more first-class player in the person of Allison. Vines certainly is not due to slump.

Vines and Allison are due to meet again this week in the Mason-Dixon tournament at White Sulphur, W. Va. They have been seeded one and two which means that they must reach the finals before they will be entitled to face one another. But the form that each has displayed makes for the contingency.

In the Mason-Dixon, Vines can be expected to show improvement. He entered the Pinehurst tournament last week, after arriving three days late in a hurried trip in a light automobile from New Orleans. With sufficient rest, and the first Davis Cup match scheduled for next week, Vines is calculated to attain better form in the West Virginia event. At tops, he can win it easily.

Phelps Baffles Phils; Dodgers Triumph, 8-0

Brooklyn, April 18 (A.P.).—Babe Phelps returned to his 1930 form today to hold the Phillies to six hits and give the Dodgers their second shutout of the series, 8 to 0.

The winners jumped Reggie Brabowski for six hits and five runs in the fourth and Glenn Wright hit a homer with Wilson aboard in the seventh.

1,500 Watch George Win Feature

Westenberg Is Victim of Former Champion's Tackles.

Pojello and Martin Take Matches at Bolling Field.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ED DON GEORGE, who sprang into the spotlight of rassling three years ago when he rammed his black curly locks into the comfortable expanse that is Strangler Lewis' middle, won the feature match at Bolling Field, last night, beating Marvin Westenberg, another handsome and uncauliflowered young man, in 37 minutes 14 seconds (Eastern standard time). The finishing hold was a flying tackle seen by some 1,500, the largest crowd yet to visit the Army Post wrestling center.

It was not a particularly edifying victory and the crowd was not moved to the same heights of frenzy which last week found its apex in accurately thrown pop bottles and folding chairs. But the milling seemed sincere enough. Westenberg was the hero. George it was who won the customary boo which at least one of the principals get in every match. The loser looked like the winner right up until the end. For two former football players the boys did a lot of sitting around and arm locking.

Pojello Drops Benkert.

Karl Pojello, a mat craftsman if ever there was one, threw a fat gent of advanced years named August Benkert in the most interesting bout of the night. Pojello won in 22 minutes and 33 1-3 seconds on four beautiful back body drops. Benkert looks a lot like the venerable and hoary old Toots Mondt. Before he became rassling champion of Belgium he evidently was ambushed by a group of ambitious tattooers who practiced all sorts of artistic felonies on his chest, arms and back. From a distance, as he fell, he looked like the Corcoran Art Gallery in the midst of an earthquake.

Benkert threw Pojello around like a rag doll throughout most of the bout, but the wily Lithuanian, using a mixture of jiu jitsu, rassling and wrestling finished him off handily once the opportunity arose.

Boooooooooool Martin, the four most unpopular wrestlers who have ever lived, won another match, ending Clivio Massimo in 16 minutes 14 seconds, with a nice right to the jaw. Most of the fun Martin is peculiarly able to dispense came outside of the ring, though, after he donned his street clothes. He got into an argument with Joe Vargo on the absorbing topic of which of the two is the world's worst rassler. The boys almost came to blows, as each claimed the championship. It is feared that a match to decide the title may result to clear up the situation.

The first two exhibitions resulted in 30 minutes and no seconds draws. In the first Danny Winters, perhaps the youngest soul in this vocation, held Vargo even, and Charley Strack did the same to the medical profession's supposed gift to the Bowser circuit, Dr. Fred Myers.

Next week Mr. Bulldog Martin 1st is expected to get his just deserts, at the hands of Gus Sonnenberg.

Sande Draws Suspension For Misbehavior at Post

Set Down for Three Days for Attempt to Beat Barrier.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, April 18 (A.P.).—Earl Sande's comeback campaign was temporarily halted today when he was suspended for three days for misbehavior at the post in the first and fourth races at Jamaica.

EARL SANDE.

Starter George Cassidy slapped the suspension on America's premier jockey, when Sande, anxious to get his mounts away in front, persisted in ducking under the barrier with Gay Attire in the opener and Lullaby II in the fourth race. Cassidy had warned Sande after the first offense a repetition of the act would result in a suspension.

"It was my fault," said Sande afterward. "I was up on a slow-breaking horse and was too anxious to get away in front."

Although failing to win, Sande showed a flash of his old-time riding form, placing second with Gay Attire and third with Lullaby II. He was also up on Embankment in the last race, but finished last after setting the early pace. He rode at 113 pounds on Lullaby II—the lowest weight he has made since deciding to return to the turf.

The action against Sande overshadowed the victory of Curacao, a Preakness and Kentucky Derby eligible from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

Making his debut as a 3-year-old, Curacao outclassed a small but meritorious field to win the Spinalong Purse, decided over 6 furlongs. With Charley Kurtsinger in the saddle, the Greentree colt stepped the distance in 1:12 2-5 to beat Incantation by five lengths. Another four lengths to the rear followed Earl Sande, up on the Howe stable's Lullaby II. As the favorite, Curacao paid 3 to 5.

FIVE BOUTS TONIGHT AT PORTNER'S

Bowen, Strickler and Schwartz to See Ring Action.

SLUGGERS, boxers and the type that combines both are scheduled to provide the leather-tossing entertainment tonight for the benefit of the Alexandria Day Nursery in Portner Arena. Five bouts, or a total of 36 rounds, comprise the program which opens at 8:30 o'clock.

The District welterweight championship will be at stake in the final bout of eight rounds, bringing together Ray Bowen and Sammy Braunstein, both of this sity. Bowen is known as a boxer; Braunstein as a slugger, hence the fans should suffer little for want of torrid action.

In other eight-round bouts Billy Schwartz, Alexandrdia light heavy, meets Bill Flemster, champion of the Carolinas; Billy Strickland, local 168-pounder, tackles Sam Finazzo, of Baltimore, and Nick Antonelli, Mohawk Club featherweight, engages Al Martin, of Baltimore. A four-rounder between Marino Marini, Washington lightweight, and Chuck Henderson, of Mississippi, opens the show.

Bowen Favored In Battle.

Bowen is favored to beat Braunstein on the strength of recent victories over Tootsie Bashara and Patsy Lewis, both of whom are dangerous punchers. Ray outboxed both of them and against Bashara mixed some old-fashioned walloping with science.

Braunstein, a Navy Yard Marine, is one of the hardest punchers in this vicinity, and his ability to sock plus enough stamina for two fighters may upset Bowen. The welterweight title recently was relinquished by Harry "Kid" Groves, now a boxing instructor.

Schwartz, returning to action after a month's retirement, faces a real test in Flemster, who has beaten such fighters as Buster Newberry, Al Jordan, Al Massey and Jack Denning. The Alexandria pride has been sharpening his attack in training with Natie Brown, while Flemster has been conditioning himself at Mann's gym. The North Carolinian should be favored on the records.

Strickler, whose last local victory was unpopular, is out to convince the fans of his capabilities at the expense of Finazzo, a rugged, two-fisted fighter, who recently polished off Henry Irving. Strickler has been training every day since getting the questionable decision over Al Treanor at Ritchie Coliseum on February 29.

The Antonelli-Martin brawl may steal the show. Both boys are streaks of lightning but employ different styles. Antonelli is an excellent counter-puncher. His foe is one of the type that keeps coming in.

For the public's protection, the Day Nursery Athletic Association, beginning tonight, will require all boxers to sign an agreement stipulating that their purses shall be withheld and the bouts stopped if, by the fourth round, they do not convince the referee and newspapermen at ringside that they are giving their best efforts.

BOXING BITS' SELECTIONS—Braunstein to defeat Bowen; Flemster to shade Schwartz; Strickler to conquer Finazzo; Antonelli to check Martin, and Henderson to beat Marini. (Batting .774.)

CARDS DEALT 4TH DEFEAT IN ROW

Root, of Cubs, Scores 3-1 Victory Over League Champs.

ST. LOUIS, April 18 (A.P.).—Charlie Root allowed the St. Louis National League champions only four hits today to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-to-1 victory and a clean sweep of a two-game series.

Today's defeat placed the Cardinals the lowest in the percentage column they have been since Gabby Street took charge as manager. This equaled their longest losing streak of 1931. After winning the first game from Pittsburgh, Street's team lost the next two and then dropped a pair to the Cubs.

Barton's homer in the second started off the Cubs' scoring. With two out in the sixth Moore doubled and then scored on Hartnett's double. Hartnett gained third on a wild pitch by Flint Rhem and then went home as the Redbird hurler tossed another wild one.

Blanked by Root Until Ninth.

Root held the Redbirds scoreless until the ninth inning when two singles and an error gave them their one tally.

Charley Gelbert was out of the game as a result of a shoulder injury received in an opening series game with the Pirates and Horace Ford took his place as shortstop in the St. Louis lineup.

Revamped Team Hits Ball Hard Against West. Maryland.

Heaney Gives 8 Walks But Is Aided by Good Support.

By JACK ESPEY.

THE hitherto weak-hitting Georgetown nine went berserk yesterday, assaulting and otherwise maiming ye olde horsehide for twelve hits and twelve runs. Pitchers Bud Shilling and Gordon Lamb and the entire Western Maryland cast were the victims, the third time this academic year the Hilltoppers administered defeat to the Green Terrors in athletics.

The score was 12 to 6 and Western Maryland gathered as many hits as the home talent, but the Hilltoppers walloped the ball at timely moments, whereas the visitors made little of the many opportunities offered them.

Heaney, Well Supported, Walks Eight.

Herb Heaney, veteran right-hander, hurled for Georgetown and was not especially brilliant. He walked eight besides granting a dozen safeties. His mates supported him well.

With a revamped lineup presenting Bill Rapp as catcher instead of third baseman and with Frank McNamara supplanting Tommy Carolan at first, Coach Sheedy's club fell lustily on Shilling at the start and had six runs chalked up at the end of the third inning. Shilling went away from there under a bombardment in the seventh and Lamb finished up, yielding the final Georgetown run. Four errors, two committed by Left Fielder Tollenger, contributed to Shilling's misery.

McNamara celebrated his debut by punching out three singles and Rapp proved he could hit as well in his new position as the old by slamming a single and a healthy triple. Carolan got into the game in the seventh in time to smash a homer behind Rapp, while every one else except Capt. Evers and Heaney hit safely at least once.

Willis and Hurley were the bludgeoning heroes for Western Maryland, the former getting a double and two singles—all line drives—and the latter collecting three one-basers.

Tigers Make 16 Hits; Trounce Browns, 14-7

Detroit, April 18 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers won a 14 to 7 victory over the St. Louis Browns today in a game featured by 28 hits and nine errors.

The Tigers made sixteen hits, running Sam Gray out of the box in the fourth inning and finding his successors, Cooney and Polli, almost as easily. Six Brown errors gave Detroit five runs, and St. Louis in turn, made three runs in which as many Tiger errors figured. Whitlow Wyatt pitched his second victory of the season, coasting along on the early lead piled up by his teammates.

Herman Clouts Homer As Kolp Blanks Pirates

Cincinnati, April 18 (A.P.).—Babe Herman's first homer of the season and inspired fielding gave Ray Kolp and the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today. With the score 2 to 0 for the Reds in the eighth, Herman slammed the ball to the right-field corner, sending home Manion and Gilbert before him.

The game, an hour and thirteen minutes long, was a minute under the previous short-game record of the Reds made October 5, 1929.

Six-Run Uprising in Ninth Clinches Game as Nats Come From Behind to Pound Mahaffey, Cain, Bowman, Deshong.

Fischer Relieved by Crowder in Sixth With Pair Holding Champions to Six Hits; Foxx's Homer Gives A's 3-Run Lead.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent, The Post).

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Showing a fighting spirit which would not be denied and a flash of the punch predicted for them during the spring training season, the Nats this afternoon drew their first 1932 blood from the Athletics. The final score was 15 to 7, but the game was much closer than these figures indicate, and it was not until the Johnsons pounded home six runs in the final frame that they were sure they were going to gain the decision.

Fifteen hits bounded from the Washington bats today and, due largely to eleven passes issued to them and to resounding home runs by Heinie Manush, Joe Judge and Sammy West, they were able to average a run a hit. The A's did even better than this, their seven runs being the result of but six hits, two walks followed by Jimmy Foxx's homer in the first and two errors by Carl Reynolds helping bring about this unusual situation.

The Mackmen started off with a rush, molding three tallies in the very first frame, but the Nats retaliated with an equal number in the second and were never behind thereafter, although a three-run advantage they gained in the third and fourth was erased by the natives in the sixth. Round seven saw the Nats become three up again, with the Macks getting one back in their half and then came the final Washington stand which removed every semblance of competition from the game.

Fischer Succeeded By Crowder.

Carl Fischer made his season's debut as a starter for the Nats, but found the going rough and gave way to "General" Alvin Crowder in the sixth. Mack decided to make this "rookie day," and used all his young boxmen, starting Roy Mahaffey and then calling on Merrit (Sugar) Cain, Joe Bowman and Jimmy Deshong.

All of these lads had burning speed but little or no control, while Deshong, in particular, reminded the Nats of the hurlers they faced in the preseason games, and was treated accordingly. He toiled in but one frame, the ninth, during which he walked two and yielded homers over the right-field wall to Judge and West, a double to Myer and a single to Cronin.

Fischer started off well enough, retiring the first two to face him, but then he shot a fast one right down Foxx's alley and a homer resulted, putting the Mackmen three to the good. This failed to daunt the Nats, though, and they came right back with a three-run splurge in the next round, which Judge opened with a single. The next two battlers did nothing, but both Fischer and Myer coaxed bases on balls and the aisles were packed. Manush's single scored two and West's the other.

Bluege's Triple Scores Judge.

Judge's single and Bluege's triple netted one in the third, while only one hit was needed to score two runs in the fourth. This was West's single, after Manush had walked. Cain replaced Mahaffey and filled the bases by walking Cronin. Manush counted on Reynolds' long fly. Cain filled the sacks again by passing Judge, and Bluege's liner to Haas in left center scored West.

The Nats then rested awhile to give their hosts a chance to catch up. They did this in the sixth after Fischer had shown some real pinch-pitching to hold them scoreless in the third after Haas, first up, had doubled and Cochrane's double had propelled him to third.

In this sixth session, a walk, Boley's single, Pinch Hitter Roeteger's useful out, Bishop's double and a walk netted one Mackian run and filled the bases when Johnson called Crowder to the mound. Cochrane lofted to Reynolds, and, when his well-directed throw to the plate hopped over Berg's head into the Quaker dugout, two runs were tallied and the string was knotted again, this time at 6-all.

Manush's Homer Occurs in 7th.

This condition did not last long, though, for the Nats counted three more runs just when it looked as though they were going to get none. Bluege opened with a single, and all hands were safe when Boley dropped Bowman's peg on Berg's attempted sacrifice. Then Crowder tried to suicide and it was turned into a double play when the ball dropped in front of the plate. Myer singled and it was here that Manush inserted his homer.

The Mackmen got one of these back in the seventh on Foxx's double, Reynolds' two-base error on Miller's pop and a long fly and then called it a day. Just to make their margin safe, the Nats added their sextet in the ninth and the game was won.

In addition to their homers, Judge and West poled out two singles, while Manush had one one-baser.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

Philadelphia, April 18.

With this afternoon's game safely tucked away in the Nationals' bat bag, Manager Johnson and his charges are particularly anxious to cop again tomorrow and thus even the series with the Mackmen at 2-all.

On dope, the Nats' chances do not look particularly bright in view of the fact that Rookie Monte Weaver will be opposing the veteran, George (Rube) Walberg, on the mound. Weaver is still an unknown quantity to a certain extent, while his hurling rival is a star of long standing. However, Monte can be counted upon to put up a good battle, and if today's signs—that the Nats are out of their hitting slump—are not wrong, he no doubt will be given some help on attack and will give the Mackmen plenty to worry over.

Catcher Roy Spencer was complaining of a mild attack of Charley horse before today's game and so was told to rest and Moe Berg started behind the plate for the Nats. He likely will be back on his job again tomorrow.

According to Philadelphia scribes, Roger Cramer has not landed Bing Miller's job as regular right fielder, but merely has been used because Bing does not perform at his best in cold weather. With the Quaker City enjoying its warmest day of this spring, the veteran made his 1932 debut at his old stand this afternoon.

Heinie Manush created some kind of a strike-out record when he fanned in the first inning. It was his seventh strike out in his last eight times at bat, covering a stretch of eleven innings. He was sent back to the bench talking to himself his last two trips up in the game here Saturday and Earnshaw fanned him four out of five times in Washington Sunday.

Simmons came in fast and over toward the foul line to make a good catch of Reynolds' near Texas leaguer ending the Nats' first. It prevented a run, as Myer was on second at the time.

Fischer threw but one strike in walking both Cochrane and Simmons, with two dead, in the first, and then Foxx hit his first offering for a homer which went on the line over the left corner of the scoreboard in deep center. It was Foxx's fourth homer and put him in the league lead in this respect.

Mahaffey walked Myer on four successive balls to fill the bases with Nationals with two dead in the second.

Reynolds raced over to the foul line in right to make a fine catch of Boley's short fly opening the home second.

Blege's triple in the third, which put the Nats in front, 4 to 3, skidded along the right field foul line and woke up the Johnsonian batterymen who were dozing on the bench in the bull pen.

Cochrane's double in the third missed clearing the right field fence by inches. Reynolds made a great try for the ball, but could not quite snare it. Haas, on first at the time, was uncertain as to whether or not the ball could be caught and so advanced no farther than third.

Bluege went over in front of Cronin to make a pretty one-handed stab of Dykes' bounder to end the Mackian third with a force play at second with the sacks fully populated at the time.

Haas backed up against the stands in left center for Bluege's liner in the fourth. The sacks were loaded at the time, so that one run scored despite the catch.

Buddy Myer made his first error of the season when he fumbled Cain's easy tap opening the native fourth. He redeemed himself to end the frame

Veteran Demar Favorite In Boston Marathon Today

BOSTON, April 18 (A.P.).—A battalion of modern Phidippides, 258 strong, tonight rested in the little town of Hopkinton, starting point of tomorrow's famous Boston A. A. marathon.

Among this vast field, which included candidates for five different Olympic marathon teams, were an even dozen with stamina and sense of pace required to lead the pack over the cruel road to the Boston A. A. clubhouse, finishing point of the thirty-sixth annual running of this classic event.

Foremost among the favorites was Clarence Demar, 44-year-old teacher of the Keene, N. H., Normal School, who has won the event seven times out of thirteen starts. He has been second twice, third twice, fifth once, last year, and ninth, three years ago.

Pressing Demar hard for the prerace honors was Willie Ritola, the New York carpenter who gave Finland victory in the 3,000 meters race in the Amsterdam Olympic games. Ritola has not appeared in the B. A. A. event since 1922, when he finished second to Demar, but he has been training hard for the event.

Three other former winners also have hopes of repeating, Jimmy Henigan, the home-bred who won last year and placed second in 1928; Bill Kennedy, gray-haired bricklayer from Port Chester, N. Y., who won in 1917 and has finished well up in all of the following races, and Carl Linder, member of the 1924 American Olympic team, who won in 1919.

Thirty-seven of last year's finishers have entered again.

Davis Cup Stars Advance In Mason-Dixon Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 18 (A.P.).—The United States Davis Cup Team, playing in its final tournament before clashing with Canada at Washington next week, sent its four members into the second round of the annual Mason and Dixon tennis championships today.

Led by Ellsworth Vines, national title holder; Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn won their first-round matches in straight sets, and Frank X. Shields drew a bye.

Vines merely had a good workout in eliminating Armand L. Bruneau, of New York, 6—1, 6—3. For the most part Vines was content to play a base-line game, going to the net only occasionally to score points with his rapid-fire short cross-court volleys.

Allison, conqueror of Vines at Pinehurst and in the Tulane invitation tournament, had too much speed on his returns for Robert B. Lowry, of New York, winning 6—2, 6—2.

Van Ryn joined his Davis Cup team mates in the second round with a straight-set victory over Clarence C. Chaffee, of Providence. Seeded third in the drawing, Van Ryn romped to victory by the scores of 6—1, 6—3.

Shields, who is in the same half of the draw with Allison, sharpened up his game in a workout with Van Ryn. He meets Roland McKee, of New York, in the second round tomorrow.

Allison will match strokes with J. D. Martin, jr., of White Sulphur Springs, while Vines is playing Harry Brown, also of White Sulphur Springs.

SPINACH WINS FEATURE AT HAVRE DE GRACE IN GALLOP

Ziegler Colt Draws Away At Finish

Boundless Deep 2½ Lengths Behind in Second Place.

Slave Ship Scores at Long Odds in His Maiden Effort.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., April 18.—Spinach, the child's villain among the vegetables and for some time a disappointment among the horse players, staged a comeback here today after being made a lukewarm favorite. The 5-year-old son of Sir Martin was a more shaggy animal than a year ago, but the speed that was missing last season seemed to have returned.

It was a fast workout that recommended Spinach to the crowd of 10,000. The horse raced right up to that trial and outclassed his opposition at this stage of the turf cycle. Spinach was forced to overcome a lot of obstacles in the race.

Morsel and Boundless Deep staged a battle for the lead at the clubhouse turn, with the former gaining the doubtful honor of heading the parade around the first turn. Spinach was third. With the field straightened out on the back stretch, Eddie Watters called on Spinach for some speed but found the way blocked. Morsel and Boundless Deep were still pounding hoofs out in front.

Spinach Finds Racing Room.

It was not until the stretch turn that Watters found room for Spinach. He went to the outside and the Ziegler horse, apparently happy to be clear, romped away with the race. Boundless Deep kept moving to take second honors, while Frigate Bird, the medium of some heavy late play, beat out the tiring Morsel for third money.

The race was dubbed the Hampton Roads and carried with it $1,400, in which the first four horses figured.

Linton Nell, daughter of Pennant, scored a nose victory in the opener, defeating a dozen maiden 3-year-olds. Jockey Stevens brought the Linton Farms' representative home a nose ahead of Argosie, Man o' War filly, from the Glen Riddle holdings. Beret was third.

Argosie proved much the better horse as the race was run. Renick failed to get the Glen Riddle filly away from the post and then was forced to fight his way through the pack with his mount running over horses in the stretch. Linton Nell's margin of victory was so scant, the official placing was eagerly awaited, and the result was greeted with a mixture of boos and cheers.

Snaplock Beats Juveniles.

Snaplock, sporting red bandages on his legs, won from the 2-year-old group in the second race. Lucille K., the favorite, was second with Sergeant Hill third.

Bally Bay, which closed at 50-1 on the odds board, give the long-shot players a thrill by taking a good lead on the swing to the stretch. Lucille K. came up to take the advantage when the early pacesetter tired, but could not match the speed little Buddy Hanford got out of Snaplock at the finish.

Slave Ship, W. M. Jefford's Preakness candidate, who came to the races today for the first time, made a show of his field in the first division, The Albemarle, winning eased up from Brave and Bold with Knight's Cap third. Hanford made it a double with the winner.

Slave Ship has what the horsemen call class. His daddy is Black Toney and his ma, Lightship, a daughter of Man o' War. Slave Ship ran a race that indicates he is to be reckoned with in the future. Hanford did not rush the colt, but moved up behind the fast pace set by Brave and Bold and Knights Cap. Just before the turn into the stretch, Hanford let the stretch some six lengths in front of Brave and Bold.

Slave Ship Beautiful Horse.

Slave Ship is a coal-black 3-year-old, large for his age. Few noticed his beauty until the race was over, and he paid just short of 5 to 1.

The second division of the Albemarle went to Mrs. C. Crane's Ladfield, with Boatswain, a Man o' War colt, starting for the first time, second, and Semaphore, the favorite, third. Ladfield was forced to finish fast to defeat Boatswain by a length, after the latter had come upon the inside to take the lead at the head of the stretch.

Chicsu added another victory to her string by taking the sixth race by a neck from Finnic, with Bubola a nose behind. It was a sensational blanket finish, with the front horses virtually touching. Stone Martin, the favorite, could not find racing room at the end.

Nealon Kay defeated the field of platers in the finale.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LINTON NELL, $29.80, $11.40, $8.10; ARGOSIE, $5.20, $3.10; BERET, $3.50.

LINTON NELL, hurried into a forward position, reached the leaders when approaching the home stretch, swerved to the inside after taking command at the final furlong pole, but tired fast approaching the finish and barely lasted long enough. ARGOSIE, outrun for the first half mile, circled her field when settled in her stride and, finishing full of run, would have been winner in a few more strides. BERET dropped back immediately after the break, was shaken up vigorously and closed with a rush in the final stages. BOARDWALKER saved ground all the way. BLONDISH weakened in the final quarter mile. JUSTA BETTY quit when the final drive came. CHLOEDAIR had no excuse. STIMALA lacked speed.

SECOND RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. For 2-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:09. Winner, Mereworth Stud's ch. br. or b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SNAPLOCK, $34.00, $11.10, $6.10; LUCILLE K., $2.80, $2.50; SERGEANT HILL, $3.50.

SNAPLOCK, forced to secure racing room on the outside when moving into contention, responded stoutly when placed to punishment and, wearing the leaders down inside the closing furlong, was going away under pressure. LUCILLE K., a keen factor from the start, wore BALLY BAY down, but could not keep pace when challenged by the winner. SERGEANT HILL worked his way up gamely when put to a drive and finished strong. THREE DAGGERS broke slowly and was not persevered with. MARION T. raced evenly. THREE BEES could not menace the leaders. BALLY BAY showed extreme speed to take command after breaking slowly. He had too much taken out of him getting to the front and tired badly. SINGLEAM had early speed.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Albemarle (first division). For 3-year-old colts and geldings. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:40. Off at 3:42½. Winner, W. M. Jeffords' blk. c. (3), by Black Toney—Lightship. Trained by P. M. Burch. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SLAVE SHIP, $11.60, $7.20, $4.20; BAVE AND BOLD, $3.80, $2.40; KNIGHT'S CAP, $3.50.

SLAVE SHIP, rated in close pursuit of the pacemakers, went into command with a rush when straightened into the home stretch and drew out at will in the closing furlong. BRAVE AND BOLD raced KNIGHT'S CAP into submission in the first half mile, but could not stay with the winner when put to a drive. KNIGHT'S CAP showed good speed for a half mile and held on well thereafter. THE CRANE was unable to improve his position when the real test came. HIGH PROOF and MISCALCULATE were outrun. BENGAL TIGER had to be eased back when blocked leaving the back stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Albemarle (second division). For 3-year-old colts and geldings. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:11. Off at 4:13. Winner, Mrs. C. Crane's dk. b. c. (3), by Ladkin—Minefield. Trained by R. E. Potts. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADFIELD, $13.10, $5.20, $2.60; BOATSWAIN, $6.30, $3.10; SEMAPHORE, $2.30.

LADFIELD, going along in close attendance of the leaders, was taken around BOATSWAIN when nearing the home stretch, wore the latter down after a brief brush and was under urging until the end. BOATSWAIN, rushed hard to take command, was steadied in front while saving ground and then continued courageously when placed to punishment in the closing furlong. SEMAPHORE, prominent and going in good form, was inclined to bear out rounding the turn and tired slightly in the final drive. BLAZE WHITE closed stoutly on the outside. HAPPY WARRIOR weakened after racing well for a half mile. DAISABURO lacked speed early. He was making up ground slowly in the closing stages.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Hampton Roads. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:41. Off at 4:44. Winner, William Ziegler, jr.'s ch. h. (5), by Sir Martin—Sweet Thyme. Trained by C. Phillips. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SPINACH, $5.70, $4.00, $2.50; BOUNDING DEEP, $5.40, $2.50; FRIGATE BIRD, $2.50.

SPINACH, taken under steadying restraint while racing close to the leaders, swung to the outside when moving to the front and was under steadying restraint at the end. BOUNDLESS DEEP followed MORSEL closely, made determined efforts in the final half mile, and continued gamely. FRIGATE BIRD, outrun for six furlongs, closed willingly when placed to punishment. MORSEL displayed good early speed, saved ground, but tired in the last quarter mile. PIGEON HOLE had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:14. Off at 5:15½. Winner, E. R. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHICSU, $10.80, $4.80, $3.80; FINNIC, $3.60, $3.10; BUBOLA, $6.00.

CHICSU, badly outrun for the first six furlongs, improved her position readily during the last half mile and, coming around the leaders when straightened into the home stretch, drew clear slowly while under stiff pressure. FINNIC, rated along under slight urging while stalling off keen contention from BUBOLA, held on stoutly when placed to a hard drive. BUBOLA, a keen factor throughout, outstayed STONE MARTIN. Latter, steadied close to the leaders, faltered after making a determined effort in the final furlong. TARNISH could never reach contention. MERIDIAN QUEEN quit. SHAN TUNG raced under weak handling for the entire journey.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good and fast from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:45. Off at 5:45. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NEALON KAY, $7.50, $3.90, $2.50; MONOCLE, $9.40, $5.20; MAINSHEET, $4.30.

NEALON KAY, kept in first flight from beginning, gained command midway far turn, holding on willingly for the final issue and just lasted to stall off MONOCLE. Latter worked his way up on the outside, challenged strongly when straightened into home stretch and fought it out gamely. MAINSHEET, forced to race on outside, reached leaders approaching home stretch.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK.

Now that Spinach, Equipoise and Keith have staged comebacks I'm expecting some smart trainer to dig up that big wooden horse they used at the siege of Troy and put him in winning form. Spinach looked like a four-legged Frankenstein on the way to the post, but he ran like a pair of Nurmis. In fact, I heard the same people rooting for Spinach who tipped me off on Boundless Deep. But that's what makes racing—as they told me the day Wise Kid rolled over the fence.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—BRAVISSIMA and VENDANCE, grouped as the Jeffords and Sommerville entry, is my choice in the first race. The former turned in a smart work here and may be another of those to win at the first asking. VENDANCE has had an educationer and although he failed to show much is expected to improve today.

BLAZING CRIMP, in the money twice in as many tries, is the one to beat. Ran a length behind Animate at Bowie. SINGING HEART has had the benefit of two races and should be third.

SECOND RACE—JAFFA showed excellent speed in Florida. Ran well in her only Maryland start and is said to be ready for the big money. BOSCOBEL has been in over her head in late races. Comes down a peg here and I expect the Labrot miss to take second money. FAIR JACK is a better animal than the last shows.

THIRD RACE—VISHNU has been flying of late and with Buddy Hanford likely to ride again, I see no reason why the Nevada Stock Farm's colt can't make it three straight. At least, VISHNU will be the one to catch after the stretch turn. PROMETHEUS came North in shape, failed to win at Bowie, but ran Dunlin's Lad to a nose decision. Dangerous here. STEP SIS has speed enough to take third.

FOURTH RACE—OPEN HEARTH has not lost his winning form or I miss my guess. Consistent at the Fair Grounds, this colt lost by a nose and then walked home by four lengths at Bowie. Expect a victory today. OVERTIME, stablemate of Stepenfetchit, makes his debut today. Said to have worked smartly. See this colt second. INDIAN RUNNER may collect third money for the entry.

FIFTH RACE—SERGEANT DONALDSON likes a shorter distance, but may surprise by sticking to his guns today. Is a front runner that will have to be caught before this race goes to another. IMPISH has been fairly reliable of late and I see him second. AEGIS has been away from the races a long time, but a duplication of his work last spring would make it tough for the top pair.

SIXTH RACE — WORLDLY LAD must beat DON TASKER for brackets in this race. I believe the Swift and Sure gelding can turn the trick. Both were tops at Bowie. HOME WORK providing he gets a clever rider, has possibilities in this field.

SEVENTH RACE — DEEDIE goes slumming in the finale. Ran a half length behind Chicsu at Bowie and should take care of this gang. WRECKELL'S last spells trouble to those in his class. FETISH'S wake-up seems to point to third money here.

Central Nine Rallies To Tie G. U. Prep, 5-5

McMenamin, Dreifus To Hurl for Celtics

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., April 18.—Les McMenamin and Doc Dreifus will probably hurl for the Celtics in their "twin-bill" with the Cutter A. C., of Lynchburg, Va., on Sunday on the home field of the latter team.

Art Ludlow, coach of the locals, has called a drill for Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Baggett's Stadium to be ready.

by hustling over toward first to grab Haas' roller with his gloved hand and to follow through with a peg to first while off balance.

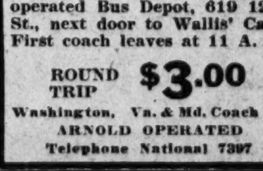

With men on first and second and none out in the sixth, Connie Mack sent Oscar Roettger to the tee in Pitcher Cain's place. He shot a looper to left center which looked like a sure hit, but West gathered it in in fine style.

Reynolds' error in the sixth was an excusable one. With the sacks loaded, he gathered in Cochrane's fly and pegged to the plate to try to nail Boley. The ball bounced over Berg's head into the dugout, letting Bishop also tally to knot the string at 6-all. Carl was charged with another muff in the next round, dropping Miller's short fly after a long run.

Crowder's attempted sacrifice was too perfect in the seventh. With men on first and second and none out, his bunt dropped just a yard or so in front of the plate. Cochrane grabbed the ball, pegged to Dykes for a force play at third, and Dykes hustled the ball to first to nip Crowder for a double play.

De Shong walked Berg after taking the hill, opening the ninth. It was the tenth pass issued the Nats during the game.

TILDEN SHOW HERE ADDS KOZELUH

Szech Ace to Play in 3-Day Tourney of Pros in Capital.

KAREL KOZELUH, the dynamic Czechoslovak tennis marvel, who held the professional championship of the world until Tilden became a member of the moneyed ranks, arrived in New York yesterday and was immediately added to the group of players who will stage Washington's first professional tournament, at Wardman Park Hotel Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Kozeluh's name thus is added to those of Bill Tilden, Hans Nusslein, Roman Najuch, Albert Burke and Emmett Pare, perhaps the most potent group of netmen ever gathered here in the history of tennis in Washington.

Will Appear in 3-Day Singles.

Kozeluh, like the others, will appear in singles matches all three days. The tournament will remain a round robin affair, with the winner to be decided by the number of matches won at the conclusion of three days of play. It is not yet known with whom Kozeluh will play doubles. Tilden will play with Pare in the early section of the tournament, and with Burke later.

The rubbery Czech is one of the leading proponents of "color" in tennis. He was an Olympic soccer ball player in 1924 and his skill at this game frequently enter into his tennis, when he returns dead balls across the net with his toe, or bounced stray balls off his head.

Lost to Tilden In 5 Sets.

His five-set battle with Tilden at Wardman last year was a masterpiece. Fought out on one of the hottest days of the year, the two rivals produced truly great tennis. Tilden, trailing 4-3 in the fifth set, came through with hidden ducts of reserve strength to win.

Tickets for the pro tournament go on sale today at the hotel and Spaldings. They range from 75 cents to $3.

School Track Meet Abandoned by C. U.

Catholic University has abandoned for this year its annual Eastern interscholastic track games. The reason assigned by Athletic Director Arthur Bergman was that interest among prospective competing schools was not sufficient to warrant the holding of the meet, which was established in 1929.

In reply to invitations, Director Bergman stated, many schools revealed that they had curtailed their spring athletic programs and that their finances would not permit of travel.

GRID HEROES MEET HERE ON MAT

Stein and Roebuck in Headline Match at Strand Thursday.

WITH NOTHING at stake, and a group of rasslers concerned who do not claim any championship more potent than the Jewish title, Matchmaker Joe Turner virtually is assured of a willing and conscientious group of matmen for this week's card of mat exhibitions at the Strand Theater, Thursday night.

The program is headed by Sammy Stein, personable enough former member of the New York Giants football team, and Tiny Roebuck, who has produced many interesting and many lacklustrous shows here. They were two excellent football players several years back, Roebuck having been an all-American selection at Haskell. Stein, a heavy favorite in New York, is Jewish champion.

Roebuck, for all his experience in football, seems to be an unmissable target for flying tackles. He lost to Szabo here on this type of attack, and is favored to prove just as certain a mark for the devastating butt owned by Stein.

Rough Mr. Zaharias Faces Szabo.

The leading match looks like the semifinal engagement, in which George Zaharias will meet Szabo. Zaharias is a type of rassler who put the game on its feet. Big, offensive and truly punishing, he inflicts more downright damage in a match than most rasslers stir up in a year. He recently beat Ray Steele in one of rassling's out of the ordinary upheavals of form. The outcome of his match with Szabo is in doubt, for the Hungarian still is very popular.

Other bouts: Howard Cantonwine vs. Jack Washburn; Fred Grobmier vs. Lilo Narbo, and George McLeod vs. Cy Williams. Ladies free, with escorts.

Mrs. Shinn Winner In County Pin Stakes

Mrs. Mary Shinn, of Colmar Manor, captured first place in the first annual Prince Georges County Duckpin Association ladies' sweepstakes with a three-game score of 332. The competition, a handicap affair, attracted a field of 27 at Hyattsville.

Mrs. Shinn, rolling with a handicap of 42 pins, had games of 92, 87 and 111.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE golfing season gained considerable momentum yesterday with interclub women's team matches on the Chevy Chase course and a professional tournament at Kenwood. In addition, the pairings for the Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Cup tournament on the course of the Washington Club tomorrow were announced by the tournament committee of the Women's District Golf Association and the Interdepartmental Golf League elected officers for the ensuing year and outlined plans for the annual competition of the organization.

A. L. Houghton, Kenwood club professional, yesterday led the field of 15 golf professionals in the medal play tournament on the Kenwood course, staged under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers' Association. He had a card of 37-34-71, one stroke under the par of the course, 36-36-72. Birdies on the third, sixth, fifteenth and sixteenth holes and an eagle three on the long twelfth, 460 yards, when he reached the green in two strokes and holed a 15-foot putt, compensated for four three-putt greens. His card:

Out...... 4 6 3 4 6 2 4 4 4—37
In........ 4 5 3 5 4 3 3 3 4—34—71

Houghton was four strokes ahead of his nearest competitors, Ralph Beach, Suburban, who had 36-39-75, and Robert T. Barnett, Chevy Chase, whose score was 40-35-75. The other professionals finished in the following order:

John Fiatetry, All View, 39, 37—76; Glenn Spencer, Maryland Country Club, 40, 37—77; George Diffenbaugh, Indian Spring, 37, 40—77; Laurence Wisner, Suburban, 38, 40—78; Alex Armour, 38, 40—78; C. T. L. A. Reynoldson, of the Department of Agriculture, was yesterday elected president of the Interdepartmental Golf League at its annual meeting held in the room of the chief clerk of the Treasury Department, and D. P. Swope, of the Interior Department, was named as vice president. Ralph A. Shepard was reelected secretary and will also fill the office of treasurer. Frank G. Butler, War Department, was chosen as chairman of the handicap committee.

The selection of the course for the annual tournament was postponed until the meeting of the executive committee next Monday night, with the probability that the event will be played at Kenwood, especially as A. L. Houghton, the present professional at that club, was the organizer and first president of the league. It was decided to limit the number of contestants to 200, inasmuch as the competition will be 36 holes medal play.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS —By Robert Edgren

CENTRAL AND WESTERN CLASH

Buscher and Payne Seen in Box Duel in Series Today.

TWO of the three best schoolboy pitchers in the city face each other today when Central makes its second appearance in the high school series, with Western on the receiving end. The pitchers concerned are Emmett Buscher, of Central, and Bill Payne, of Western. The game goes on at 3:30 o'clock at Eastern Field.

It will be Western's first appearance in the series. The Georgetown lads have yet to win a game this season, although two ties have been credited to them.

Payne has proved to be the machine gun of the club, both in pitching and hitting. He has not been given outstanding support to date, but the team has shown an inclination to improve.

Central Has Best Team in Years.

Central has its best club in years this season. Under the helm of Jack Ray, it has played two and three times more games than any of its rivals in the series, and shows the result in its team play. Buscher's box work has been effective to date, more than making good the promise he showed in last year's series.

Central beat Business, 10 to 5, in the first game of the series. It is a strong favorite today, since it boasts of greater all-around skill than Western.

Today's game, however, should be a good commentary on Central's chances of uprooting the baseball dynasty Eastern has held in the league for four years.

Eastern Prepares, Meets St. Alban's.

Eastern, eager to get in some kind of shape before making its debut in the series Friday against Tech, will play St. Alban's today at St. Alban's. The champions, weaker than in several years, were rained out of their first series game.

Business plays at Alexandria High this afternoon, and Georgetown Prep's tennis team, prep school champion, meets St. John's at Garrett Park.

All of the events mentioned start at 3:30 o'clock.

Post Organizing League For Ball Teams in County

AN energetic movement looking to the organization of an unlimited class baseball league among Prince Georges County teams, to be sponsored by The Washington Post, was launched in Hyattsville yesterday.

It is believed certain that a sufficient number of teams can be obtained to make a division of the Capital City League well worthwhile. Three nines, Lanham, Landover and Mount Rainier, already have announced their desire to join a county league and those promoting the league are confident that a flock of other teams will seek admission.

For years there has been keen rivalry among county teams, but lack of a league has most of the time prevented the nines from settling their differences. At the end of each season many teams have claimed county supremacy. It is maintained that an efficiently conducted circuit, such as The Post would sponsor, would definitely decide a champion. The Post in past years has endeavored to organize competition among teams of this county and its efforts have been crowned with success.

The winner in the county league would qualify for the right to compete for the Washington metropolitan championship.

That a county league would be welcomed not only by the players, but also by the spectators, is certain. At one time the old Prince Georges County League furnished red-hot competition and old residents recalled today games that attracted crowds which were so enthusiastic that police had to be pressed into service to keep the more partisan fans from committing bodily harm upon opposing players and their followers.

2 New Teams Join Capital City League

Final Meeting of Midget Nines Brings Entries to Eight for 1932.

Two new teams, Columbia Heights, managed by Howard Mann, and Thompson's Furniture Co., piloted by Pearson Naylor, were represented at the final meeting of the midget division of The Post's Capital City League, held last night in the office of the Playground Department. Eight teams are now entered in the league, and with several teams still to be heard from indications point to a ten-team league, the largest in the last several years.

All of the clubs welcomed the announcement that the league had reversed its decision on the age limits and would enforce the same ruling abided by last year. They also reaffirmed their decision to use American League balls in all league contests.

The entrance of the new clubs, and the possibility of having ten teams in the race prevented the pilots from drawing up a tentative schedule. It was decided, however, to begin play Sunday, May 15. Each team will meet its opponents twice, the winner of the first half playing the winner of the second half a three-game series for the city championship. All player lists and franchise fees must be returned to the league secretary at the Sports Department of The Washington Post not later than midnight of May 9.

MOPEY DICK AND THE DUKE.

"D'ya know, Duke, at first I was against all these?"

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE END OF EVERYTHING.

("For the first time in the momory of stockholders and directors, Charles M. Schwab failed to picture a sunny outlook."—News item).

CLOSE the blinds and draw the curtains—
Seal the latch and bar the door!
Let the home be plunged in darkness
And the birds sing nevermore!

Hurry to the cyclone cellar—
Stow the babes and women first!
Huddle in the far-off corner
And get ready for the worst!

Draw your loved ones close beside you—
Don't take any chances now;
And you'd better take the doggie
And the chickens and the cow.

Make your will and sign the papers—
Think about that distant shore,
For a certain thing has happened
Never known to man before.

Do not speak above a whisper—
Cringe and listen for the clap
That will cause the world to crumble
And collapse into your lap.

Leave no window latch unfastened—
Drive a nail into the sash!
Stare intently into darkness
And prepare to hear the crash.

Give no further thoughts to money—
Chaos looms around the bend;
There can be no further doubting
That the world's about to end.

Get an anchor well to windward—
See that everything is fast!
Get a grip on something tightly,
For the blow is near at last.

Let there be no further laughter—
Merriment must now be stilled;
All the hopes of any sunshine
Now are definitely killed.

Douse all lights and stop all music—
Shoot the music players, too!
All is over, all is ended—
Charlie Schwab is turning blue!

U. S. STEEL MEETING REALLY "LOVE FEST"

Stockholders Nip Stray Disapproval of Cut in Dividend Rate.

Hoboken, N. J., April 18 (A.P.).—Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation, meeting in annual session here today, voted down an attempt to express disapproval of the directors' action on the dividend question.

Opposition to reductions made in the rate on the common stock was expressed by Charles A. Roberts, representing a group of small shareholders. When the usual motion for approval of the board's policies was offered, Roberts said he opposed ratification on the ground that the corporation's dividend policy was "improper."

Undistributed profits, he said, were "over $1,200,000,000, exclusive of $203,000,000 profit capitalized as a stock dividend but not distributed." He also charged that excessive reserves had been established for depreciation, asserting that such sums had amounted to 100 per cent of net income. He urged maintenance of the present $2 dividend on the common.

Myron S. Taylor, who made his first appearance as chairman of the board, denied Roberts' contention that the dividend had actually been fully earned last year. He said that "as a matter of fact the corporation in 1931 showed a deficit from operations of $6,300,519." He presented figures to show that there had been a deficit of $68,000,000 after dividends as a result of 1931 operations, pointing out that various additional charges had caused an impairment of $76,939,217 in net liquid assets.

Roberts' amendment was then defeated and the directors' policies stood approved.

Adjournment for a luncheon of sandwiches and pumpkin pie was taken before the meeting received the annual report of the retiring president, Mrs. A. Farrell. William A. Irving, who succeeds Mr. Farrell, was elected a director to fill a vacancy.

A stockholder who asked whether Mr. Farrell was to receive a pension was answered affirmatively by Chairman Taylor.

"Will it be cut like the dividend?" queried the stockholder.

"I'd be in favor of that," Farrell declared.

In his reply to the opposition on the dividend question, Taylor said the corporation's policy had been to conserve cash resources "and prepare for whatever emergency might lie before it in the future."

"That future," he continued, "is unknown to any man and the first duty of the directors and officers is to keep the company so strongly entrenched in its liquid position that it can not come to difficulties."

Operations thus far this year, he explained, have been smaller than those of the last quarter of 1931, and at present are 20 per cent of rated capacity.

"We have been forced by events beginning in the summer of 1929 to retreat from one position to another, always hoping to entrench ourselves in a position that would mark the culmination of the depression."

About 200 stockholders attended the meeting. Common shares represented totaled 3,379,809, and preferred shares 1,499,088.

Scrap Prices Lower.

Steel scrap markets are showing a softer tone in sympathy with the continued low operating rate of steel plants. Heavy melting scrap has sold in the leading Midwest market at $6.75 to $7 a ton, compared with $7 to $7.25 previously.

Orders for Steel Put Thousands Back to Work

Men Returning to Jobs in Birmingham, Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Several thousand steel workers were back at work today in the mills of Birmingham, Pittsburgh, and Youngstown, Ohio, as stable prices and an increase in orders gave encouragement to the entire industry.

In Pittsburgh employers said wages probably would be maintained at their present level. A cut, they explained, would encourage buyers to withhold orders in anticipation of price reductions.

There and at Youngstown more mills plan to resume operation later in the week.

After a layoff of several weeks, more than 1,000 men returned to the five open hearth furnaces of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co. at Ensley, Ala.

The Ensley Rolling Mill also went into operation today and the rail mill will be opened later this week. The Tennessee company plans to resume work at four more furnaces and the Gulf States Steel Co. at two of its Gadsden plant furnaces this week.

By the end of the week ingot production in this district is expected to be at 48 per cent of capacity.

A sharp rise in mill operations resulted in the return of hundreds of steel workers to Youngstown mills. Two blast furnaces, some open hearth furnaces, a billet mill and a bar mill, which had been shut down completely were reopened.

A pipe mill at Campbell, Ohio, also was put into operation again, sheet mills at Farrell, Pa., began a schedule of 12 turns a week instead of nine, six sheet mills resumed work at Niles, Ohio, and plans were made to start up 12 sheet mills at Campbell, Thursday.

At Pittsburgh, the Edgar Thomson plant of the Carnegie Steel Co., is working this week after several weeks of idleness.

Meanwhile, Wall Street received reports indicating a slight pickup in steel production this week, with a little expansion in buying by automobile makers.

Efforts of one large motor manufacturer to obtain price concessions from steel makers were believed to have been unsuccessful.

Leaders Hopeful fo Restoration of Prosperity in Industry.

Hoboken, N. J., April 18 (A.P.).—The new and retiring presidents of the United States Steel Corporation told stockholders at their annual meeting today that they were hopeful of a restoration of prosperity in this basic industry.

White - haired, broad - shouldered James A. Farrell, long known by his associates as "Big Jim," appeared as president of the corporation for the last time, telling stockholders that the past two years were not the worst he had seen, and that investments in the Steel Corporation would be successful if retained.

"I still think we have had worse times than during the past two years," he declared.

The veteran steel maker, who is rounding out his fiftieth year in the industry, recalled that a company he once worked for in Pittsburgh failed three times in eighteen months.

"Good times will come back," he asserted. "They always have."

Farrell said he would remain as a director of the corporation and volunteered to do all he could to aid the corporation during the remainder of his lifetime.

William A. Irwin, who becomes president of the corporation tomorrow, was made a member of the board. He addressed the stockholders briefly, saying, "We are all hopeful that in the near future we can get more business, so that at the meeting next year we shall have better conditions to report."

Myron C. Taylor, who appeared for the first time in his capacity as chairman of the board, declined to make any predictions as to the future. He replied to criticism of the corporation for reducing its dividend in spite of its large surplus by pointing out that quick assets include not only cash but securities, accounts receivable, and merchandise, not available for distribution to stockholders. He made no comment as to whether current wages will be maintained.

Newfoundland Plans Oil Concession Sale

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 18 (A.P.).—A proposal to give the Imperial Oil Co. sole rights for the sale of petroleum products in Newfoundland for fifteen years in return for an investment of $1,750,000 in Newfoundland government bonds is before the government.

The proposal was outlined to the board of trade yesterday by Sir Percy Thompson, of the British treasury department, who has been in Newfoundland for several months as financial advisor to the government. The government has withdrawn its bill to create a state monopoly on the sale of petroleum products.

Standard Oil of Ohio Lifts Gasoline Price

Cleveland, April 18 (A.P.).—An increase of 1 cent a gallon in the price of gasoline was announced today by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio. Other firms are expected to follow the increase.

W. T. Holliday, president, said the advance "is in line with the general upward trend of the petroleum price structure."

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Mon.	Sat.
Number of advances	124	158
Number of declines	267	180
Stocks unchanged	127	118
Total issues traded	518	456

Stocks.

The market drifted lower in extremely thin trading. Some of the leaders were off 1 to 4 points. A. T. & T. was a notable soft spot. The closing tone was heavy.

Bonds.

Hesitant for the want of positive business news, bonds were barely steady to unchanged. The volume was not much larger than in Saturday's half-day session.

Curb.

Thin trade also characterized the curb transactions, with the market dominated more by apathy than by either aggressive buying or selling. In sympathy with the big board, the price trend was lower.

Wheat.

Grains all sold off on a professional traders' drive inspired by Senate threats to investigate the commodity exchanges. Trade news was bullish.

Cotton.

Lower Liverpool cables and the weakness of the stock market influenced cotton fractionally lower.

MORE LIQUIDATION HITS STOCK VALUES

Pivotal Issues Are Leaders in Decline; A. T. & T. Drops to Par.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Stocks made further inroads into last week's gains today, closing with an average loss of 1.7 points, or within a point of the recent market low.

Pronounced weakness in half a dozen pivotal issues suggested that liquidation had only been interrupted by last week's upturn. On the whole, declines were of minor importance and selling was in moderate volume, although marked pressure against such leaders as American Telephone, U. S. Steel, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Eastman and Coca Cola made for considerable unsettlement.

Transactions amounted to only 848,020 shares, the smallest total since March 24.

Early heaviness was temporarily counteracted by publication of a favorable Chesapeake & Ohio earnings report for March, which showed an improvement in net railway operating income over a year ago. Also, the Interstate Commerce Commission's report on regulation of trucks and buses gave momentary consolation, with the result that rails, as a whole, held up rather well in the face of heaviness elsewhere.

American Telephone was the day's chief air pocket. Opening 1½ lower on a block of 4,000 shares this stock encountered steady offerings and dropped to par, closing at the lowest for a net loss of 3¾. Brokerage houses buzzed with gossip about a dividend reduction to $7. The directors meet next month to decide whether the current $9 rate will be maintained.

U. S. Steel got little cheer out of the annual stockholders' meeting, where company officials, as was expected, emphasized the depressed state of the industry. Hopes for favorable action on the common dividend at next Tuesday's meeting virtually vanished in Wall street, since it was recognized that earnings had not shown the improvement which the directors, at their last quarterly session, had said would be necessary if the payment were to be retained. The common shares dipped to 31¼ and closed near the bottom, off 1⅞ net.

American Can, Eastman, Coca Cola and Western Union lost roughly 3 to 4.

General Electric was heavy in anticipation of a first quarter statement showing income somewhat under dividend requirements.

Allied Chemical, Du Pont, North American, Case and Woolworth yielded a point or more.

Union Pacific, New York Central, Standard of New Jersey, National Biscuit, Union Carbide and Bethlehem were off fractionally.

The attempt to halt deflation through aggressive open market operations by the Federal Reserve banks was a topic for much further discussion, but its stimulating effect on bonds appeared, for the present, at least, to have worn off.

There was an excessive supply of money, and some dealers shaded quotations on time funds. Call money outside the stock exchange was available as low as 1½ per cent for the first time this year, but on the exchange the rate clung to its 2½ per cent peg.

The only gold transaction reported today was an export of $1,199,900 to Holland.

WASHINGTON FIFTH IN MARCH BUILDING

Permits for Month Total $1,258,330; Report of Trade Conditions.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Washington was fifth on a list of 25 cities reporting largest volume of building permits for March, a survey completed by S. W. Strauss & Co., Inc., with local offices, made public yesterday, reveals. This city with permits having a total valuation of $1,258,330, was exceeded by New York City, first, with permits totaling nearly $6,839,000; Los Angeles, nearly $3,465,000; Portland, Oreg., nearly $2,320,000, and Austin, Tex., nearly $1,787,000.

Six of the 25 cities leading the country in building construction during March recorded gains over the month in 1931, these being Portland, Austin, Philadelphia, San Antonio, Tex., Atlanta and Fresno, Calif. Of these, Portland, Austin and Fresno recorded gains last month over February, 1932.

Ten cities that were not in the leading 25 in February came into that class in March, these being Portland, San Antonio, Atlanta, Fresno, Indianapolis, Newark, N. J., Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis and Rochester. The 25 leaders as a group showed an increase during March over February, 1932, of 4.5 per cent, but a decline of 73.6 per cent from March, 1931, and a decrease of 72.1 per cent from March, 1930.

A comparison of building permit figures for March, 1932, with the preceding month is interesting. New York City led for both months; Los Angeles, third in February, went to second place in March; Austin advanced from fifteenth to fourth; Washington, D. C., from tenth to fifth; St. Louis, from seventeenth to eleventh, and Houston, Tex., from twenty-second to sixteenth.

Reports of adverse weather conditions affecting seasonal trade conditions are common in the April survey of Nation-wide sales and collections published in Credit and Financial Management, official publication of the National Association of Credit Men, received yesterday by members of the Washington Association of Credit Men. The survey covers 106 of the leading trading centers of the country.

Of the 106 cities reporting, 50 per cent note sales to be fair, while the remainder report slow selling conditions. Collections are reported good in only one city of the country—Flint, Mich.—while none of the correspondents noted good sales. Approximately 55 per cent of the reports found collections to be fair, the rest noting slow collections.

In general the most optimistic reports came from the middle section of the country. Michigan sends word that "there has been a noticeable slump in conditions in Detroit, but the public hope is pinned upon the Ford Motor Co.'s early opening. Flint reports the very good news that there has been a marked change in conditions from slow to good."

The auditors' section of the District of Columbia Bankers Association will hold a joint meeting with the Conference of Auditors and Comptrollers of Baltimore Thursday night at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

Loans by Reserve Banks Decrease

Weekly Figures Also Show Drop in United States Securities.

A decrease of $115,000,000 in the combined loans and investments of Federal Reserve member banks in leading cities was shown yesterday in the official report of the Federal Reserve Board for the week ended April 13.

Loans on securities decreased $74,000,000 for the week and all other loans were down $16,000,000.

As of April 13, total loans stood at $11,970,000,000, a decrease of $3,268,000,000 against the corresponding period of 1931.

Holding of Government securities declined $24,000,000 for the week.

Net demand deposits were up $101,000,000 for the week, to $10,976,000,000.

Borrowings from Federal Reserve banks declined $1,000,000 for the week.

Loans on securities at reporting member banks in the New York district declined $44,000,000.

Utility Stocks Stage Upturn During Week

New York, April 18.—Figured in percentages, last week's recovery in prices of electric light and power securities was one of the sharpest the market has witnessed in some time.

Following the announcement of receivership action to deal with the Insull group crisis, and the Electric Bond & Share's statement regarding arrangements for extending the loans of its subsidiary, American & Foreign Power, prices of some of the lower priced issues doubled their market value. In common with other groups, however, the rally was not fully maintained to the end of the week.

Investment Trust Omits Preferred Dividend

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—The General Public Service Corporation has omitted the quarterly dividends of $1.50 on the $6 preferred stock and $1.37½ on the $5.50 preferred stock due at this time, it was announced today.

The company is an investment trust with extensive holdings of public utility securities.

A committee has been formed for the purpose of representing and protecting the interests of holders of first mortgage and collateral 6½ per cent bonds of 1943 of the Allegheny Gas Corporation, it was announced today. John C. Adams, of Hale Waters & Co., is the chairman.

BOND MART STEADY ON LOWER VOLUME

Profit Taking Checks Upswing; Rail Issues Up Slightly.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—The bond market was hesitant today, and unable to follow up its sweeping gains of last week.

Profit taking came into the list here and there, and the average for 60 corporate securities was barely able to end the session one-tenth of a point higher.

At the same time the volume of trading dropped to the lowest in several weeks. Sales for the day totaled but $8,239,000, not much greater than in Saturday's short day.

As a whole, the railroads gave a better account of themselves, with the utilities improving fractionally and the industrials holding steady. American Telephone bonds sagged in sympathy with the company's stock, but International Telephones gained moderately. Strength was shown by liens of Columbia Gas, Detroit Edison, Laclede Gas and Utah Power & Light.

Loans of International Match were under pressure again, sinking to new lows for the year. Those of Kreuger & Toll were slightly lower.

There were few features in the foreign section. Both the German 7s and 5½s gave ground.

Curb Trade Dull.

Activity on the curb market stagnated today when usually active traders withdrew to the sidelines and a dribble of steady selling sent the main body of prices moderately lower. The day's transactions totaled 160,000 shares against 230,000 last Friday.

Apathy, rather than any noteworthy change in business conditions, apparently accounted for the sogginess. Limited offerings of public utility securities featured trading. This selling was mainly in response to the weakness of utility issues on the big board.

Characteristic of the market's thinness was a dip of 4 points caused by the offering of only 40 shares of Singer Manufacturing stock. The price yielded to 110½.

Aluminum Co. broke 3 points, to 27½, in small offerings.

Electric Bond & Share issues weakened in late trading, partly due to profit taking, after their sharp advances of last week. The new common closed at the day's low price of 13¾, off 1¾, and the preferred issues were off 1 to 2 points.

WHEAT PRICES DROP ON INQUIRY THREAT

Vote to Investigate Futures Trading Turns Values Downward.

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—Uneasiness about stock market instability and relative to a Senate vote for investigation of agricultural futures trading led to late downturns in grain values today.

A decrease of more than 6,000,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply had helped strengthen grain prices earlier, but the effect failed to last in the face of enlarged pressure to sell.

Showers in drought districts, especially West and Southwest, together with prospects of more substantial moisture relief later, tended also to pull prices down.

Wheat closed nervous at the day's bottom, ½ to 1¼ cents under Saturday's finish; corn, ½ to ¾ cent down; oats, ¼ to ½ cent off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

The weekly visible supply of American grain showed the following changes, in bushels:

Wheat decreased 6,130,000.
Corn decreased 303,000.
Oats decreased 345,000.
Rye increased 13,000.
Barley decreased 65,000.

Liverpool reported that the continent was purchasing on a liberal scale and that there had been a big falling off in the amount of wheat on ocean passage. It was also announced that Germany would import 7,360,000 bushels of feed wheat duty free.

New North American wheat export business was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, including some dark hard winter wheat from the United States.

Domestic crop advices continued to be of a disturbing character, reports from many sections indicating that wheat had been hurt beyond recovery.

Corn and oats held up as compared with wheat. The chief aparent reason was that for the first time in months, handlers here were able to sell corn to New England, surplus supplies of corn east of Chicago seeming to have been disposed of.

Provisions responded to late downturns of hog values.

COTTON DEPRESSED BY STOCK REACTION

Easy Liverpool Market Also Factor; Close Is Off 7 to 9 Points.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today with prices generally lower under liquidation and scattered selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and a decline in the stock market.

After selling off to 6.05 early, May rallied to 6.10 or within 2 points of Saturday's closing quotations, but weakened again in the late trading and closed at the lowest. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 7 to 9 points.

The late trading was dominated by the reaction in the grain market and the heaviness of stocks. October closed at 6.47 while December and later months made new lows for the day toward the close.

There was considerable switching from May to later deliveries, with trade interests buying the near positions against sales of July or new crop positions.

The weather report showed some light rains in Texas and Oklahoma, and was regarded as reflecting rather more favorable conditions over the belt, but attracted comparatively little comment.

Liverpool cables reported local and Bombay liquidation influenced by the weakness of Egyptian in that market.

Exports were 26,461 bales, making 7,258,534 so far this season.

CREATION OF WORK MOVEMENT STARTS

"Clean-Up, Paint-Up" Campaign Is to Run for Month.

"Work Creation Month," extending through May 18, officially was launched in the District of Columbia yesterday. With the idea of combining the "clean-up, paint-up" campaign with the work-creation movement the District employment committee has appointed a special property improvement and business cooperation committee, headed by H. J. Outwater, chairman; Hugh Reilly, jr., treasurer, and Oscar Leonard, secretary.

While it is planned to confine the efforts of the local committee in the creation of work, to the zones established by the newspaper delivery systems, the committee will act in an advisory capacity to organizations attempting similar projects in neighboring communities.

"The plan is to be known as "The Washington Program," Oscar Leonard, secretary of the committee, said yesterday. "It is proposed to bring to the attention of householders and owners the necessity of having work done now in order not only to aid in the relief of unemployment, but also to put more money back in circulation.

"Business men will be enlisted in the campaign, as it will be to their interest to sell the material necessary to do the work. Contractors are expected to join in with the idea of finding jobs to aid them in keeping their present crews of men employed.

"There is a great deal of work that can be located here if the people will only join with the committee in this campaign. Every dollar spent in this manner now will help the entire community. If the trend of industry can be started upward, there is bound to be a continuation of the upward impetus. The committee hopes to see a real wave of renewed activity in the home job line before the month is completed. If it works as well as we think it will, the time for the drive may be extended."

Barber Shop Bill Hearings to Open

House Group Today Will Begin Consideration of Stalker Measure.

Hearings on the Stalker bill for Sunday closing of barber shops in the District will open at 10:30 o'clock this morning before Representative Vincent L. Palmisano's judiciary subcommittee of the House District committee.

"Sunday closing" features of an identical bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, were removed by the Senate District committee, which provided instead that shops be closed "one day in seven."

Seventh Day Adventists and anti-blue law organizations oppose the bill as originally drafted. They charged it would offer "an opening wedge for blue laws," in testimony before the Senate committee. The House group may substitute the Senate bill.

Justice Parley To Start May 2

Organization Meeting Is to Be Held Tomorrow; World Court Talks.

Several outstanding American leaders have accepted membership on the Commission on the International Implications of Justice, which is to have important duties in connection with the coming Conference on Justice here, beginning May 2. The sessions will take place at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

A statement of the purposes of this commission has been issued by the chairman, Assistant Dean Thomas H. Healy, of the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University.

The main membership of the committee will be limited to outstanding specialists, and the organization meeting is scheduled to be held tomorrow at 4:30 p. m., in the Board room of the Carnegie Endowment, 700 Jackson place northwest.

Among the important features of the program for the main conference sessions are addresses on both sides of the World Court issue, and on various subjects connected with the national defense.

Dr. White Speaks Tonight.

Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeths Hospital and outstanding authority on mental diseases, will address the Round Table of the Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q streets northwest, at 9 o'clock tonight. He will discuss the significance of mental disease for the understanding of man and what the study of the distorted mind might convey to the normal mind.

Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales Plans Shown

300 General Motors Men Told of New Firm at Banquet.

R. K. White, assistant general sales manager of the recently organized Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales Co., outlined the plans of the new company to a group of 300 General Motors dealers at a luncheon held yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel.

"Conditions in the motor car industry are constantly changing and those of the present require the utmost in business efficiency," he said. "One of the General Motors actions to provide this has been the formation of the Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales Co. This in no way affects the three automobiles. They will retain their individuality to the fullest extent. Each will continue to be manufactured in its own factories and each retain its own corps of engineers and designers who will work to stress the individuality of their products."

He also announced the appointment of R. C. Gilmer as Washington zone manager; A. S. Heaton as assistant to Mr. Gilmer; Daniel T. Bogart as sales promotion manager; W. B. Rice as parts and service manager; W. H. Willis, business manager, and Carl Gubish, manager of car distribution.

Jeweler's Group Selects Speakers

Ritchie, Merle Thorpe and M. D. Rothchild to Be Heard at Parley.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, and Meyer D. Rothchild, tax authority in the jewelry industry, will be the principal speakers at the official banquet at the Mayflower Hotel May 2, of the Tristate Jewelry Association, which will hold its eighteenth annual convention here at the same time with the Virginia Retail Jewelers Association, it was announced today by Arthur J. Sundlun, of Washington, chairman of the local committee on arrangements. Mr. Sundlun said that Gov. Ritchie has been the principal speaker at every Tristate Jewelry Association convention since its organization.

Approximately 500 jewelers from the District, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware are expected to attend the convention, which begins Sunday, May 1. The three-day business sessions which will be addressed by outstanding jewelers in the country will be interspersed with social activities and sight-seeing trips to points of interest in and around Washington.

A feature of the business sessions will be a symposium of the watch industry to be presented by leading American watch manufacturers, it is announced.

BRITAIN CONSIDERS 'CAUTIOUS' BUDGET

Cabinet Examines Document Which Is Reported Bearing New Tariff Plans.

London, April 18 (A.P.).—A "cautious" budget, designed to buttress the foundation of Britain's financial recovery from the national crisis of 1931, is looked for tomorrow when Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain will go through the dramatic ceremony of "opening the budget" before the House of Commons.

The document, in which the chancellor has listed income and expenditure for the next fiscal year, was examined today by the cabinet. This was an unusual procedure, as ordinarily the cabinet does not consider it until a few hours before the presentation in Parliament.

On the basis of this break with custom, it was reported that new tariff proposals had been made necessitating a special consultation.

Despite the fact that budget provisions always are held in complete secrecy, forecasts were that there would be no reduction in the heavy income tax rate, although it was considered possible that married men might obtain some relief.

It also was predicted that the tax on beer would be lessened and that a tax of from 4 pence to 8 pence a pound would be imposed on tea, which has been free of duty since 1929.

Mr. Chamberlain was expected to outline a financial policy which would provide for a budget surplus of about £25,000,000 (currently about $95,000,000).

In view of the fact that various factors might affect the financial situation later in the year, some commentors said it might be necessary next fall to present a supplemental budget. Among the factors mentioned were the course of trade and employment, the impending Lausanne conference on war debts and reparations, and the agreements which may be reached at the Ottawa imperial conference in July.

Hans Kindler to Speak On Radio Hour Tonight

Hans Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, and Walter Bruce Howe, chairman of the orchestra's finance committee, will speak tonight over Station WMAL from 7:30 to 8 o'clock as part of Radio Joe's program.

An earlier program over the same station, from 6:30 to 6:45, will feature Dominic Iascone, the orchestra's first flute player. Mrs. Mary Couch, secretary of the Woman's City Club, will accompany him on the piano. Both programs are part of the drive this week to complete the orchestra's $75,000 guarantee fund.

Vieth Auto Death Held Accidental

Victim Identified by Ring and Manner in Which He Held His Head.

The death of Kenneth Vieth, of 3855 Monroe street northeast, in a burning automobile near Marlboro, Md., early Sunday was accidental, a Prince Georges County coroner's jury held last night after it had accepted the identification of the dead man. His death was caused "by burning to death in the fire or by the collision," the verdict said.

It was testified at the hearing, held before Magistrate Horace Taylor, that one door of the burning car was open when police arrived, and that Vieth still clutched the steering wheel in a normal driving position. One witness testified that he could have escaped from the machine if he had been conscious, and advanced the theory that Vieth had been the victim of a stroke or had been knocked unconscious when the car ran off the road.

There were no eyewitnesses to the crash, but a policeman and two dry agents arrived on the scene after the fire had been burning about ten minutes. Emmett W. Beach testified that he had identified Vieth's body by a Masonic ring found in the ashes and by the peculiar way the dead man held his head.

TESTIMONY STARTS TODAY ON DROWNING OF MRS. WIMBLEY

Crowder's Alleged Confession Expected to Stir Legal Battle.

HUSBAND IS ACCUSED JOINTLY IN TRAGEDY

Triple Motive for Murder Is Charged in Opening by Prosecution.

The Government today will begin the presentation of testimony of its important witnesses through which it hopes to prove that the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Traylor Wimbley was premeditated murder, and not an accidental drowning which attorneys for Harry C. Wimbley, alias Howard C. Dickerson, and John M. Crowder will contend.

Both Wimbley and Crowder are jointly charged with the murder of Mrs. Wimbley, who, the Government contends, was purposely drowned in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal near Chain Bridge on September 17, 1931. Her daughter, Wilma Traylor, was drowned at the same time. They are being tried on the charge of murdering Mrs. Wimbley.

In his opening address to the jury of twelve men, Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins said the motives which prompted Wimbley allegedly to murder his wife were three: First, to collect $10,000 in insurance which he had purchased on his wife's life; second, fear that she would have him arrested for spending money she obtained at the death of her first husband, and, third, that he had remarried and had no further use for her.

Battle on Confession.

The trial got under way late yesterday after the defense had exhausted all of its twenty peremptory challenges and three new panels of prospective jurors had been examined. More than a score of prospective jurors were excused because of scruples against the imposition of the death penalty.

One of the major points of the legal battle between Mr. Collins and his aid, John J. Sirica, and Defense Attorneys Cedric Johnson and Louis Whitestone is expected to involve the introduction of an alleged confession made by Crowder in which he is alleged to have admitted the plot to sandbag and burn to death Mrs. Wimbley, her child, and the family of her mother and father at Dendron, Va.

In this alleged confession, Crowder admitted upsetting the canoe, but contended that it was acidental. The drownings occurred during a canoeing trip, which was held in celebration of Mrs. Wimbley's twenty-sixth birthday.

Insurance Angle.

William H. Michael and William Schoenberger, employes of the District Morgue, were the first witnesses called yesterday. They identified the body of Mrs. Wimbley and testified they turned it over to Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald for an autopsy.

Dr. MacDonald, a deputy coroner, told the jury that death was caused by drowning. He testified that there were no marks on her body, although her shirtwaist was torn across the front. He admitted, under cross-examination, that it might have been torn by those who tried to resuscitate her.

Leon E. Albert, an insurance agent, told of efforts made by Wimbley to obtain a $4,000 insurance policy on his wife's life, which was not issued because Mrs. Wimbley never appeared at the office as required by the insurance company.

Man, 80, Is Found Dead In His Houseboat Home

James Turvey, 80 years old, living on a houseboat anchored in Little River near Hoover Airport, was found dead in his boat yesterday by Mrs. Isabelle Clark, living on an adjoining boat.

According to police, Turvey had been ill for some time and had been nursed by Mrs. Clark. The body was removed to the Morgue where an autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of death.

Club Backs Police Tactics With Reds

Yankee Division Members Hit "Unfair Criticism" in Embassy Riot.

Washington newspapers lent a sympathetic attitude toward the Communists who demonstrated at the Japanese Embassy, and expressed "unfair criticism" of the police methods employed to stop the demonstration, the Yankee Division Club of Washington charges in recently adopted resolutions.

The club "deplores" the attitude of the press toward the Metropolitan Police Department, particularly in connection with the aforementioned incident. Opinion is expressed in the club action that Communist leaders are striving to create, "by deception and un-American methods, the very scenes thus enacted with the purpose of causing discredit to the forces of law and order."

The organization expresses "satisfaction with the ability shown by the police to deal with such mobs in a sufficiently forceful manner to deter such future unlawful demonstrations. Approval is given and confidence expressed in the Police Department's handling of such matters."

300 Members Signed In Y.W.C.A. Campaign

With only two-fifths of the total number of 33 teams reporting at yesterday's meeting, the new members of the Young Women's Christian Association, according to actual pledges now in hand, total about 300.

Twenty more teams will report today, when the campaign committee meets for the check-up on the workers in the campaign, which started in earnest on Sunday in the churches. The church cooperation committee, through Mrs. C. O. Goodpasture, reported the largest number of new members to date.

HELPERS IN HUMANE ACTIVITY

The Animal Relief and Humane Education League at 322 E street northeast has designated this week as a special time to "be kind to animals." The children of the neighborhood aiding in this work are known as the Band of Mercy. This group is shown with a few of the pets aided by the organization. HICKS IS CONVICTED ON LARCENY CHARGE

Man Who Twice Escaped Custody Is Guilty of Entering Apartment.

The in-and-out career of George Emmett Hicks was given a temporary halt yesterday when a jury in the Court of Justice F. D. Letts, in the District Supreme Court, found him guilty of housebreaking and larceny. There were two such indictments that were consolidated for the trial.

Hicks is the man who twice escaped from police custody. Once he left a station house while he was wanted inside, and again he left Gallinger Hospital when a sleeping police officer failed to hear him as he crept from his cot and, clothed in a sheet, made his getaway.

Hicks was tried yesterday for entering the apartment of Agnes Walsh last August. At that time he is alleged to have taken money and jewelry valued at $100. Later, in the same month, he entered an apartment occupied by Emma B. Hedden and Mary R. Boyle, and took away a considerable quantity of loot.

His penchant for leaving notes for his victims got him in trouble two years ago, when he telephoned a girl in whose apartment he had left a note and made an engagement with her. When he appeared at the apartment, police arrested him, but he escaped shortly afterward.

$15,000 Fall Award Affirmed by Court

Verdict Against Owner of Store and District Is Upheld.

A $15,000 verdict which a jury in the District Supreme Court returned against Frank E. Altemus and the District of Columbia was affirmed yesterday by the District Court of Appeals. The verdict was originally returned in favor of Maude Talmadge Jones, now dead.

The basis for the verdict was a fall sustained by the woman in September, 1927. She was passing a store at 2910 Fourteenth street northwest, when she fell into a hole in the pavement and was seriously hurt.

It was brought out that the hole was in front of a store owned by Altemus, but rented to Philip Sures. Half of the hole was on Altemus' property and the other half was on District property, so that both were named in the suit. Clarence E. Dawson, George D. Horning and R. H. Yeatman appeared for Henry Hobart Talmadge, executor of the estate of Mrs. Jones.

Detective Hurt in Fall While Pursuing 2 Men

While chasing two colored men who attempted to break into a store at 1925 Fourteenth street northwest, Detective Donald Johnson, of the Seventh Precinct, fell and received painful leg injuries.

The two men were captured by Detective Sergt. Eugene Davis, Private Paul Berger and the crew of a radio scout car. Johnson was one of the members of a detective bureau cruiser that answered the call to the scene by passersby. Johnson was treated at Emergency Hospital.

SENATE FOR WIDER MICHIGAN AVENUE

Acts to Remove Traffic Hazard; School Bill Is Also Passed.

Widening of Michigan avenue west of First street northwest and adjacent to the United States Soldiers' Home was authorized yesterday in one of four bills passed by the Senate.

The measure, which already has passed the House, will remove a traffic hazard at First street and Michigan avenue, where numerous accidents and some fatalities have resulted.

Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou was authorized to make school appointments between meetings of the Board of Education in another bill passing the Senate and forwarded to the White House for the President's signature.

Two other bills approved have not passed the House. One would require two-year residence in the District, instead of one, for home care assistance for needy children. Another appropriates $2,500 for Memorial Day decoration of graves in national cemeteries located in the District.

Action on a bill to regulate plumbers and gasfitters operating in the District went over on objection of Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida.

$1,500 Is Claimed Lost To Strangers by Dice

Sonido Deosdado, of 2300 Eighteenth street, has decided that he will not shoot dice with strangers again. He is much sadder but wiser, to the amount of $1,500.

According to the report he made to police, two strangers came to his apartment and asked for a man of whom he had never heard. After talking a while, they persuaded him to draw the money out of the bank and go to the Lincoln Memorial and indulge in the ancient game. He did, and now accuses the two strangers of flimflamming him out of his savings.

Warrant Is Refused In Alleged Bribery

Prisoner Says He Mistook Marshals for Men Lending Him $40.

Joseph Restifo, arrested by Deputy United States Marshals Emory Clapper and Harold Scott on a charge of bribery, was cleared of that charge yesterday when Assistant United States Attorney Michael Keogh in Police Court, refused to issue a warrant.

The two deputies had arrested Restifo when he handed Clapper $40 near the Tenth Precinct station house. He was booked on a bribery charge and was released on a $1,000 bond.

In Police Court yesterday Restifo said that he had mistaken the marshals for men from whom he had borrowed money the previous evening after a raid on Fourteenth street northwest. He denied that he had attempted to bribe the officers. He said that he had borrowed the money Saturday night to put up as collateral and he had tendered the $40 to the marshals in the mistaken belief that they were the ones from whom he had borrowed.

DELETION OF FUNDS FOR LIBRARY BRINGS VIGOROUS PROTESTS

Two Georgetown Groups to Request Restoration of $75,000 to Bill.

PLAN MASS MEETING OF RESIDENTS APRIL 27

Proposed Tree Planting Is Discussed; Card Party Set for Thursday.

Two Georgetown organizations vigorously protested slashing from the District appropriation bill an item which would have provided a start on the building of a branch library in the community—a project they have worked for for three years or more.

A site for the library has already been obtained and grading work has been started there. The appropriation bill as originally drawn in the House provided $75,000 for a start of work on the building itself. The total cost of the project was to have been $150,000, but at the last minute the item was caught in the economy wave. The proposed site is at Wisconsin avenue and R street northwest.

Groups in Protest.

The Georgetown Library Association and the Progressive Citizens Association were the two bodies which launched the protest last night. The Library Association has been a prime mover for the project.

It moved for a mass meeting of all Georgetown residents, April 27, at the St. John's Parish Hall at 8 o'clock. A number of subcommittees were appointed to arrange for the mass meeting. One will undertake to bring members of citizens associations to the meeting, another will interest members of women's organizations and the third will spread news of it among the churches next Sunday.

Will Ask Restoration.

While the protest mass meeting is being arranged another subcommittee of the Library Association will petition the Senate subcommittee, which has the District appropriation bill under advisement, to reinsert the library item in the measure. Members of the Senate subcommittee will be invited to attend the mass meeting.

The Progressive Citizens adopted a resolution protesting dropping the item from the bill. The association discussed a plan to plant a tree in Montrose Park in honor of Mrs. Etta Taggert, first president of the association and still an active member. A card party for the association will be held at the Brighton Hotel Thursday.

6 Youths Accused Of Gasoline Theft

Five of Band Also Charged With Housebreaking; One Gives Bond.

Six youths, ranging in age from 17 to 20 years, yesterday were arraigned in Police Court on a charge of stealing 30 gallons of gasoline from William W. Pedneau, 1213 Third street northwest, and five of them were held without bond. The sixth, William E. Bealle, was released on $1,500 bond.

Police explained that the other five, Robert P. Burgess, Charles Sinclair, Walter Turk, Joseph W. Wilkenson and Raymond Johnson, were involved in numerous housebreaking cases. Headquarters Detectives Howard Ogle and Thomas Nalley arrested the boys and subsequently conducted an investigation that led them to believe the boys were operating on a vast scale.

The next step in the prosecution of the "band" is a presentation of the evidence against them to the grand jury.

Armed Man Stole $3, Taxicab Driver Reports

Ralph E. Payne, of 1127 Fifth street northeast, a taxicab driver, reported to police last night that a colored man held him up and robbed him of $3 while he was cruising in the vicinity of Seventh and Q streets northwest.

The holdup man stopped his cab, he said, and pointed a pistol at him. After taking his money, Payne said, the man escaped on foot.

Ring Stolen From Finger Of Woman Asleep in Bed

While asleep in bed yesterday morning Mrs. Margaret B. Keister, of 221 Ninth street northeast, had a gold wedding ring stolen from her left hand.

According to police, the thief entered the room through an unlatched window on the first floor. The thief also stole $2 in change and two car tokens from Mrs. Keister's husband's pants pockets. They furnished police with a name of a suspect.

CLUB ASKS OTHERS TO AID IN SEEKING $600,000 FOR IDLE

Urges That Public Be Given Chance to Appear Before Senate Group.

BENJAMIN POINTS OUT UNEMPLOYMENT PERIL

Appeals for Congressional Action and Puts Number Affected at 20,000.

Furthering their efforts to obtain a congressional appropriation for unemployment relief in the District, members of the Monday Evening Club adopted two resolutions toward this end at their meeting last night in the Willard Hotel.

The first asked Congress to concur without delay to the recommendation of the President for a $600,000 appropriation, and requested that every opportunity be provided for the general public to express itself by making public Senate hearings on the question.

In the second resolution the club invited the cooperation of all like-minded groups in the city in attempting to procure reallocation of $600,000 for relief work, and also authorized a committee to confer at once with the Board of Public Welfare.

Three Make Addresses.

The cost of the present economic condition of the nation in terms of health and social factors were discussed by three speakers: Miss Katherine Lenroot, acting chief of the Children's Bureau; Dr. E. C. Williams, assistant surgeon general of the Public Health Service, and Richard Hogue, former associate director of the Peoples Legislative Service.

Miss Lenroot stressed the necessity of the social worker's educating the public to the needs for relief funds. She mentioned one cost of present conditions as the breaking up of families due to economic stress.

Dr. Williams stated that public health denominators have not yet indicated any unfavorable aspects except in isolated portions of the country, but said that the health cost might develop in the years to come.

Costs in heedlessness, piecemeal panaceas, the shattering of faith in the American system, and in suffering, crime and starvation were evaluated by Mr. Hogue.

Supplementing his report made public Saturday as he resigned as executive secretary of the District committee on employment, Paul L. Benjamin yesterday issued another formal statement appealing in much stronger terms for the passage of the $600,000 appropriation.

Cites Private Funds.

Declaring that had it not been for the Community Chest and its member agencies "there would have been the spectacle in the Capital of stark suffering this past winter," Mr. Benjamin, who has returned to his post as executive secretary of the Social Hygiene Society, said: "So far as I am informed, Washington is the only large city in which private giving has been expected to meet wide scale unemployment."

Recent studies by the Russell Sage Foundation indicate that "over 70 per cent of all relief funds in large cities of the United States come from public sources," yet, aside from mother's aid, "not one cent has been contributed in Washington."

While only 6,823 persons have applied to the employment committee for jobs, he pointed out that the welfare of 20,000 individuals is involved if the children of families are taken into account. Almost half of these are white and less than half are of the laboring class.

Taking the prediction of the Associated Charities that its funds will be exhausted by midsummer, Mr. Benjamin stated: "If public funds are not placed at the disposal of the Commissioners, misery and distress will march through the Capital this Bicentennial year."

3 Youngsters Roam 5 Hours in Streets

Are Returned by Police After Frantic Appeal of Parents.

After an absence of five hours, three youngsters who started on an errand were returned at 9 o'clock last night to their frantic parents, after they became confused in their directions and wandered about the city.

Frederick Graney, 10 years old, of 43 M street northwest, was sent by his mother to bring a dozen eggs to his grandmother, Mrs. Laura Graney, whom he was to meet at North Capitol and Pierce streets. Frederick took with him two of his playmates, Doris Salter, 8 years old, same address, and Irvin Bledsoe, 11 years old, of 15 M street northwest.

When they failed to appear their parents appealed to police who began a search.

'Fixing' of Auto Tickets Hit in Glassford's Order

Policemen Suggesting to Violators Method of Gaining Leniency May Come Under Disciplinary Action, Superintendent Declares.

There will be no more "fixing" of tickets issued to violators of traffic regulations under a new order broadcast last night to commanders of all police precincts and bureaus.

The order, signed by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, is as follows:

"Instruct all members of your command that in all traffic violation cases the collateral to be exacted will be strictly in accordance with the collateral list issued by the Commissioners. Similar instructions have been issued by the Corporation Counsel to his assistants.

"Any police officer suggesting to traffic violators a method by which they can secure a reduction of their collateral will be subject to disciplinary action."

Some time ago a system was inaugurated whereby traffic tickets were issued in triplicate form. This, it was thought, would eliminate any possibility of "fixing" or quashing the offense.

However, many traffic violators found that by appearing before the corporation counsel it could be arranged to obtain a personal bond or receive a reduction in the collateral. Following a conference of police and traffic officials last week, it was decided that action must be taken to require all violators to adhere to the fixed schedule of collaterals.

V. F. W. POST HOLDS MASSING OF COLORS

Dorothy Mackaill Is Honor Guest at Ceremonies of Police and Fire Unit.

Impressive ceremonies last night marked the dedication of colors of Police and Fire Post, No. 2249, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the auditorium of the United States Interior Department, Eighteenth and F streets northwest. Dorothy Mackaill, screen star, was guest of honor.

Accompanied by stirring music of the Overseas Band, the post and auxiliary colors were massed on the stage. A color guard, composed of policemen, firemen and Boy Scouts, surrounded the flags during the dedication exercises.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, acted as master of ceremonies. Speakers included Representative Paul J. Kvale, of Minnesota; Representative Joe J. Manlove, of Missouri, and Mrs. John L. Dougherty, head of the District of Columbia Division of the American Red Cross.

Others present were Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, Fire Chief George Watson, Capt. Ray C. Montgomery, of the United States Park Police, and Maj. Harvey Miller, U. S. M. C.

Miss Mackaill and her husband, Neil Miller, who were escorted to the auditorium by a motorcycle detail, were presented by J. E. Bennett, commander of the post.

A program of entertainment concluded the exercises.

High Court Stands On Shore Decision

Attempt to Secure Reconsideration of Liquor Conviction Fails.

The Supreme Court of the United States yesterday refused to reconsider its action on March 21 in declining to review the conviction of Frank Shore, 48 years old, who was arrested January 28, 1929, when detectives, led by prohibition agents, raided 1223 New York avenue and confiscated three trunks filled with liquor, said to have been shipped from Florida, where it was smuggled into the country.

James F. Reilly, counsel for Shore, contended that his client was entitled to a review by the Supreme Court of the conviction on the charge of violating the tariff act by having in his possession illegally imported liquor because of conflict in decisions by the lower Federal courts.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, in a case he claimed was based on similar facts, refused, he said, to hold that possession of imported liquor warranted the presumption of illegal importation.

Boy Scouts Will Present Festival Demonstration

A "Trail to Citizenship," in which 80 Boy Scouts and leaders of the District of Columbia Council will take part, under the direction of William L. Leitch, will be a feature of the "Festival of Youth" to be given Saturday, May 14, under the direction and sponsorship of the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The "trail" will show a boy graduating into the Boy Scout organization. Phases of scouting will be demonstrated in 30 different booths. The induction will be conducted by Troop 44, of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church, Harry MacPate, scoutmaster. Scouts participating in the trail will represent 40 troops.

MAN, 74, ENDS LIFE; TIED STRING TO GUN

Often Threatened to Kill Self Because of Worry, Daughter Says.

Louis Cotturo, 74 years old, of 1407 Irving street northeast, died in Casualty Hospital yesterday as the result of a gunshot wound self-inflicted in left side of his chest with a .38-caliber rifle he had brought from Italy many years ago.

Cotturo, a former stone mason, was found on the floor in his bedroom by his daughter, Mrs. Helen Jones, who was preparing breakfast in the kitchen when she heard the report of the shot and the sound of his body as it struck the floor.

A string was tied to the trigger of the gun, which was fastened to a bed post, and apparently discharged by Cotturo as he lay on the bed. A half hour before, he had told his daughter he would remain in bed as he was slightly ill.

According to Mrs. Jones, he had remarked several times in the last few weeks that he was going to kill himself because he was troubled about money matters and the happiness of his children, although he had several thousands of dollars to his credit at several banks in the city.

The body was removed to the Morgue and a certificate of suicide issued by the coroner.

$25,000 Bail Fixed For Theft Suspect

Howder, Seized by Taxi Men, Waives Preliminary Hearing.

Waiving a preliminary hearing John Howder, 28 years old, who was seized by a group of taxicab drivers in a wild chase last week, yesterday was bound over for the action of the grand jury in bonds of $25,000 when he was brought into Police Court.

The cab drivers chased Howder from a store on Thirteenth street northwest, and when he was captured near the State, War and Navy building he was soundly beaten by them.

Assistant United States Attorney Keogh informed Judge R. E. Mattingly that the man was involved in a number of robberies and asked that a high bond be set.

Free Transfers Sought By West End Citizens

A request that the Public Utilities Commission endeavor to enforce free transfers in the city between the two street car companies was indorsed in a resolution by the West End Citizens Association last night at a meeting at the George Washington Law School.

The association also went on record as favoring a postal substation on Pennsylvania avenue instead of the one on H street near Eighteenth.

Hearings on Jobs Agencies Bill Set

Senate District Group to Seek Views Tomorrow on Measure.

Regulaton of employment agencies operating in the District, proposed in a bill by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, will be discussed at open hearings before the Senate District committee tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The bill would assess an annual license fee of $100 and require that $1,000 bond be posted as a guarantee for "damages occasioned to any person by reason of any misstatement, misrepresentation, fraud or deceit, or any unlawful act."

Further, employment agency would be required to keep a register, containing the names of applicants for jobs, addresses and the amount of fee received. Inspection by the Commissioners is provided.

Woman Killed With Hatchet.

Ethel Robinson, colored, 25 years old, of 2716 N street northwest, was found dead in bed yesterday morning by her mother, Mrs. Natie Waters. The woman was killed by a man with a hatchet.

30 PER CENT SLASH LOOMS IN WAGES OF TRADES UNIONS HERE

Reductions Already Accepted by Two Building Groups as 22 Balk.

WORK ON 2 STRUCTURES STOPS IN CUT DISPUTE

Federal Projects, Now Under Way, Not to Feel Proposed Lower Scales.

A movement for a 30 per cent reduction in the pay of trades union members is under way and conferences are being held between representatives of the contractors' association and union representatives over the proposed reduction, it was learned by The Post last night.

To date, two of the 24 building trades unions have accepted the wage cut, it was learned, and the representatives of 22 building trades unions are still negotiating with the Building Trades Employers Association, an organization of general and subcontractors, and the Master Builders Association, which is composed of general contractors.

Cut from $12 to $10.

As a result of the negotiations, the Asbestos Workers Union has tentatively accepted a wage cut of $2 a day, bringing the day's wages for a union member to $10 a day. The slash was accepted, it was learned, on the condition that the higher pay would be restored if other building trades unions failed to accept reduction. The paperhangers' union also has accepted a pay slash, the amount of which has not been made public.

Several weeks ago the Building Trades Employers Association and the Master Builders Association sent letters to all the building trades unions, asking that their representatives meet with representatives of the contractors to discuss the desirability of the 30 per cent slash.

An ultimatum was served early this month on plasterers, lathers and laborers engaged in plastering work that on April 15, they must accept a reduction of $4, $3 and $1, in their respective classes or face a lockout. This ultimatum, however, was not enforced by the majority of the plastering contractors.

Construction Halted.

One or two of the subcontractors, however, insisted on the pay cut, and work has been halted on the new addition to the National Geographic Society on Sixteenth street and the new plant of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey on Constitution avenue.

An official of the Plasterers Union said last night that only a dozen workers were involved in this "lockout," and the work is almost complete. He predicted that the men would resume work today at the union wage scale, which the general contractor has agreed to pay.

Any general reduction of wage scales of building trades employes will not affect Government projects now under way, union officials said. Contracts for the jobs have been let and the union wages have been ruled as the "prevailing wage" in the District.

Johnson, organizer of the Washington Philatelic Society and president of the society for 22 years, goes under the hammer. William G. Owen will be the auctioneer.

Mr. Johnson, together with several other stamp collectors, organized the Washington Philatelic Society in 1905 and became its president in 1909. He was born in Washington in 1851 and died December 31, 1931, shortly after the board of governors of the Washington Philatelic Society bestowed upon him the title of president emeritus. Albert F. Kunze succeeded Mr. Johnson as president.

Woman, 70, Found With Gun As Landlady Calls Police

An elderly woman, who forcibly declined to give up her room at 1321 Rhode Island avenue northwest at the request of the landlady, was arrested later on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Private B. D. Crook, of the Second Precinct, said Addie Matthews, 70 years old, had a pistol in her handbag when he arrested her on the street a short time later.

The woman had been living at the home of Mrs. Hortense Fuller for about a week, according to police. Yesterday, Mrs. Fuller went to her room and asked her to give it up.

Mrs. Fuller said the woman told her that not only would she not relinquish the room, but that she had a pistol and threatened to use it if Mrs. Fuller did not leave forthwith. Mrs. Fuller left and called police.

Private Crook found the Matthews woman walking at Logan circle. The pistol, of small caliber, was found when the handbag was searched at the precinct station, he said.
